'He Is Risen' Will Ring In Christendom

By The Associated Press

Christians throughout the nation —Protestant, Roman Catholic and Orthodox—will gather Easter Sunday to celebrate the centuries-old but ever-radiant drama of Christ's resurrection.

Wherever there stands a sign of the cross, the reverent will make their way to mountain-top altars, valley shrines, outdoor arenas, underground caverns and flower-bedecked churches.

"He is risen—He is risen indeed," will ring throughout Christendom.

President Kennedy and his family are likely to attend Easter services in Palm Beach at St. Edwards or, as they did last year, attend private services held at the home of the President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, who is recovering from a stroke suffered in December, 1961.

The Weather Bureau said exceptional fine spring weather is in store for the nation as a whole, which will give Easter Parade participants a chance to show off their new spring clothes.

The most spectacular of these will be on New York City's Fifth Avenue, where tens of thousands will parade.

One of the largest outdoor services will be held in Florida at Miami Stadium. In previous years, the services and a pageant sponsored by Miami Council of Churches drew 40,000 yearly.

In Winston-Salem, N.C., the 191st Moravian Sunrise Easter Service will be held in front of Home Moravian Church. The Annual crowd, which usually numbers 20,000, marches to God's Acre, the Moravian graveyard, called "City of the Equal Dead."

One of the nation's most unusual Easter sunrise services will take place in two Missouri caves.

The Rev. Lyman Riley will conduct the services at Meramec Caverns, Stanton, Mo., for motorists traveling on Route 66. The Mormon minister also will conduct another service in Onondage Cave, Leaseburg, Mo., where he uses a natural rock formation as a pulpit.

Sunrise services will be held atop Bald Knob in the Shawnee Hills section of southern Illinois, the highest spot in the state. Worshipers from five states will attend the services that were originated 23 years ago by a mail carrier and a country parson. Bald Knob has an 111-foot cross erected by public subscription.

Christians Flock Into Holy Land

JERUSALEM, Jordan (AP) — Thousands of Christians have flocked to the Holy Land for Eastertide to share in the rituals marking the crucifixion, burial and resurrection of Christ.

Eastern and Western churches held four separate burial services on Good Friday. Sunday the pageantry of worship turns to the joys of Easter.

Pilgrims knelt beneath flickering candles at Calvary on Good Friday night as priests lifted an effigy of Christ's body from the cross and buried it in Jerusalem's ancient Church of the Holy Sepulchre—to most Christians the exact site of Christ's crucifixion.

Calvary is now a balcony inside the church doors, its bare rock shielded with rich mosaics, candles and clusters of glowing lanterns.

Pilgrims from many lands bowed in the dark vaults of the church crumbling with age and resounding with chants of hymns. They watched robed and bearded Catholic priests withdraw nails from the cross on Calvary.

Christ's effigy, wrapped in sheets of linen, was anointed. Then, to the chant of prayers, it was carried to the candlelit sepulchre.

Officials said about 15,000 Christians were in the Holy Land for Eastertide.

Earlier in the day the pilgrims retraced the footsteps of Christ from the site of Pontius Pilate's fortress through the Streets of Sorrow to Calvary.

Some carried heavy crosses to emulate the Savior's suffering. Some wore sandals. Others wore reproductions of the glittering helmets of the Roman legionnaires who followed Christ to his death nearly 2,000 years ago.

Throughout the afternoon procession pilgrims stopped at 14 stations of the cross to pray in many tongues. The stations mark where Christ was scourged and flogged, where he stumbled and fell, and, finally, where he was nailed to the cross and died.

Holy Rites Offered By World's Catholics

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Holy Saturday services were offered in Roman Catholic churches around the world today as the end of Lent and joyous celebration of Easter drew near.

A highlight of the day was Pope John XXIII's scheduled annual Easter message to the world. Vatican sources said he would discuss his new encyclical "Pacem in Terris"—Peace on Earth—and express the wish that its call for universal peace be his Easter gift to the world.

The Lenten period of penitence ends at midnight with the start of Easter Sunday when the bells of Rome's 450 churches peal out together in joy.

In the huge St. Peter's Basilica and in Roman Catholic churches everywhere candles are lit at the church doors to symbolize that the light of the world — Christ — still lives even though his body is buried.

The purple mourning veils of the last days of Lent are removed from the statues and crucifixes. Altar bells and tower bells sound out to signal the end of the Passiontide and the expectation of Easter morn.

Pope John, who issued his new encyclical Wednesday, has made world peace his special theme for the week this year, praising such world organizations as the United Nations.

For Hospital's Holiday

Egg Tree Cheers Patients

Terry Gill examines an egg on an Easter egg tree at City Hospital as a fellow patient in the children's section looks on expectantly.

Terry is the 8-year-old son of Richard C. Gill, 314½ Jackson St., and the girl is Cheryl Brown, 4-year-old daughter of Earl Brown, 744 Sophia St.

The tree was made by some first grade pupils at Westgate Elementary. The card they sent along is self-explanatory:

"Some boys from Miss (Barbara) Nally's room cut some branches from a tree.

"They brought them to our room. We painted the branches white.

"What a mess!!

"Paint everywhere.

"We really had to get busy and clean up.

We wanted the janitor to like us.

"Mrs. (Patricia) Kapp showed us how to get the eggs ready to color.

"First we carefully pricked both ends of the egg with a darning needle.

"Secondly, we blew out the yolks and the whites of the egg, leaving only the shells.

"We will paint the shells with different colored felt tip pens.

"It will be pretty and look like this. . .I hope."

City's Sunrise Services To Observe Resurrection

By ROSE NUZZO

East Liverpool area churchgoers will be keeping a tradition dating back to the first Easter morn when they arise early Sunday to attend sunrise services as the dawn breaks.

The Day of Resurrection, which many Christians consider the most significant in the church calendar, is, in fact, the cornerstone of Christian faith.

It is the basis for the Christian belief that Jesus Christ arose from the grave and, in conquering death, opened the way of salvation to all mankind who accept Him as their Lord.

It will be a joyous occasion for worshippers. In contrast with the solemn observance of Good Friday, this Sabbath Day heralds ultimate victory over sin, defeat and death.

Sermons area pastors have announced and special music programs scheduled for both morning and evening services tomorrow will be in keeping with the joyful spirit of the day.

The union sunrise service, sponsored by the East Liverpool Ministerial Association, will be held at 6 at the Trinity United Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Albert J. Rodenhausen, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will give the Easter sermon, "The Announcement of Easter."

John N. Mostoller, minister of the First Church of Christ, and president of the Ministerial Association, will give the invocation and benediction.

The Scripture lesson will be presented by the Rev. Russell Mase, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church, and the sunrise prayer by the Rev. John L. Clark.

Ford Heads Group Eyeing Tax Revision

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II and four other prominent businessmen are considering recommending revision of the nation's tax structure and have invited approximately 25 others to meet with them in Washington April 25 to discuss it.

The New York Herald Tribune reported earlier that Ford was chairman of the five-man group and it would present President Kennedy a compromise tax plan completely revising Kennedy proposals now deadlocked in Congress.

Ford confirmed he is a member of a five-man group that is studying tax revision and that it has invited others to meet with it.

A Ford spokesman declined to discuss the matter further, except to say that those invited to the April 25th meeting number something like 25.

City Autoist Cited In Wreck At Ramp Of W. 8th Junction

Eight persons, including six in one car, were injured and an East End motorist was cited Friday night as the result of a two-car collision at the junction of W. 8th St. and the freeway ramp near Patterson Field.

The crash involved a westbound auto operated by Terry N. Kennedy, 17, of 1705 Park Ave. and a 1956 sedan driven by Earl G. Tice Jr., 44, of 968 St. George St., who was cited for failing to yield the right-of-way.

In addition to the two drivers, three other teen - agers and two Wellsville men in Kennedy's car and Tice's mother, Mrs. Bessie Tice, 68, of the same address were hurt. Tice's wife, June, apparently escaped injury, according to police.

Tice was admitted to City Hospital with a puncture wound of the right ankle. He was in "good" condition today.

Treated and released were:

Kennedy, son of Norman Kennedy, laceration of the right elbow; Timothy Duke, 15, son of Earl Duke of Chester R.D 1, sprain of the right ankle and laceration of the chin; Neal Conkle, 17, son of Paul Conkle of Chester R.D. 1, laceration of the upper lip.

City Man Sentenced In Ignoring Jury Call

An East Liverpool man was sentenced to 60 days in the County Jail Friday afternoon by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard for contempt of court for failing to appear before the Grand Jury after being subpenaed.

Miley Jenrett, 21, of 505 Virginia Ave., received the sentence, but all but three days was suspended providing he pays a $10 fine.

Probe For Sub's Grave

Special Sounding Gear Will Map Ocean Bottom

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dark weather and gale winds swept farther out to sea today, clearing the skies over a dozen ships probing for the deep grave of the submarine Thresher.

Special echo sounding gear in the hands of oceanographers will map the bottom of the Atlantic in the effort to find the hull—or what is left of it—so that it can be scanned by underwater television and the bathyscaphe Trieste.

There is no hope for the 129 men who rode the nuclear submarine a mile and a half down into the ocean trough. All that can be salvaged now are the hows and whys of the Navy's worst submarine disaster—an explanation that could save the lives of other submariners.

And while the search goes on, the navy has announced it intends to go ahead with construction of 22 more attack submarines like the Thresher.

But, said Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth, the Bureau of Ships is making a new study of the entire structural design.

This study, he told newsmen Friday night, is beside and in addition to the general investigation being conducted by the Naval court of inquiry.

The court of inquiry's hearings will include a probe into the structural integrity of the Thresher after her overhaul in the Portsmouth, N.H., Navy Yard.

It was from this overhaul that the Thresher departed Tuesday for test dives. It was never heard from again after plunging down for its final, maximum test dive Wednesday morning.

Whistling 45-mile-an-hour winds and 15-to 20-foot waves crashed against the search ships Friday, hampering operations and delaying plans.

The loss of the Thresher could force the Navy to change some of its secret message code system.

Whether codes are changed to prevent them from falling into the hands of other nations depends on such things as the place where a ship sinks, water depth and the possibility of access to the wreck.

A Navy spokesman declined today to say whether codes would be changed because of the Thresher's sinking in 8,400 feet of water more than 200 miles east of Boston.

Ex-Skipper Of Sub Testifies At Inquiry

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — The former skipper of the ill-fated submarine Thresher testified today he believed her loss with 129 men was associated with instantaneous floodings.

Bidding Next Step For New Structure Subject To Leasing

The Post Office Department's three - year search for a site for a new post office in Wellsville has ended with selection of a tract at the corner of 11th and Main Sts.

Joseph C. Russo Jr., an aide to the assistant postmaster general for facilities in the Post Office Department, said Friday the site was chosen after an on-the-spot inspection.

He said the Post Office Department has acquired an option on two parcels of land at the corner of 11th and Main Sts. for $25,000.

The property fronts on three streets, Main, 11th and Center and is "almost ideal" for the site of the new facility, Russo said.

Located geographically near the center of the city, the tract was selected from 40 possible locations, Russo explained. Options ranging up to $80,000 were asked of the other tracts, he added.

The department optioned two parcels of the 11th and Main Sts., location for $12,500 each.

One parcel was optioned from Dr. J. Fraser Jackson of East Liverpool and a brother, J. D. Jackson of Lake Forest, Ill. An unoccupied office and a garage presently stand on the property.

The second parcel was optioned from Mrs. Lena LaScola, 210 3rd St., Wellsville, on which stand the dwellings of her two sons and their families, Charles LaScolo, and John LaScola, 1051 Main St., and a garage.

USPA Committee To Air Report Of Tariff Group

The U.S. Potters Association's Foreign Trade Committee will meet probably next week to "digest" the formal ruling just received from the U.S. Tariff Commission rejecting the industry's efforts for relief from ware import concessions granted under the administration's trade agreements with foreign countries.

A preliminary report in which the commission said it found ware imports of no threat to the domestic industry was published in The Review Wednesday.

Everson Hall, vice president of the Hall China Co. and chairman of the USPA's committee, said members have received the formal ruling contained in a voluminous report of 55 pages. It is this the committee will study before considering any further action.

Public hearings were held in July and August with the USPA Committee and its counsel attending as the commission sought to determine if 'as a result in major part of concessions granted under trade agreements, table and kitchen ware was being imported into the U.S. in such increased quantities as to cause or threaten serious injury to the domestic industry producing such articles."

The commission said in its report to the President:

"On the basis of its investigation, the commission unanimously finds that the earthenware table and kitchen articles are not, as a result of a major part of concessions granted under trade agreements, being imported in such increased quantities as to cause, or threaten to cause, serious injury to the domestic industry producing like or directly competitive articles."

The report is broken down into various sections and contains extensive statistics regarding rates of duty on imported ware, tariff provisions, percentage distribution of dollar sales of domestic and imported ware sold in the U.S. by various outlets and the quantity sold by U.S. producers and importers.

One section relates to domestic concerns in ware production that have ceased production since 1954, and another details employment and wages in ware production in the country. Another makes a geographical comparison of distribution of domestic and imported ware.

Still other sections list types of ware, price ranges, U. S. shipments, exports, imports and apparent consumption, and imports from principal supplying countries.

Last Step Set For Crossing Lights, Gates

Council is scheduled to take the last legislative step Monday night to fulfill the city's bargain with the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. and clear the way for installation of a new system of automatic guard gates and warning lights at the Broadway and Walnut St. crossings.

Council will consider ordinances officially closing three little-used crossings — the E. 2nd St. crossing, which lies immediately adjacent to the Broadway crossing; the so-called Campbell's Crossing at Martins Alley along the River Rd., and the West Ave. crossing at 1st St., near the Newell Bridge.

The first step in the procedure was taken in mid-January, when Council enacted resolutions officially declaring the city's "intent" to close the crossings.

As a matter of fact, the E. 2nd St. and Campbell's crossings have been closed for months and the so-called West Ave. crossing virtually is unused because the area it serves was isolated by construction of the West-End California Hollow Freeway.

The action is a result of negotiations with the Pennsy dating back approximately four years.

Council and the administration insisted on modern protection systems for the Broadway and Walnut crossings, the two busiest in

Fair Weather Seen For Easter Services

Fair — if frosty — weather is forecast for Sunday, giving pastors and congregations the green light for those Easter sunrise services to be held outdoors early tomorrow morning.

Tonight's low will be 30 to 36 degrees but tomorrow will be generally fair and warmer, the Ohio weatherman promised, so temperatures should be more comfortable by the time the Easter parade begins for midmorning church services.

The only rain in sight was scheduled for this afternoon and that would consist only of an isolated shower or so. Today's temperature range was to be 48 to 56. The downtown had a freezing mark of 32 degrees at 7 a.m.

Located geographically near the center of the city, the tract was selected from 40 possible locations, Russo explained. Options ranging up to $80,000 were asked of the other tracts, he added.

The department optioned two parcels of the 11th and Main Sts., location for $12,500 each.

One parcel was optioned from Dr. J. Fraser Jackson of East Liverpool and a brother, J. D. Jackson of Lake Forest, Ill. An unoccupied office and a garage presently stand on the property.

The second parcel was optioned from Mrs. Lena LaScola, 210 3rd St., Wellsville, on which stand the dwellings of her two sons and their families, Charles LaScolo, and John LaScola, 1051 Main St., and a garage.

Fair Weather Seen For Easter Services

Fair — if frosty — weather is forecast for Sunday, giving pastors and congregations the green light for those Easter sunrise services to be held outdoors early tomorrow morning.

Tonight's low will be 30 to 36 degrees but tomorrow will be generally fair and warmer, the Ohio weatherman promised, so temperatures should be more comfortable by the time the Easter parade begins for midmorning church services.

The only rain in sight was scheduled for this afternoon and that would consist only of an isolated shower or so. Today's temperature range was to be 48 to 56. The downtown had a freezing mark of 32 degrees at 7 a.m.

USPA Committee To Air Report Of Tariff Group

The U.S. Potters Association's Foreign Trade Committee will meet probably next week to "digest" the formal ruling just received from the U.S. Tariff Commission rejecting the industry's efforts for relief from ware import concessions granted under the administration's trade agreements with foreign countries.

A preliminary report in which the commission said it found ware imports of no threat to the domestic industry was published in The Review Wednesday.

Everson Hall, vice president of the Hall China Co. and chairman of the USPA's committee, said members have received the formal ruling contained in a voluminous report of 55 pages. It is this the committee will study before considering any further action.

Public hearings were held in July and August with the USPA Committee and its counsel attending as the commission sought to determine if 'as a result in major part of concessions granted under trade agreements, table and kitchen ware was being imported into the U.S. in such increased quantities as to cause or threaten serious injury to the domestic industry producing such articles."

The commission said in its report to the President:

"On the basis of its investigation, the commission unanimously finds that the earthenware table and kitchen articles are not, as a result of a major part of concessions granted under trade agreements, being imported in such increased quantities as to cause, or threaten to cause, serious injury to the domestic industry producing like or directly competitive articles."

The report is broken down into various sections and contains extensive statistics regarding rates of duty on imported ware, tariff provisions, percentage distribution of dollar sales of domestic and imported ware sold in the U.S. by various outlets and the quantity sold by U.S. producers and importers.

One section relates to domestic concerns in ware production that have ceased production since 1954, and another details employment and wages in ware production in the country. Another makes a geographical comparison of distribution of domestic and imported ware.

Still other sections list types of ware, price ranges, U. S. shipments, exports, imports and apparent consumption, and imports from principal supplying countries.

One section contains an exam-

Last Step Set For Crossing Lights, Gates

Council is scheduled to take the last legislative step Monday night to fulfill the city's bargain with the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. and clear the way for installation of a new system of automatic guard gates and warning lights at the Broadway and Walnut St. crossings.

Council will consider ordinances officially closing three little-used crossings — the E. 2nd St. crossing, which lies immediately adjacent to the Broadway crossing; the so-called Campbell's Crossing at Martins Alley along the River Rd., and the West Ave. crossing at 1st St., near the Newell Bridge.

The first step in the procedure was taken in mid-January, when Council enacted resolutions officially declaring the city's "intent" to close the crossings.

As a matter of fact, the E. 2nd St. and Campbell's crossings have been closed for months and the so-called West Ave. crossing virtually is unused because the area it serves was isolated by construction of the West-End California Hollow Freeway.

The action is a result of negotiations with the Pennsy dating back approximately four years.

Council and the administration insisted on modern protection systems for the Broadway and Walnut crossings, the two busiest in

Captains Named In Fund Drive For Scholarships

Captains for the house-to-house canvasses for the "Dollars for Scholars" fund drive in East Liverpool and Beaver Local Districts have been announced by the community chairmen — Mrs. Edwin Bayley of Montgomery Ave. in East Liverpool and Mrs. Veronica Wolski of West Point in Beaver Local.

Membership cards, collection envelopes and instruction sheets will be delivered within a few days for the captains and volunteer workers for the solicitation to be held Wednesday night.

The campaign, sponsored by the Citizens Scholarship Foundation, will provide funds to help students with a financial need get into college by awarding scholarship grants this spring.

The $1 membership cards will also admit holders to a modern music concert to be presented April 25 at Westgate School.

Klondyke — Mrs. Donald Perkins, 2146 Michigan Ave.; Neville School Area — Mrs. Sue Kinsey Rubicon St.; Horace Mann School area — Mrs. Richard Reed, 1737 Holiday St.; Garfield School area — Mrs. Kenneth Carr, 917 St. George St.

Dixonville — Mrs. Faye Wright of Ashland Ave.; Taft School area — Mrs. Harriet Faulk of Hill Blvd.; Maplewood — Mrs. Ralph Musuraca, 2601 St. Clair Ave.; Lincoln School area — Mrs. Bayard Price, 456 Sunset Dr.

McKinley School area — Mrs. Dean Robert Ferguson, 401 Vine St.; downtown — Mrs. Clarence Bryan, 342 W. 5th St., and Mrs. Lorna Hall, 1161 Pennsylvania Ave.; Grant St. area — Mrs. Dale Franklin, 409 Prospect St.

West End — Mrs. Donald Wolf 837 W. 8th St.; Washington School area — Mrs. Joan Crowe, 928 Florence St.

Shadyside and Lake Marwin area — Mrs. Charles Deshler of Radio Heights; Glenmoor — Mrs. Kenneth Baxter of the Y. & O. Rd.

The Beaver Local captains are: Calcutta area — Robert Veness of Calcutta; Rogers area — Glenn Hawkins of Rogers; Elkton area — Myron McCamon of Elkton, and West Point area — Mrs. Virginia Campbell and Mrs. Jack Plunkett.

There are half a dozen tables covering various years used for the study. U.S. tariff treatment in the past also is outlined.

The USPA committee consisted of Hall, Joseph Wells Jr. of the Homer Laughlin China Co., Emil Rohrer of the sales department of the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co., Norman MacDonald, Chicago representative of Homer Laughlin, William Christopher, who was vice president of the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. before it went out of business, and David Golden, counsel of the firm of Lamb & Lerch of New York City, specialists in customs matters.

Winona Driver Posts Bond On Indictment

LISBON — A Winona motorist indicted secretly Thursday by the April Grand Jury posted bond Friday afternoon in Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard's Court.

Jerry Schaffer, 18, was indicted in the traffic deaths of Leon B. Knag, 38, of R. D. 1, and Leroy Hough, 30, of Salem, in a four-car smashup March 22 on Route 62, just west of Salem. Five other persons were injured in the crash, including Schaffer.

The Grand Jury indicted Schaeffer on three counts of traffic violations — reckless operation, speeding and driving left of center.

Doctors See No Hope For Algerian Aide

ALGIERS (AP) — Doctors said today Foreign Minister Mohammed Khemisti still clung to life but that there was no hope of his surviving an assailant's bullet.

Physicians have kept the 33-year-old minister's respiration going artificially. The minister's brain was damaged and his legs paralyzed when an assailant fired a pistol bullet into his face Thursday.

Premier Ahmed Ben Bella was at Khemisti's bedside Friday night then went to see the minister's bride of four months, the former Fatima Mechiche.

Mrs. Khemisti, a deputy in the Algerian National Assembly, lost her first husband during Algeria's bitter war for independence.

Police continued to interrogate Khemisti's assailant, identified as a 30-year-old former schoolteacher. The man apparently had several identity cards and police said his name has not been definitely established.

No new light has been shed on the motive behind the attack which alarmed members of Algeria's first independent government.

Many ministers and other political figures have personal enemies in a country where shooting a man was a daily occurrence not long ago.

he was headed west about 35 miles an hour when the Tice auto came down the freeway ramp and pulled into the inside westbound lane without yielding. Tice appeared as if he were going to make a U-turn, Kennedy told the investigating officers.

Officers said Tice told them he was on the freeway ramp but wasn't certain that he was on W. 8th St.

Police indicated on their report that Kennedy's 1960 Rambler ended up in the break in the medial strip leading into Patterson Field while Tice's car was on the sidewalk at the entrance.

There was extensive damage to the right front of the Kennedy car and heavy damage to both the left and right sides of Tice's 1956 Dodge, police said.

A Cleveland motorist was cited this morning after a collision on Shadyside Ave.

Charles R. Clutter, 25, was cited for improper backing after a collision with a southbound car operated by William L. Plantz, 68, of 532 Campground Rd., Wellsville.

Plantz told police he was heading down the grade when Clutter's car came out of a private drive and struck him. Clutter said he was making a turn in the driveway when he backed out and struck the passing Plantz car.

The collision damaged the right rear fender and bumper on the Plantz auto and the bumper of the Clutter auto.

A collision Friday at 3:57 p. m. on W. 8th St., about 200 feet east of Shadyside Ave., involved autos operated by Jack Rex Sayre, 20, of 514 Broadway, Wellsville, and Paul A. Lavery, 58, of Warren, Pa.

Each driver charged the other with veering into him as Sayre attempted to pass, police said.

County Youth Hurt In Fatal Auto Crash

YOUNGSTOWN — Elliot Gains, 16, of Youngstown, died in South Side Hospital here early today of injuries suffered three hours earlier in a two-car crash in which five other persons were injured, including William Robertson, 21, of Columbiana R. D. 1.

Gaines was a passenger in an automobile driven by Joseph Duganne, 16, of Youngstown, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported. The collision occurred on Ohio 7 about five miles south.

The patrol identified the driver of the other car as Robertson.

Also hospitalized, in addition to the two drivers, were three other passengers in Duganne's car — Barry Amrich, 14; Bob Lucente, 15, and Thomas Lias, 16, all of Youngstown.

Grass Fire Quelled

LISBON — Volunteer firemen were called Friday at 5:30 p. m. to quell a grass fire between S. Lincoln Ave. and S. Market St. along Little Beaver Creek. There was no damage. Firemen said children were seen playing in the area.

60 Arrested In Birmingham After Racial Demonstration

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Negro students are being asked to help continue racial demonstrations in this industrial city.

Sixty persons, including the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., were arrested in a so-called Freedom March Friday. Some 1,000 Negroes followed the procession led by Dr. King, the Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth and the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy.

There was no violence.

The Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker, public information officer of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference headed by Dr. King, outlined plans Friday night for continuing the demonstrations.

He called a meeting of Negro students today, but declined to reveal any plans except, "They can learn more in five days in Birmingham jails than they can in five months in segregated schools."

He also told a rally attended by more than 300 persons that plans were being made for kneel-ins at white churches Easter Sunday morning. He did not elaborate.

Dr. King and the Rev. Mr. Abernathy were arrested during the march. Police picked up the Rev. Mr. Shuttlesworth, who they said ran when the march was stopped, an hour later at his motel.

The three led the procession from a Negro church and headed in the direction of City Hall. Hundreds of Negroes lining the streets knelt as the procession passed. Most joined it.

Connor stopped the procession by ordering two motorcycle patrolmen to pull in front of it. Police grabbed the leaders and forced them into waiting paddy wagons. The procession followed until the wagons were jammed.

Officers pushed the rest back and dispersed them. Some gathered again at a church while various ministers took turns leading songs and prayers.

West Virginia Legion Spurs Plans Despite Racial Issue

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (AP) — American Legion officials proceeded today with plans for the July 26-28 state convention, despite the headquarters hotel's refusal to accept reservations from Negro Legionnaires.

"I feel that at this stage, the convention should be held there (Bluefield)," said state commandant Chester M. Matney of Welch. "Up until now there has been no objection. . .and Bluefield was the only city that invited us this year."

A Beckley Legion post and the West Virginia Human Rights Commission have protested the white-only policy of the West Virginian Hotel, but manager H. S. Burnett said "we don't intend to change our policy no matter what happens."

A few days earlier, Legion headquarters in Indianapolis threatened to cancel a Sept. 6-12 national convention scheduled for New Orleans because of possible color bars in hotels and restaurants.

The controversy flared after Beckley lawyer Brown H. Payne, a Legionnaire, complained that the hotel refused reservations to Negroes.

Burnett confirmed that was true, and added: "The majority of our clientele is from the south, where Negroes are in the minority and couldn't possibly keep up the hotel business."

Howard W. McKinney, executive director of the Human Rights Commission, wrote both Burnett and the state Legion headquarters to express "surprise and disappointment that the American Legion should contribute to prejudice and bigotry" by holding its convention in facilities discriminating against Negroes.

Ex-Mental Patient Charged In Kidnap Of Crippled Son

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — A 20-year-old former mental patient faced arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Walter M. Parker today on a charge of kidnaping his 3-year-old crippled stepson.

John Henry Turner was brought to Cabell County Jail here Friday night after his arrest in Matewan, W. Va., south of here along the Kentucky border. The youngster, Jeffrey Lee Hardy, also was found in Matewan, unharmed since his disappearance from an aunt's home in Dayton, Ohio, early this week.

The FBI said Turner, who had been described as dangerous—he allegedly had threatened to kill both the boy and his estranged wife—did not resist when apprehended. FBI agents and Matewan police made the arrest after Turner telephoned relatives in Dayton from the West Virginia community, where his mother reportedly lives.

Turner is a former inmate of Ohio's Boys Industrial School and of a mental institution. Dayton Detective E. H. Melson, who filed the kidnaping charge, said Turner had attempted suicide once and could be violent.

Young Jeffrey, who has a lame left leg, vanished from the home of his aunt, Mrs. Judy Tramel, who was caring for him and his half-brother, Randy Turner, 2, while Turner's wife—whom Turner hadn't seen in two years—was at work.

Dayton police said they were told Turner had beaten Jeffrey against a wall when he was an infant. The alleged kidnaping touched off a three-state alert.

Drop In Shipments Of High Quality Dairy Cows Noted

WASHINGTON (AP)—High milk production and declining returns to dairymen are contributing to a drop in shipments of high quality dairy cows.

An Agriculture Department survey showed today that shipments of such cattle into the heavy dairy producing states declined last year totaling only 86,000 compared with 101,000 in 1961.

These in-shipments, the lowest since 1955, came largely from Canada, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota as well as from states within the northeast to other states in the area.

Meanwhile, milk production continued slightly below levels of a year ago. For the first three months of this year, it totaled 30,420,000,000 pounds, down 283 million from the like period last year.

The declining demand for more milk cows comes in part from the fact that production per cow continues to rise. Milk Production per cow in this country in March averaged 650 pounds compared with 639 in March last year and 584 for the 1957-61 March average.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herschel D. Newsom, master of the National Grange, has joined Kennedy administration leaders in predicting Congress would not pass new wheat legislation should a proposed certificate plan be rejected by growers at a May 21 referendum.

Newsom said he based his judgment on discussions with leaders of both political parties in Congress. The Grange is supporting the certificate plan, while the American Farm Bureau Federation is opposing it.

Police, Others Invited To FBI's Clinic

East Liverpool and Wellsville police and officials of financial institutions have been invited to attend a specialized "bank robbery conference" to be held by the FBI April 18 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Girard City Hall.

The office of Edward G. Hargett, special agent in charge of the Cleveland FBI office, said the local police and banking officials will exchange problems and ideas with the FBI on bank robberies.

The meeting is being held in connection with a series of law enforcement conferences scheduled nationwide between now and June 1.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said this program is designed to meet the threat posed by a record number of crimes against banking institutions.

the downtown area. After a series of meetings stretching over months, the railroad agreed to install the automatic systems, providing the city would reciprocate by closing the three little-used crossings.

The Pennsy already has received permission from the Public Utilities Commission at Columbus to proceed with the project. At present, both crossings are protected by manually-operated gates and watchmen.

Council also is scheduled to consider an ordinance banning parking between 1 and 8 a.m. each Wednesday and Thursday on certain streets to permit the street department's mechanical street sweeper to work without obstruction.

It provides a penalty ranging up to a maximum of a $50 fine for a first violation. For a second violation, the ordinance would allow a fine and permit officers to order the offender's car towed away.

A resolution will be presented authorizing the Board of Public Utilities, which administers the city water department, to advertise for bids on a year's supply of water purification chemicals, cast iron pipe and meters.

A three-member Board of Equalization named recently by Council to hear a lone complaint against the scheduled special assessment to pay for a new business district street lighting system is scheduled to present a report, including its findings.

That will clear the way for Council to enact an ordinance determining to proceed with the improvement and authorizing the administration to advertise for bids and enter into a contract as soon as funds are available.

Business property will be assessed on a front foot basis to pay the difference in cost between the present lights and a new system of fluorescent fixtures.

U.S. Sounds New Alert On Tainted Tuna

By The Associated Press

Grocers and housewives have been alerted to a new botulism threat, this time in canned tuna prepared for the Jewish Passover season already under way.

The Food and Drug Administration in Washington announced Friday that some defective cans of tuna gave indications of being contaminated by the deadly clostridium botulinum type E.

The cans in question were shipped to six metropolitan areas within the past two months, FDA officials said. They bear the stamped serial numbers WY2 and WY3 and the labels read, in part, "Dagim—white tuna—kosher for Passover—net wt. 7 oz."

The areas are New York, Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, and Augusta, Ga.

A spokesman for the FDA said "We don't think a large amount has been sold." He said the shipper had notified all recipients last week of the possibility that the canned tuna was contaminated.

The spokesman said about 10 defective cans had been tested and most showed indications of botulinum. All, he said, were found in the metropolitan New York area.

The FDA said the tuna—kosher to meet Jewish dietary restrictions and doubly supervised for the Jewish Passover season to ensure that no leavened bread is contained in it—was packed by the Washington Packing Corp. of San Francisco.

West Virginia Legion Spurs Plans Despite Racial Issue

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (AP) — American Legion officials proceeded today with plans for the July 26-28 state convention, despite the headquarters hotel's refusal to accept reservations from Negro Legionnaires.

"I feel that at this stage, the convention should be held there (Bluefield)," said state commandant Chester M. Matney of Welch. "Up until now there has been no objection. . .and Bluefield was the only city that invited us this year."

A Beckley Legion post and the West Virginia Human Rights Commission have protested the white-only policy of the West Virginian Hotel, but manager H. S. Burnett said "we don't intend to change our policy no matter what happens."

A few days earlier, Legion headquarters in Indianapolis threatened to cancel a Sept. 6-12 national convention scheduled for New Orleans because of possible color bars in hotels and restaurants.

The controversy flared after Beckley lawyer Brown H. Payne, a Legionnaire, complained that the hotel refused reservations to Negroes.

Burnett confirmed that was true, and added: "The majority of our clientele is from the south, where Negroes are in the minority and couldn't possibly keep up the hotel business."

Howard W. McKinney, executive director of the Human Rights Commission, wrote both Burnett and the state Legion headquarters to express "surprise and disappointment that the American Legion should contribute to prejudice and bigotry" by holding its convention in facilities discriminating against Negroes.

Ex-Mental Patient Charged In Kidnap Of Crippled Son

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — A 20-year-old former mental patient faced arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Walter M. Parker today on a charge of kidnaping his 3-year-old crippled stepson.

John Henry Turner was brought to Cabell County Jail here Friday night after his arrest in Matewan, W. Va., south of here along the Kentucky border. The youngster, Jeffrey Lee Hardy, also was found in Matewan, unharmed since his disappearance from an aunt's home in Dayton, Ohio, early this week.

The FBI said Turner, who had been described as dangerous—he allegedly had threatened to kill both the boy and his estranged wife—did not resist when apprehended. FBI agents and Matewan police made the arrest after Turner telephoned relatives in Dayton from the West Virginia community, where his mother reportedly lives.

Turner is a former inmate of Ohio's Boys Industrial School and of a mental institution. Dayton Detective E. H. Melson, who filed the kidnaping charge, said Turner had attempted suicide once and could be violent.

Young Jeffrey, who has a lame left leg, vanished from the home of his aunt, Mrs. Judy Tramel, who was caring for him and his half-brother, Randy Turner, 2, while Turner's wife—whom Turner hadn't seen in two years—was at work.

Dayton police said they were told Turner had beaten Jeffrey against a wall when he was an infant. The alleged kidnaping touched off a three-state alert.

Drop In Shipments Of High Quality Dairy Cows Noted

WASHINGTON (AP)—High milk production and declining returns to dairymen are contributing to a drop in shipments of high quality dairy cows.

An Agriculture Department survey showed today that shipments of such cattle into the heavy dairy producing states declined last year totaling only 86,000 compared with 101,000 in 1962.

These in-shipments, the lowest since 1955, came largely from Canada, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota as well as from states within the northeast to other states in the area.

Meanwhile, milk production continued slightly below levels of a year ago. For the first three months of this year, it totaled 30,420,000,000 pounds, down 283 million from the like period last year.

The declining demand for more milk cows comes in part from the fact that production per cow continues to rise. Milk Production per cow in this country in March averaged 650 pounds compared with 639 in March last year and 584 for the 1957-61 March average.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herschel D. Newsom, master of the National Grange, has joined Kennedy administration leaders in predicting Congress would not pass new wheat legislation should a proposed certificate plan be rejected by growers at a May 21 referendum.

Newsom said he based his judgment on discussions with leaders of both political parties in Congress. The Grange is supporting the certificate plan, while the American Farm Bureau Federation is opposing it.

HONG KONG (AP) — Two Hong Kong children were robbed by two men while returning home from school. One of the children was the daughter of Hong Kong's Commissioner of Police.

Police, Others Invited To FBI's Clinic

East Liverpool and Wellsville police and officials of financial institutions have been invited to attend a specialized "bank robbery conference" to be held by the FBI April 18 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Girard City Hall.

The office of Edward G. Hargett, special agent in charge of the Cleveland FBI office, said the local police and banking officials will exchange problems and ideas with the FBI on bank robberies.

The meeting is being held in connection with a series of law enforcement conferences scheduled nationwide between now and June 1.

Crossing

the downtown area. After a series of meetings stretching over months, the railroad agreed to install the automatic systems, providing the city would reciprocate by closing the three little-used crossings.

The Pennsy already has received permission from the Public Utilities Commission at Columbus to proceed with the project. At present, both crossings are protected by manually-operated gates and watchmen.

Council also is scheduled to consider an ordinance banning parking between 1 and 8 a.m. each Wednesday and Thursday on certain streets to permit the street department's mechanical street sweeper to work without obstruction.

It provides a penalty ranging up to a maximum of a $50 fine for a first violation. For a second violation, the ordinance would allow a fine and permit officers to order the offender's car towed away.

A resolution will be presented authorizing the Board of Public Utilities, which administers the city water department, to advertise for bids on a year's supply of water purification chemicals, cast iron pipe and meters.

A three-member Board of Equalization named recently by Council to hear a lone complaint against the scheduled special assessment to pay for a new business district street lighting system is scheduled to present a report, including its findings.

That will clear the way for Council to enact an ordinance determining to proceed with the improvement and authorizing the administration to advertise for bids and enter into a contract as soon as funds are available.

Business property will be assessed on a front foot basis to pay the difference in cost between the present lights and a new system of fluorescent fixtures.

U.S. Sounds New Alert On Tainted Tuna

By The Associated Press

Grocers and housewives have been alerted to a new botulism threat, this time in canned tuna prepared for the Jewish Passover season already under way.

The Food and Drug Administration in Washington announced Friday that some defective cans of tuna gave indications of being contaminated by the deadly clostridium botulinum type E.

The cans in question were shipped to six metropolitan areas within the past two months, FDA officials said. They bear the stamped serial numbers WY2 and WY3 and the labels read, in part, "Dagim—white tuna—kosher for Passover—net wt. 7 oz."

The areas are New York, Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, and Augusta, Ga.

A spokesman for the FDA said "We don't think a large amount has been sold." He said the shipper had notified all recipients last week of the possibility that the canned tuna was contaminated.

The spokesman said about 10 defective cans had been tested and most showed indications of botulinum. All, he said, were found in the metropolitan New York area.

The FDA said the tuna—kosher to meet Jewish dietary restrictions and doubly supervised for the Jewish Passover season to ensure that no leavened bread is contained in it—was packed by the Washington Packing Corp. of San Francisco.

2 Charged With Arson In Throwing Cocktail

CLARKSDALE, Miss. (AP) — Arson charges have been lodged against two young white men who admitted hurling flaming Molotov cocktails into a Clarksdale home where Rep. Charles Diggs, D-Mich., a Negro, was an overnight guest.

Theodore A. Carr, 24, a college student and former resident of this North Mississippi Delta town, and Luther Aubrey Cauthen, 26, of Clarksdale, remained in Coahoma County jail in lieu of $10,000 bonds each.

Police Chief Ben C. Collins said both men admitted the 2 a.m. attack Friday, but asserted they were "just having fun" and didn't know Diggs was in the house.

They said they didn't know whether the occupants were white or Negro.

"The emotional impact of being awakened by a bomb out of a dead sleep is tremendous," said Diggs, a resident of Detroit.

He was here to study the Negro vote registration drive in Greenwood—scene of arrests and demonstrations in past weeks.

Diggs was an overnight guest at the home of Aaron Henry, a druggist and president of the Mississippi branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

One of the two Molotov cocktails —a softdrink bottle filled with gasoline—crashed through a picture window and exploded, setting draperies on fire.

Slides Will Be Screened For Irondale Church Group

Dr. C. M. Mayberry of East Liverpool will speak and screen slides on "Alaska" at a meeting of the Methodist Men of the Irondale Methodist Church Tuesday night in the social rooms.

Officers will be elected. Dinner will be served by William Hogue, Paul Tice, Harry Swartzlander and Merle Fagan.

The annual Junior - Senior banquet of Stanton Local High School will be held April 26 in the school. Mrs. Gretchen Hogue and Mrs. Esther Davidson are co-chairmen. Plans were made at a meeting Thursday night, with Mrs. Ruth Frampton in charge. Nineteen parents attended.

Mrs. Jane Tolson was leader for a program on "Easter" when Margaret Poole Circle of the Methodist Church met Wednesday night with Mrs. Carol Hogue.

Mrs. June Deets read a poem. A story, "What Easter Means", was read by Mrs. Mary Workman. Mrs. Shirley Prosco, devotional leader, read "The Lord's Prayer" and Scripture from 21 John:18-28.

Mrs. Jane Tolson was elected president; Mrs. Jean Gill, vice president; Mrs. June Clark, treasurer; Mrs. Margaretta Rowley, secretary; Mrs. Workman, spiritual leader, and Mrs. Alta Nicholson, news reporter. Mrs. Clark is retiring president.

The group agreed to contribute $100 to the church for operating expenses. The Circle also voted to purchase an Easter lily for worship services Sunday.

Reports were presented by Mrs. Rowley, secretary, and Mrs. Workman, treasurer.

Lunch was served 11 at a table decorated with Easter flowers and an "egg tree". Mrs. Workman was co-hostess.

The May meeting will be held as an outing. Plans were made to go bowling after a dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rohal have named their infant son Chris Edward.

2 Bids Received For Road Roller

Two bids for a used road roller were taken under consideration by Liverpool Township trustees at a special meeting Friday night at the home of Simon Hall, clerk, of Dixonville.

The trustees will meet next Saturday at 9:30 a. m. in the City Hall. The contract will be let at that time.

The Howard E. Adams Machinery Co. of Salineville submitted a bid of $2,635 for a used roller, less $500 tradein for one now owned by the township, making a net of $2,135.

The Galion Iron Works offered a used roller for $2,250, less $500 tradein, for a net of $1,750. The firm also offered a new roller for $6,425, less a trade-in of $690, for a net of $5.735.

Bids were not sought on a new roller. The township is seeking a roller of five to eight tons.

County Plant To Be Leased

COLUMBIANA — This community had bright prospects today of a new industry employing about 150.

The Ballonoff Metal Products Co. of Cleveland is in the process of completing lease arrangements for the idle F. C. Russell Co., plant on Route 344 just west for the manufacture of miscellaneous articles.

Harold Ballonoff, company president, and other officials of the firm have been at the Russell Plant this past week, inspecting the facilities, which were vacated by Russell in March 1962, following labor troubles.

Irving Ballonoff, an officer of the Cleveland concern, and Wayne Bauer, president of the Columbiana Chamber of Commerce, confirmed that lease negotiations are all but completed.

Harold Ballonoff said Friday that "definite plans of operations should be known within a week."

The company bought the Harvell Kilgore Co. of Bolivar, Tenn., which had to move from its Tennessee location by May 1. The firm will manufacture wastebaskets, TV snack trays, canisters, heating pads for stove tops and other products, including some of plastic.

The Russell Co., which made aluminum doors and windows, still has considerable equipment in the plant here. The factory was shut down in 1962 after labor difficulties.

Lodge At Newell Plans Concession Unit At Carnival

Plans were approved to operate a concession stand during the annual carnival of the Newell Volunteer Fire Department when Clark Odd Fellows Lodge 447 met Friday night in the IOOF Hall.

A committee of Ernest Phillips, Bill Gamble and Al Thornberry was named to select the type of booth for the summer event. The lodge also operated a stand in the Chester fireman's carnival last year.

Bill Johnson, noble grand, presided. Plans were made to sponsor a school of instruction in late August and an inspection night in July in line with recommendations of the grand master, who is to attend both functions.

Plans also were aired for an auction sale in the IOOF Hall on a Saturday night.

Lunch was served and cards featured entertainment.

Wellsville Sweeper Repairs Completed

Repairs were completed Friday to Wellsville's street sweeper which broke down late Thursday.

After resuming operations, the sweeper was used to clean Commerce St. from 9th to 18th Sts.

Broadway Park was being seeded with grass today, according to Safety-Service Director Fred Baldasare.

He also said a street crew is rebuilding a catch basin at 12th and Commerce Sts.

A new fire hydrant was installed at the site over a month ago and the basin had to be altered, he said.

Heads VA Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Veterans Administration has appointed Dr. Benjamin B. Wells as director of the VA hospital at Cleveland, Ohio. Dr. Wells, 51, has been dean of the California College of Medicine at Los Angeles since leaving VA hospital service in 1962 after duties in Hines, Ill., New Orleans, La., and the central office here. He succeeds Reuben Cohen, appointed director of the VA hospital center at Dublin, Ga.

2 Charged With Arson In Throwing Cocktail

CLARKSDALE, Miss. (AP) — Arson charges have been lodged against two young white men who admitted hurling flaming Molotov cocktails into a Clarksdale home where Rep. Charles Diggs, D-Mich., a Negro, was an overnight guest.

Theodore A. Carr, 24, a college student and former resident of this North Mississippi Delta town, and Luther Aubrey Cauthen, 26, of Clarksdale, remained in Coahoma County jail in lieu of $10,000 bonds each.

Police Chief Ben C. Collins said both men admitted the 2 a.m. attack Friday, but asserted they were "just having fun" and didn't know Diggs was in the house.

They said they didn't know whether the occupants were white or Negro.

"The emotional impact of being awakened by a bomb out of a dead sleep is tremendous," said Diggs, a resident of Detroit.

He was here to study the Negro vote registration drive in Greenwood—scene of arrests and demonstrations in past weeks.

Diggs was an overnight guest at the home of Aaron Henry, a druggist and president of the Mississippi branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

One of the two Molotov cocktails —a softdrink bottle filled with gasoline—crashed through a picture window and exploded, setting draperies on fire.

Slides Will Be Screened For Irondale Church Group

Dr. C. M. Mayberry of East Liverpool will speak and screen slides on "Alaska" at a meeting of the Methodist Men of the Irondale Methodist Church Tuesday night in the social rooms.

Officers will be elected. Dinner will be served by William Hogue, Paul Tice, Harry Swartzlander and Merle Fagan.

The annual Junior - Senior banquet of Stanton Local High School will be held April 26 in the school. Mrs. Gretchen Hogue and Mrs. Esther Davidson are co-chairmen. Plans were made at a meeting Thursday night, with Mrs. Ruth Frampton in charge. Nineteen parents attended.

Mrs. Jane Tolson was leader for a program on "Easter" when Margaret Poole Circle of the Methodist Church met Wednesday night with Mrs. Carol Hogue.

Mrs. June Deets read a poem. A story, "What Easter Means", was read by Mrs. Mary Workman. Mrs. Shirley Prosco, devotional leader, read "The Lord's Prayer" and Scripture from 21 John: 18-28.

Mrs. Jane Tolson was elected president; Mrs. Jean Gill, vice president; Mrs. June Clark, treasurer; Mrs. Margaretta Rowley, secretary; Mrs. Workman, spiritual leader, and Mrs. Alta Nicholson, news reporter. Mrs. Clark is retiring president.

The group agreed to contribute $100 to the church for operating expenses. The Circle also voted to purchase an Easter lily for worship services Sunday.

Reports were presented by Mrs. Rowley, secretary, and Mrs. Workman, treasurer.

Lunch was served 11 at a table decorated with Easter flowers and an "egg tree". Mrs. Workman was co-hostess.

The May meeting will be held as an outing. Plans were made to go bowling after a dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rohal have named their infant son Chris Edward.

2 Bids Received For Road Roller

Two bids for a used road roller were taken under consideration by Liverpool Township trustees at a special meeting Friday night at the home of Simon Hall, clerk, of Dixonville.

The trustees will meet next Saturday at 9:30 a. m. in the City Hall. The contract will be let at that time.

The Howard E. Adams Machinery Co. of Salineville submitted a bid of $2,635 for a used roller, less $500 tradein for one now owned by the township, making a net of $2,135.

The Galion Iron Works offered a used roller for $2,250, less $500 tradein, for a net of $1,750. The firm also offered a new roller for $6,425, less a trade-in of $690, for a net of $5,735.

Bids were not sought on a new roller. The township is seeking a roller of five to eight tons.

Metals Group To Meet

STEUBENVILLE — Dr. Perry E. Gresham, president of Bethany College, will speak on the Civil War at the annual "Ladies Night" program of the Upper Ohio Valley Chapter of the American Society for Metals Wednesday at 6:30 in the Elks Club. William Thomson of Titanium Metals Corp. of Toronto will present a humorous talk about a Union Army foot soldier.

County Plant To Be Leased

COLUMBIANA — This community had bright prospects today of a new industry employing about 150.

The Ballonoff Metal Products Co. of Cleveland is in the process of completing lease arrangements for the idle F. C. Russell Co., plant on Route 344 just west for the manufacture of miscellaneous articles.

Harold Ballonoff, company president, and other officials of the firm have been at the Russell Plant this past week, inspecting the facilities, which were vacated by Russell in March 1962, following labor troubles.

Irving Ballonoff, an officer of the Cleveland concern, and Wayne Bauer, president of the Columbiana Chamber of Commerce, confirmed that lease negotiations are all but completed.

Harold Ballonoff said Friday that "definite plans of operations should be known within a week."

The company bought the Harvell Kilgore Co. of Bolivar, Tenn., which had to move from its Tennessee location by May 1. The firm will manufacture wastebaskets, TV snack trays, canisters, heating pads for stove tops and other products, including some of plastic.

The Russell Co., which made aluminum doors and windows, still has considerable equipment in the plant here. The factory was shut down in 1962 after labor difficulties.

Lodge At Newell Plans Concession Unit At Carnival

Plans were approved to operate a concession stand during the annual carnival of the Newell Volunteer Fire Department when Clark Odd Fellows Lodge 447 met Friday night in the IOOF Hall.

A committee of Ernest Phillips, Bill Gamble and Al Thornberry was named to select the type of booth for the summer event. The lodge also operated a stand in the Chester fireman's carnival last year.

Bill Johnson, noble grand, presided. Plans were made to sponsor a school of instruction in late August and an inspection night in July in line with recommendations of the grand master, who is to attend both functions.

Plans also were aired for an auction sale in the IOOF Hall on a Saturday night.

Lunch was served and cards featured entertainment.

Wellsville Sweeper Repairs Completed

Repairs were completed Friday to Wellsville's street sweeper which broke down late Thursday.

After resuming operations, the sweeper was used to clean Commerce St. from 9th to 18th Sts.

Broadway Park was being seeded with grass today, according to Safety-Service Director Fred Baldasare.

He also said a street crew is rebuilding a catch basin at 12th and Commerce Sts.

A new fire hydrant was installed at the site over a month ago and the basin had to be altered, he said.

Heads VA Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Veterans Administration has appointed Dr. Benjamin B. Wells as director of the VA hospital at Cleveland, Ohio. Dr. Wells, 51, has been dean of the California College of Medicine at Los Angeles since leaving VA hospital service in 1962 after duties in Hines, Ill., New Orleans, La., and the central office here. He succeeds Reuben Cohen, appointed director of the VA hospital center at Dublin, Ga.

It's Anything But A 'Game'

Radar again has been used in apprehending speeders on the "super-road" stretch of W. 8th St.

Municipal Judge Chertoff, at the beginning of the current series of hearings, pointed out to those cited that the police and court were not "playing a game", but were endeavoring to cut down speeding in the interest of traffic safety.

Cincinnati, among others, also has been using night radar in a drive on speeding. The arrests have stirred a controversy among some of the Municipal Court judges in the Ohio metropolis. Some feel they are more than justified. Others feel that the motorists are not being given adequate warning that radar is being used.

The discussion prompted the following pertinent remarks in an editorial in the Cincinnati Enquirer:

"It seems to us that the mere fact that such a controversy has occurred suggests that there is a tendency to regard the enforcement of our traffic laws as some sort of game — a game governed by a strict and unbending set of rules. Foremost among these rules is that the offender has to get an even break: He cannot be apprehended for a law violation until he is given every conceivable notice that he is being watched.

"In reality, though, we have been under the impression that traffic safety is a life-and-death matter, that our speed laws exist to protect society from potential killers behind the wheel. To say, consequently, that such potential killers deserve an even break is to downgrade very seriously indeed the whole cause of traffic safety."

To those words, we say "Amen".

Hammer Away!

The operators have gotten off the hook with a minimum of embarrassment in the Jockey Club raid of Feb. 16.

Fortunately, the gambling equipment seized by the FBI and state police remains in the hands of the authorities and is marked for destruction.

The quicker it is destroyed, the better. This is one way of putting a crimp in the gambling fraternity's activity. Such equipment is costly and vital to the illegal operations.

Frequent seizure and destruction of the devices possibly could make things so rough that the gamblers might find it necessary to move on.

When Taxpayers See Red

Still further encouragement about foreign aid came from Gen. Lucius D. Clay when he testified before the House Foreign Affairs last week.

Speaking as head of a presidential advisory commission on foreign aid, he continued the theme that ran through the commission's recent report.

Foreign aid, he said, had been administered too loosely. It can be tightened up. Money is being wasted. Funds are being given to countries that cannot use them for any worthwhile purpose.

President Kennedy's admission that $400 million can be lopped off foreign aid without hurting it is too low. More than that can be spared.

THEN CAME this sage advice: "We must be very careful that we don't use Communism as an excuse to extend aid."

The fact is, the threat to turn Communist has been used as a lever by recipients to pry foreign aid out of the United States since 1946.

Every apologist for foreign aid has used Communism as the principal reason for foreign aid spending. Representatives and senators have been told what Communists would do if they didn't vote for foreign aid until their flesh crept with horror.

It has been made to appear that foreign aid was some kind of magic candy that Uncle Sugar handed out to unresolved nations to swing them into his orbit; that the penalty for cutting down the candy supply would be a Pied Piper rush into Communism.

THERE ISN'T a taxpayer still breathing, after paying his 1963 taxes who hasn't said a dozen times that he would like to call their bluff; that he would like to hear his government say to the next political outfit that threatened to knuckle under to the Communists: "Cheers, chums. In parting, accept this token of our esteem. It will comfort you when the Communists take over. It's a cyanide pill."

What taxpayers think is that any country wobbly enough to threaten to turn red isn't worth buying off.

Dollars For Scholars

The "Dollars For Scholars" campaign being conducted by the Citizens Scholarship Fund has gotten off to a good start.

Some local and district businesses already have expressed their faith in the program by announcing contributions — including several substantial ones.

Many more contributors are needed, to be sure, to assure the campaign's success, but those behind the fund can take encouragement from the response to date.

They have a worthwhile product to "sell" and civic-minded groups have indicted they're ready to "buy" on behalf of advanced education.

Reciprocal Aid From Morocco

Morocco's King Hassan II is a grateful and thoughtful fellow.

When he has money to spend—which obviously is most of the time—does he spend it in France, in Germany, or in England?

He does not!

He spends it in the United States of America.

And why?

Because the guy's no ingrate. That's why!

In 11 days in the U.S. recently, he spent $780,000.

How nice can a guy be?

Of course, Morocco has received $352 million in U.S. aid since 1946, and the king, by his own admission, was only trying to return some of the money—in U.S. dollars and through the free enterprise system.

He bought $18,000 worth of dresses, sports jackets, luggage, lingerie and baby clothes, 5,000 other items, ranging from king-sized bath towels "in every color combination imaginable," to beach togas, robes and blankets, and five Cadillacs, never mind the color.

As if in a spirit of reciprocity from the king's generosity to New York retailers, the U.S. government provided Army trucks to help carry his crates, boxes and parcels to the airport and the Air Force placed a Boeing 707 at his disposal for the flight home.

The American taxpayer who must cough up to help countries like Hassan's Morocco surely will be happy to know its king has been so considerate of his benefactors.

Like A Jewel

By Truman Twill

One thing about flying in airplanes I do not like is the ponds.

It is my impression when I am aloft in conditions permitting sight of the ground that half the country real estate in the land is bejeweled with ponds. But it's the other half, not mine.

A pond viewed from on high is as conspicuous as rouge on the collar of a white shirt, or a detached sequin on the sleeve of a man's jacket.

It twinkles and glistens. It ripples and dances. It proclaims mutely that here resides someone with enough sense to have a pond containing oodles of plankton and fish fattening thereon.

People concerned about my foibles continue to ask solicitously about "my pond." This is a sensitive subject. It has been for five years.

Only this morning a lady sympathetically aware of my plight left a marked article for me to read at breakfast — How To Prevent Seepage in a Pond.

Friends I see only once every few years put their arms around my stooped shoulders and murmur, "Too bad about the pond, wobble-head."

No one flying over our miniscule fiefdom ever will see a sparkling jewel down there and envy the owner. No one ever will think of the joy of hooking a frisky bass in Twill Lake.

The pond that was to have been there never ponded out. The "baby of waters" did not materialize. The only fish to be caught at the Twillery come out of the freezer, packaged.

It has been five years since I quit digging for water, which is how the frustration began. There was a low place in which rushes grew and the ground was damp. It suggested water. I dug.

The water was there. But it did not gush forth. It was static. The next step was to dig deeper. Then to drive a pipe still deeper. Nothing gushed.

Next was a bulldozer — still deeper. Still no gushing water. That led to a well driller, who struck water — but no gush. That led to a pump.

Finally everything was in place.

The pump threw out water into the hole dug by the bulldozer at the spot that was always wet. But the water disappeared half as fast as it was pumped in. In four 24-hour days, the pond was full if the pump ran continuously. In another four days, the pond was empty if the pump was turned off.

Except for a few days each summer when longing for a pond overcomes reluctance to face frustration, the pond is dry — a saucer-shaped hole in the middle of a meadow.

Geologists someday may think of it as a crater left by a meteorite.

But it's just a hole made in the ground by a fellow who envies other rural dwellers who have ponds. Someday it will be time to dig down again. They can't tell me I won't hit an artesian well, an underground river, or a hidden lake. Else, how does all those other people get ponds? Just lucky?

In modern building construction, the outside columns are usually smaller because they carry less weight. Inside columns support about twice as much floor load as ordinary outside columns, and four times as much as corner columns. This is true even though the outside walls are made of heavy brick.

There is from one gallon to one and one-fourth gallon of blood in the average human body. A gallon of blood weighs approximately eight pounds.

Kennedy's Steel Stand Termed 'Sensible'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

President Kennedy has at least dealt sensibly with the problem of steel prices, in contrast with his action a year ago which unsettled the national economy. His mistake brought a mood of depression then. The correction of his error should bring a mood of confidence now.

David Lawrence

For, in effect, the federal government has just announced that hereafter it will refrain from efforts to fix prices in any industry.

The text of the statement issued by the President is phrased, to be sure, with an eye to political effects. It was necessary to say something not merely to businessmen but to labor leaders about wage - price stability and the avoidance of inflation.

For the political record, it was doubtless deemed wise to make it appear that the President's words this week are consistent with what he said a year ago. He said, for instance, in his statement on Thursday:

"The administration is watching closely the possibilities of a general across - the - board price increase in steel. I opposed such an increase last year — I oppose such an increase now."

Anyone who knows anything about the price-making process in steel is aware that a rise in the price list is always accompanied by variations, both upward and downward, in selected items. That's what the Wheeling Steel Co. announced earlier this week it intended to do, and that's what other steel companies wanted to try last year and apparently now are free to do with the ambiguous blessing of the White House.

THE KEY sentence, however, in the President's statement—the substance of which, though not the phraseology, will be welcomed throughout the steel industry — reads as follows:

"I realize that price and wage controls in this one industry while all others are unrestrained would be unfair and inconsistent with our free competitive market — that unlike last year the government's good faith has not been engaged in talks with industry and union representatives — and that selected price adjustments, up or down, as prompted by changes in supply and demand, as opposed to across-the-board increases, are not incompatible with a framework of general stability and steel-price stability and are characteristic of any healthy economy."

Unfortunately, Mr. Kennedy again by inference accuses the steel executives of bad faith a year ago, though he must know that steel executives had said in public statements during the negotiations in 1962 that a price increase was long overdue.

The administration in April 1962 made the mistake of breaking up the very same kind of process of changing prices on selected items in steel as it is approving today.

MR. KENNEDY says he is merely urging restraint. He makes an appeal in general terms to labor, too, as follows:

"I urge similar restraint on the Steel Workers Union. With more than 100,000 steel workers still unemployed, their need is for more jobs with job security, not fewer jobs at higher wages. Across-the-board price increases could precipitate labor demands and unrest and would cause great difficulties for the country."

The President might better have said this same thing a year ago, and the Eisenhower administration might have said it in 1959 in settling the Big Steel strike of that year. It all points up the salient fact that, if wage costs rise faster than they can be absorbed in price increases, this is bound to produce unemployment.

The problem is by no means solved by the President's statement about the announcement of one steel company that intends making selected price increases.

The big question is buyer resistance. Can the national economy absorb price increases at a time of sluggish operations? Can there be confidence in the future if wage costs continue to rise while higher prices cannot be maintained?

IT'S CONCEIVABLE that any substantial increase, even of a selective nature, in steel prices today may diminish demand.

President Kennedy, however, at least has taken away the threat of intervention and removed any governmental objection to the normal system of price-making in steel. This is indeed a salutary development.

Time alone will tell, on the other hand, whether the harassed and troubled industry, which faces such keen competition from the steel makers abroad, can move ahead now to the profits of previous years. If this happens, it will ensure an era of job creation, instead of job destruction. For two and two still make four, and the need for profits, if business is to expand, must inevitably sink into the thinking of labor leaders as being just as essential as a properly timed advance in wage scales.

White House Watches Steel Developments

By VICTOR RIESEL

WASHINGTON

When news of the Wheeling Steel price increase was rushed to President Kennedy, he swore again—this time alarmed by the possibility that a steel crisis would trigger industrial civil war, on all fronts, in aerospace, in rubber, in electronics and electrical equipment production.

Victor Riesel

These are some of the areas where scores of unions are beginning to bargain on new contracts with major corporations.

Mr. Kennedy lifted the "hot line" to Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz, the quiet man with whom he has had little contact.

When Wirtz saw the President, Mr. Kennedy wanted to know if the United Steelworkers might strike — or even create a crisis—because of the price increase. Some weeks ago he had been told there would be no upheaval in steel.

The labor secretary thought such a crisis would not develop.

But Mr. Wirtz was especially troubled by one thing. He wanted to know first considerably more about the health of one man—Dave McDonald, silver-haired, pipe-smoking president of one million steel workers.

MR. MCDONALD had been a hard-working leavening force in the union's closed-door negotiations with the steel companies' "central committee." McDonald wanted as much as he could get for his people — but it was felt in the White House that he would not strike nor create a crisis in the hard-hit steel industry.

But without Mr. McDonald, the negotiations might falter — and second-line union leaders might feel the necessity to tighten up or delay action. This in itself would create a crisis.

Since McDonald's health became the key issue, I telephoned the steel workers' chief at his modest home in Palm Springs, where he had been ordered to rest.

McDonald told me he would return to the negotiations "in a few weeks."

He told me that he is in constant telephone communication with Washington and with the steel industry's labor-management Human Relations Committee in Pittsburgh, and with the many technical subcommittees.

I believe Dave McDonald believes there will not be a strike nor a real crisis as a result of the price increase.

SOME OTHER steel company officials have let him know they would not raise prices.

"I'll be back soon," McDonald said to me. "Of course, I'm not out of action. I chatted with the President not too long ago. I was with Willard Wirtz.

"Here's what happened. I got the flu recently. I ran a low fever and kept going to work steadily. Isat in on the Human Relations Committee meetings with a fever hovering around a hundred. But not enough to make me feel real sick. Finally I went over to the hospital for a series of tests. My doctor asked me when I last vacationed. I told him back in '51.

"Well, take a rest, the doctor told me. Take some time off. You're just plain worn out.

"I asked him about Palm Springs. The doctor said I'd be out each night. But I promised to get nine hours sleep each night, just loaf, and keep in touch. He said fine. I'm not out of action. It's a case of too much action. Before I became ill I had just put in four solid weeks without a single day off.

"But tell them all everything has checked out all right. I have a complete bill of health.

"About the steel industry discussions, there is lots of time. It's only April."

FROM OTHER sources high in the steel union the word is that reports of a possible steel strike because of the price increase are "exaggerated."

There is no doubt that the Wheeling Steel increase came as a surprise, not only to the steel union, but to leaders of the steel industry.

Most of them were at a private banquet in New York's Pinnacle Club on the 42nd floor of the Socony Mobil Building — on the very eve of the anniversary of the presidential clobbering of the steel industry. That happened April 10, 1962.

They were giving a farewell banquet this past Tuesday night to Max D. Howell, outgoing president of the American Iron and Steel Institute. This was a gold-watch-and-speeches affair — including a talk by U.S. Steel's Roger Blough.

One man was not there — William Steele, chairman and president of the Wheeling Steel Corp. did not show. Not one of the diners knew why Steele did not come. Nor did they know of the price increase.

They, as well as Dave McDonald, want peaceful production—not crisis. They want healthy profits. The union wants healthy employment.

These were the developments behind the scenes as President Kennedy postponed his trip.

Unfinished Business

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

These are the days of unfinished business when everything is moving but nothing has arrived and when what sounds like a bang could end in a moan.

Arabs are getting together, NATO is looking up, Laos is looking down, Viet Nam seems uncertain, there's a pause in Korea, Communists are upstaging one another, Congress is floundering, and no one knows where prices are going.

Laos is on the edge of civil war. The two-year-old military junta in Korea, under American pressure, has agreed to let the people vote for a civilian government but it's by no means certain that in the end they will.

In Viet Nam the war against Communist guerrillas has slowed down, American and Vietnamese officers say, because President Ngo Dinh Diem's regime fears American support for its declining.

Yet, the American position up to now has been that Diem is the only anti-Communist leader strong enough to hold the nation together. But Dictator Diem has been strongly criticized in this country which gave him $2 billion in aid.

The 15 Atlantic allies in NATO are going to set up a common nuclear force. But the details are missing. Working them out will take some doing. Wrangles look sure. Less sure is that the whole thing will mean much.

At least it got the Russians mad but that's not much news since they're pretty mad most of the time about something, including the Red Chinese, who were their partners.

The obvious disunity—the split between the Soviets and Red Chinese—is the worst thing that has happened to world communism since the war. Red China's boss, Mao Tze-tung, asked Premier Khrushchev to Peking for a chat.

Khrushchev turned him down, suggested Mao go to Moscow. Oddly enough, in all the two men suggested in their letters that they talk about, they put unity last.

The rulers of Egypt, Syria and Iraq agreed to unite their 38 million people in a new United Arab Republic with Cairo as capital. But they're not revealing details. For instance, they didn't say who will head it.

Meanwhile, as if in warning to Israel, Egypt test-fired two rockets. Saudi Arabia and Jordan, both anti-Nasser in the past, don't know what to expect next. Neither does Israel. For that matter, maybe Egypt, Syria and Iraq don't know, either.

President Kennedy, who supported a refugee invasion of Cuba two years ago, has backed so far away from a repetition of it that he forbids refugees in Florida to make hit-run raids on Fidel Castro's island from American shores.

Even Castro in a television talk noted things have quited down. But while that sounds like a sigh of relief, it isn't. He says the sudden quiet doesn't mean there won't be any more threat of American aggression.

That seems to leave everyone up in the air: Castro about what to expect next; the refugees about where to go next; and Kennedy about what to do next.

Early this week in Canada the Liberals defeated the Conservatives in the elections but Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson hasn't become prime minister because Conservative Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker hasn't made up his mind about stepping down.

The new national Draft Goldwater for President Committee was organized to push the fortunes of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona but he said: "No comment."

New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, running like anything for the Republican presidential nomination, made a sweeping proposal that Kennedy's budget should be cut but when asked where and how he got suddenly vague.

In Congress this year, like always, there's greater enthusiasm for cutting foreign aid than cutting appropriations for the states which the members represent. It's no puzzle. Africans and Asians don't vote in American elections.

This year Kennedy tried to appease the ax-men by suggesting himself his foreign aid program could be cut $420 million. The cutters will want to use this as just a starting point.

The largest plants in the world are some of the seaweeds found in the Pacific Ocean, some of them with stalks more than 500 feet in length.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Robert E. Boyce of the Harker Pottery Co. was named president of the East Liverpool Rotary Club.

A. S. Campbell was named investigator by the Columbiana County Relief Commission.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—Freezing rain and snow left district streets and roads in a slippery condition, causing a number of minor accidents.

E. A. Purton was named chairman of a committee from Carroll Council 509, Knights of Columbus, to assist in a War Loan Drive.

TEN YEARS AGO — Leonard Bryan was named moderator of the Westminster Fellowship of the Longs Run United Presbyterian Church.

Charles Sell, head football coach at Wellsville High School, resigned to begin work on a masters' degree at Marshall College, Huntington.

Martha Zibalia, an eighth-grade pupil, was crowned spelling champion of Midland.

"Alma Mater" is the Latin for "fostering mother" and in ancient times was the title given by the Romans to Cereas, Cybele and other goddesses. Now the term is applied by collegians to their universities.

The popular term "chow", as applied by American soldiers to their food, originated in the Philippine Islands.

It's Anything But A 'Game'

Radar again has been used in apprehending speeders on the "super-road" stretch of W. 8th St.

Municipal Judge Chertoff, at the beginning of the current series of hearings, pointed out to those cited that the police and court were not "playing a game", but were endeavoring to cut down speeding in the interest of traffic safety.

Cincinnati, among others, also has been using night radar in a drive on speeding. The arrests have stirred a controversy among some of the Municipal Court judges in the Ohio metropolis. Some feel they are more than justified. Others feel that the motorists are not being given adequate warning that radar is being used.

The discussion prompted the following pertinent remarks in an editorial in the Cincinnati Enquirer:

"It seems to us that the mere fact that such a controversy has occurred suggests that there is a tendency to regard the enforcement of our traffic laws as some sort of game — a game governed by a strict and unbending set of rules. Foremost among these rules is that the offender has to get an even break: He cannot be apprehended for a law violation until he is given every conceivable notice that he is being watched.

"In reality, though, we have been under the impression that traffic safety is a life-and-death matter, that our speed laws exist to protect society from potential killers behind the wheel. To say, consequently, that such potential killers deserve an even break is to downgrade very seriously indeed the whole cause of traffic safety."

To those words, we say "Amen".

Hammer Away!

The operators have gotten off the hook with a minimum of embarrassment in the Jockey Club raid of Feb. 16.

Fortunately, the gambling equipment seized by the FBI and state police remains in the hands of the authorities and is marked for destruction.

The quicker it is destroyed, the better. This is one way of putting a crimp in the gambling fraternity's activity. Such equipment is costly and vital to the illegal operations.

Frequent seizure and destruction of the devices possibly could make things so rough that the gamblers might find it necessary to move on.

When Taxpayers See Red

Still further encouragement about foreign aid came from Gen. Lucius D. Clay when he testified before the House Foreign Affairs last week.

Speaking as head of a presidential advisory commission on foreign aid, he continued the theme that ran through the commission's recent report.

Foreign aid, he said, had been administered too loosely. It can be tightened up. Money is being wasted. Funds are being given to countries that cannot use them for any worthwhile purpose.

President Kennedy's admission that $400 million can be lopped off foreign aid without hurting it is too low. More than that can be spared.

THEN CAME this sage advice: "We must be very careful that we don't use Communism as an excuse to extend aid."

The fact is, the threat to turn Communist has been used as a lever by recipients to pry foreign aid out of the United States since 1946.

Every apologist for foreign aid has used Communism as the principal reason for foreign aid spending. Representatives and senators have been told what Communists would do if they didn't vote for foreign aid until their flesh crept with horror.

It has been made to appear that foreign aid was some kind of magic candy that Uncle Sugar handed out to unresolved nations to swing them into his orbit; that the penalty for cutting down the candy supply would be a Pied Piper rush into Communism.

THERE ISN'T a taxpayer still breathing, after paying his 1963 taxes who hasn't said a dozen times that he would like to call their bluff; that he would like to hear his government say to the next political outfit that threatened to knuckle under to the Communists: "Cheers, chums. In parting, accept this token of our esteem. It will comfort you when the Communists take over. It's a cyanide pill."

What taxpayers think is that any country wobbly enough to threaten to turn red isn't worth buying off.

Dollars For Scholars

The "Dollars For Scholars" campaign being conducted by the Citizens Scholarship Fund has gotten off to a good start.

Some local and district businesses already have expressed their faith in the program by announcing contributions — including several substantial ones.

Many more contributors are needed, to be sure, to assure the campaign's success, but those behind the fund can take encouragement from the response to date.

They have a worthwhile product to "sell" and civic-minded groups have indicted they're ready to "buy" on behalf of advanced education.

Reciprocal Aid From Morocco

Morocco's King Hassan II is a grateful and thoughtful fellow.

When he has money to spend—which obviously is most of the time—does he spend it in France, in Germany, or in England?

He does not!

He spends it in the United States of America.

And why?

Because the guy's no ingrate. That's why!

In 11 days in the U.S. recently, he spent $780,000.

How nice can a guy be?

Of course, Morocco has received $352 million in U.S. aid since 1946, and the king, by his own admission, was only trying to return some of the money—in U.S. dollars and through the free enterprise system.

He bought $18,000 worth of dresses, sports jackets, luggage, lingerie and baby clothes, 5,000 other items, ranging from king-sized bath towels "in every color combination imaginable," to beach togas, robes and blankets, and five Cadillacs, never mind the color.

As if in a spirit of reciprocity from the king's generosity to New York retailers, the U.S. government provided Army trucks to help carry his crates, boxes and parcels to the airport and the Air Force placed a Boeing 707 at his disposal for the flight home.

The American taxpayer who must cough up to help countries like Hassan's Morocco surely will be happy to know its king has been so considerate of his benefactors.

Like A Jewel

By Truman Twill

One thing about flying in airplanes I do not like is the ponds.

It is my impression when I am aloft in conditions permitting sight of the ground that half the country real estate in the land is bejeweled with ponds. But it's the other half, not mine.

A pond viewed from on high is as conspicuous as rouge on the collar of a white shirt, or a detached sequin on the sleeve of a man's jacket.

It twinkles and glistens. It ripples and dances. It proclaims mutely that here resides someone with enough sense to have a pond containing oodles of plankton and fish fattening thereon.

People concerned about my foibles continue to ask solicitously about "my pond." This is a sensitive subject. It has been for five years.

Only this morning a lady sympathetically aware of my plight left a marked article for me to read at breakfast — How To Prevent Seepage in a Pond.

Friends I see only once every few years put their arms around my stooped shoulders and murmur, "Too bad about the pond, wobble-head."

No one flying over our miniscule fiefdom ever will see a sparkling jewel down there and envy the owner. No one ever will think of the joy of hooking a frisky bass in Twill Lake.

The pond that was to have been there never ponded out. The "baby of waters" did not materialize. The only fish to be caught at the Twillery come out of the freezer, packaged.

It has been five years since I quit digging for water, which is how the frustration began. There was a low place in which rushes grew and the ground was damp. It suggested water. I dug.

The water was there. But it did not gush forth. It was static. The next step was to dig deeper. Then to drive a pipe still deeper. Nothing gushed.

Next was a bulldozer — still deeper. Still no gushing water. That led to a well driller, who struck water — but no gush. That led to a pump.

Finally everything was in place.

The pump threw out water into the hole dug by the bulldozer at the spot that was always wet. But the water disappeared half as fast as it was pumped in. In four 24-hour days, the pond was full if the pump ran continuously. In another four days, the pond was empty if the pump was turned off.

Except for a few days each summer when longing for a pond overcomes reluctance to face frustration, the pond is dry — a saucer-shaped hole in the middle of a meadow.

Geologists someday may think of it as a crater left by a meteorite.

But it's just a hole made in the ground by a fellow who envies other rural dwellers who have ponds. Someday it will be time to dig down again. They can't tell me I won't hit an artesian well, an underground river, or a hidden lake. Else, how does all those other people get ponds? Just lucky?

In modern building construction, the outside columns are usually smaller because they carry less weight. Inside columns support about twice as much floor load as ordinary outside columns, and four times as much as corner columns. This is true even though the outside walls are made of heavy brick.

There is from one gallon to one and one-fourth gallon of blood in the average human body. A gallon of blood weighs approximately eight pounds.

Kennedy's Steel Stand Termed 'Sensible'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

President Kennedy has at least dealt sensibly with the problem of steel prices, in contrast with his action a year ago which unsettled the national economy. His mistake brought a mood of depression then. The correction of his error should bring a mood of confidence now.

David Lawrence

For, in effect, the federal government has just announced that hereafter it will refrain from efforts to fix prices in any industry.

The text of the statement issued by the President is phrased, to be sure, with an eye to political effects. It was necessary to say something not merely to businessmen but to labor leaders about wage - price stability and the avoidance of inflation.

For the political record, it was doubtless deemed wise to make it appear that the President's words this week are consistent with what he said a year ago. He said, for instance, in his statement on Thursday:

"The administration is watching closely the possibilities of a general across - the - board price increase in steel. I opposed such an increase last year — I oppose such an increase now."

Anyone who knows anything about the price-making process in steel is aware that a rise in the price list is always accompanied by variations, both upward and downward, in selected items. That's what the Wheeling Steel Co. announced earlier this week it intended to do, and that's what other steel companies wanted to try last year and apparently now are free to do with the ambiguous blessing of the White House.

THE KEY sentence, however, in the President's statement—the substance of which, though not the phraseology, will be welcomed throughout the steel industry — reads as follows:

The new national Draft Goldwater for President Committee was organized to push the fortunes of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona but he said: "No comment."

New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, running like anything for the Republican presidential nomination, made a sweeping proposal that Kennedy's budget should be cut but when asked where and how he got suddenly vague.

In Congress this year, like always, there's greater enthusiasm for cutting foreign aid than cutting appropriations for the states which the members represent. It's no puzzle. Africans and Asians don't vote in American elections.

This year Kennedy tried to appease the ax-men by suggesting himself his foreign aid program could be cut $420 million. The cutters will want to use this as just a starting point.

One Of Rhodes' Key Measures

Bargaining Due On Education Bill

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio—The Rhodes administration's key education policy measure will be laid on the legislative bargaining table Monday night in hopes a House-Senate conference committee can resolve a dispute over its contents.

The bill creates a nine-member Ohio Board of Regents with broad powers for supervising and regulating higher education. It passed the Senate last week and returns to the House Monday night for concurrence in Senate amendments.

But the chief sponsors of the bill —Reps. Harry Jump, R-Huron, and Robert H. Longsworth, R-Carroll—insist the measure has been made ineffective by the Senate and that the House will not concur in the amendments.

Up to Conference

That means a conference committee and, according to Longsworth, the possibility—albeit remote—that the bill could go down the drain.

It is highly unlikely, however, that the administration will let that happen.

Although he isn't commenting on it, Gov. Rhodes' position reportedly is that the bill as it stands now is better than no bill at all.

At issue are three amendments tacked onto the bill by the Senate Education Committee which would:

STRIP the board of its power to approve or reject all new state university degrees and degree programs, leaving only the power to recommend.

PERMIT extension of eminent domain powers only to those private colleges and universities with endowments under $12.5 million.

ADD the House and Senate education chairmen to the board of regents as ex-officio members.

To Serve on Committee

That last point is of more than passing interest because both Education chairmen are expected to be among the three members from each house who will serve on the conference committee.

Longsworth, the House Education chairman, wants nothing to do with the board and has requested a seat on the conference committee primarily for that reason.

"I think it's only proper that if Bob Longsworth doesn't want to be on the board that it should be up to Bob Longsworth to say so," said Bob Longsworth.

But his counterpart in the upper house, Sen. Ross Pepple, R-Lima, doesn't see it that way. Pepple wants very much to be on the board. In fact, the amendment to permit it was his idea.

While the regents bill has been grounded temporarily, other key Rhodes proposals are on the move amid an over-all quickening of the legislative tempo here.

Both houses have completed action on the liquor board reorganization bill, which changes the four-member board to a three-member commission and raises members' salaries.

The House has passed and sent to the Senate a bill to create a three-member youth commission to combat juvenile delinquency.

On Schedule, Cloud Says

House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, says the legislative timetable is on schedule and that three other major bills will be on the House floor by April 30.

The bills, which Cloud says are the only "vital" measures still in committee, would:

CREATE an Industrial Development Authority to carry out Rhodes' priority program for pumping new vigor into Ohio's economy.

ESTABLISH the machinery for building "golden age villages" to house elderly non-psychotic patients who could be transferred from state mental institutions.

APPROPRIATE $1.2 billion in general revenue funds for the next biennium.

May Finish in June

Cloud believes the state legislative machine is running so smoothly now that his prediction of a May 30 or early June adjournment date for the General Assembly will stand.

"Of course the big push will be on in the Senate," said Cloud. "It always is. I don't know how well prepared the Senate is to act on these measures."

Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Nelsonville, has said repeatedly that the Senate won't be ready to call it quits before the end of the fiscal year—June 30.

"Roger might be going home at the end of May," said Mechem, "but if he does, he'll be going alone."

Industrialist To Face Tax Skip Charge

CLEVELAND (AP)—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Sydney L. Albert, Akron industrialist, on charges of evading federal income taxes of $1,309,464.

Deputies of U. S. Marshal Ben C. Hosler tried unsuccessfully Friday to reach Albert after U. S. Commissioner H. A. Horn issued a warrant Thursday for Albert's arrest. Albert was reportedly out of state.

He was charged with failing to file his income tax returns for 1956. John Kennedy Lynch, attorney for Albert, said his client suffered "such tremendous losses in 1956 that he had no taxable income." The companies named in the complaint were liquidated or approaching liquidation except L. Albert & Sons, Inc., Trenton, N. J., Lynch said.

The government says Albert owes $1,309,464 on income of $1,954,057 for 1956.

The two-count complaint involves the funds of five companies Albert controlled including L. Albert & Sons. The others named were Columbus Malleable Co., Columbus, Ohio; Machinery Terminals, Inc., Akron; Lake City Malleable Co., Cleveland, and the Cambridge Co., Cambridge, Ohio.

The first count of the complaint calls for a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine, and the second is for one year in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Coed, Graduate Student Facing Narcotics Charge

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—A coed and a graduate faced narcotics charges today in investigation of an alleged marijuana ring at Indiana University, and the prosecutor said there may be many more arrests.

Nancy C. Dillingham, 21, Monticello, was arrested after a raid on her apartment in a farmhouse near Bloomington and was released on $500 bond Friday night.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of graduate student Fritz Fisher of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Fisher, a former diver on the Ohio State swimming team, was at home for spring vacation, and his father, Frederick C. Fisher, a Cedar Rapids lawyer, said they will come to Bloomington next week.

A state police detective, Sgt. Merle McKinney, said Miss Dillingham declined to give a statement, on the advice of her attorney. The elder Fisher said his son denied ever having used marijuana or supplying it to Miss Dillingham.

Both Miss Dillingham and young Fisher were charged with possession of narcotics.

2 More Nominated By Lions In Board Of Director Posts

Two additional members were nominated for the Board of Directors when the Lions Club met Friday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel.

Nominated for three vacancies on the board were Richard McCullough and Earl Lones.

This raises to four the number of nominees for the posts after Dr. William Sulkes withdrew. Others nominated by the committee were Dr. Fraser Jackson and Leo C. Lawrence.

Nominations also will be open from the floor at Friday's meeting. The election is scheduled April 26.

George McCullough, district governor, reviewed his experiences in office during the past year, pointing out one of the duties is to attend at least one meeting of each of the 52 clubs in the district, which ranges from Shadyside to East Liverpool and north to Canton.

McCullough also praised Richard Walker, a member of the East Liverpool club, who has served as district publicity and public relations officer.

Walker spoke briefly, asking the club to consider the possibility of participating in the statewide "Candy Day" sponsored by the Ohio Lions and suggested the club also consider purchasing and erecting "Ohio Lions Welcome You" posters.

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. William Robert Timken, widow of an Ohio industrialist, left an estate of $43,954,062, papers filed in surrogate court showed.

Mrs. Timken, who died amid her art collection in her Fifth Avenue apartment Oct. 22, 1959, at the age of 88, was married to a founder of the Timken Roller Bearing Co. of Canton, Ohio.

Most of the estate—about $30 million of it—will go for federal and state taxes.

The federal tax was listed as $28,175,009 and the New York State tax as $7,481,504. However, $5 million representing state taxes is deductible from the federal bill.

Chief assets of the estate were stocks and bonds valued at $36,895,027. A block of General Motors stock was appraised at $15,232,219. The next largest single block of stock was 239,000 shares of Timken, valued at $13,393,026.

Cash in banks and brokerage accounts was valued at $4,440,098 The art treasures found in Mrs. Timken's apartment were appraised at $1,591,225.

They included a Rembrandt — "Christ and the Woman of Samaria" valued at $150,000. Another Rembrant, "Saskia," was valued at $125,000. A self-portrait by Ttian was listed at $125,000 and another painting by the same artist, "Father of Caterina," was appraised at $150,000.

By the terms of Mrs. Timken's will, dated January 8, 1950, the art collection was divided equally between the National Gallery of Art and the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The Fine Arts Society of San Diego was bequeathed "Portrait of Lady with Fan" by Goya and "Bull Fight" by Lucas.

Mrs. Timken's jewelry collection, valued in the neighborhood of $1 million, was directed to be sold and the proceeds to go to a number of organizations including the American Red Cross; Travelers Aid Society; Community Service Society of New York; New York Association for the Blind; Boy Scouts of America, and the Memorial Hospital for the Treatment of Cancer and Allied Diseases.

One half of the estate will go to Mrs. Timken's son, Robert Freeman Ford, and the balance to grandsons and granddaughters.

Marine Killed, Two Others Hurt In Wreck

JACKSON, Ohio (AP)—A U. S. Marine Corps corporal was killed and two fellow Marines were injured when their auto collided with a tractor-trailer rig near this southern Ohio town last night.

Cpl. Stephen C. Millward, 20, of Camp LeJeune, N. C., and Milwaukee, Wis., died in the crash.

Millward's injured buddies, also stationed at Camp LeJeune, are Buddy L. Hoffman, 20, of Iowa City, Iowa, and Lowell Eusey, 19, of Galion, Ohio. Hoffman was taken to Oak Hill Hospital and Eusey to Holzer Hospital, Gallipolis, after the wreck on U. S. 35 in Jackson County a mile west of the Gallia County line.

Truck driver Cletus R. Bulla, 32, of Rt. 1, Sophia, N. C., was unhurt.

Teamsters' Strike Halts Cuyahoga Paper

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cuyahoga Sunday Times, a newspaper published only on Sunday, will not be on the newsstands this weekend because of a strike by Teamsters Local 473, a spokesman for the paper said today.

The spokesman said the union started picketing the newspaper's plant at 4296 Pearl Road this morning in a dispute over wages and the number of Teamsters to be hired by the paper.

Publication of the paper was started six weeks ago.

Patrol Says Seat Belts Save Lives, Curb Injuries

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The highway patrol, reviewing its accident figures for 1962, declared today that "seat belts do save lives and minimize injuries in auto crashes."

The patrol report said that of 1,159 accidents in which seat belts were in use, it was the opinion of investigatint patrolmen that injuries were minimized by seat belts in 840 of these smashups.

"That's 72 per cent," said Col. Scott B. Radcliffe, patrol superintendent, "but if projected over the 37,928 accidents investigated by the patrol last year, Ohio's traffic deaths and serious injuries would have been greatly reduced.

"Unfortunately, only 1,174 (2.3 per cent) of the 50,918 passenger vehicles in patrol-investigated mishaps were equipped with seat belts which were in use at the time. This means 97.7 per cent of the passenger cars did not have or were not using this life saving protection."

The patrol investigated 1,796 accidents in which seat belts had been installed in cars. But in 637 (35 per cent) of these, the belts were not in use and therefore offered no protection to the driver or passengers.

Judge Waits Report Prior To Sentencing

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Judge Fred B. Cramer is waiting for a probation report before sentencing Roger Lawson, 33, who was convicted of second degree manslaughter Friday in Butler County Common Pleas Court.

Coed, Graduate Student Facing Narcotics Charge

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—A coed and a graduate faced narcotics charges today in investigation of an alleged marijuana ring at Indiana University, and the prosecutor said there may be many more arrests.

Nancy C. Dillingham, 21, Monticello, was arrested after a raid on her apartment in a farmhouse near Bloomington and was released on $500 bond Friday night.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of graduate student Fritz Fisher of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Fisher, a former diver on the Ohio State swimming team, was at home for spring vacation, and his father, Frederick C. Fisher, a Cedar Rapids lawyer, said they will come to Bloomington next week.

A state police detective, Sgt. Merle McKinney, said Miss Dillingham declined to give a statement, on the advice of her attorney. The elder Fisher said his son denied ever having used marijuana or supplying it to Miss Dillingham.

Both Miss Dillingham and young Fisher were charged with possession of narcotics.

Cleveland Tavern Sued For $750,000

CLEVELAND (AP) — A patient at Crile Veterans Hospital who says he will never walk again has sued an East Side bar for $750,000.

Wilbert H. Kennedy has filed the suit in Common Pleas Court against Shaker Bar, Inc.

Kennedy claimed in the petition that he was shot in the bar by a bouncer whom he charged carelessly mishandled a revolver. Because of the bullet wounds and a secondary spinal cord injury, Kennedy is paralyzed and will be confined to a wheel chair the rest of his life, the petition said.

7 Escape Injury

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Two sisters and their five small children hurried from their car, stalled on a New York Central Railroad crossing west of here Friday, and made it to safety seconds before a passenger train demolished the auto.

2 More Nominated By Lions In Board Of Director Posts

Two additional members were nominated for the Board of Directors when the Lions Club met Friday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel.

Nominated for three vacancies on the board were Richard McCullough and Earl Lones.

This raises to four the number of nominees for the posts after Dr. William Sulkes withdrew. Others nominated by the committee were Dr. Fraser Jackson and Leo C. Lawrence.

Nominations also will be open from the floor at Friday's meeting. The election is scheduled April 26.

George McCullough, district governor, reviewed his experiences in office during the past year, pointing out one of the duties is to attend at least one meeting of each of the 52 clubs in the district, which ranges from Shadyside to East Liverpool and north to Canton.

McCullough also praised Richard Walker, a member of the East Liverpool club, who has served as district publicity and public relations officer.

Walker spoke briefly, asking the club to consider the possibility of participating in the statewide "Candy Day" sponsored by the Ohio Lions and suggested the club also consider purchasing and erecting "Ohio Lions Welcome You" posters.

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. William Robert Timken, widow of an Ohio industrialist, left an estate of $43,954,062, papers filed in surrogate court showed.

Mrs. Timken, who died amid her art collection in her Fifth Avenue apartment Oct. 22, 1959, at the age of 88, was married to a founder of the Timken Roller Bearing Co. of Canton, Ohio.

Most of the estate—about $30 million of it—will go for federal and state taxes.

The federal tax was listed as $28,175,009 and the New York State tax as $7,481,504. However, $5 million representing state taxes is deductible from the federal bill.

Chief assets of the estate were stocks and bonds valued at $36,895,027. A block of General Motors stock was appraised at $15,232,219. The next largest single block of stock was 239,000 shares of Timken, valued at $13,393,026.

Cash in banks and brokerage accounts was valued at $4,440,098. The art treasures found in Mrs. Timken's apartment were appraised at $1,591,225.

They included a Rembrandt — "Christ and the Woman of Samaria" valued at $150,000. Another Rembrant, "Saskia," was valued at $125,000. A self-portrait by Titian was listed at $125,000 and another painting by the same artist, "Father of Caterina," was appraised at $150,000.

By the terms of Mrs. Timken's will, dated January 8, 1950, the art collection was divided equally between the National Gallery of Art and the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The Fine Arts Society of San Diego was bequeathed "Portrait of Lady with Fan" by Goya and "Bull Fight" by Lucas.

Mrs. Timken's jewelry collection, valued in the neighborhood of $1 million, was directed to be sold and the proceeds to go to a number of organizations including the American Red Cross; Travelers Aid Society; Community Service Society of New York; New York Association for the Blind; Boy Scouts of America, and the Memorial Hospital for the Treatment of Cancer and Allied Diseases.

One half of the estate will go to Mrs. Timken's son, Robert Freeman Ford, and the balance to grandsons and granddaughters.

Marine Killed, Two Others Hurt In Wreck

JACKSON, Ohio (AP)—A U. S. Marine Corps corporal was killed and two fellow Marines were injured when their auto collided with a tractor-trailer rig near this southern Ohio town last night.

Cpl. Stephen C. Millward, 20, of Camp LeJeune, N. C., and Milwaukee, Wis., died in the crash.

Millward's injured buddies, also stationed at Camp LeJeune, are Buddy L. Hoffman, 20, of Iowa City, Iowa, and Lowell Eusey, 19, of Galion, Ohio. Hoffman was taken to Oak Hill Hospital and Eusey to Holzer Hospital, Gallipolis, after the wreck on U. S. 35 in Jackson County a mile west of the Gallia County line.

Truck driver Cletus R. Bulla, 32, of Rt. 1, Sophia, N. C., was unhurt.

Teamsters' Strike Halts Cuyahoga Paper

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cuyahoga Sunday Times, a newspaper published only on Sunday, will not be on the newsstands this weekend because of a strike by Teamsters Local 473, a spokesman for the paper said today.

The spokesman said the union started picketing the newspaper's plant at 4296 Pearl Road this morning in a dispute over wages and the number of Teamsters to be hired by the paper.

Publication of the paper was started six weeks ago.

Patrol Says Seat Belts Save Lives, Curb Injuries

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The highway patrol, reviewing its accident figures for 1962, declared today that "seat belts do save lives and minimize injuries in auto crashes."

The patrol report said that of 1,159 accidents in which seat belts were in use, it was the opinion of investigatint patrolmen that injuries were minimized by seat belts in 840 of these smashups.

"That's 72 per cent," said Col. Scott B. Radcliffe, patrol superintendent, "but if projected over the 37,928 accidents investigated by the patrol last year, Ohio's traffic deaths and serious injuries would have been greatly reduced.

"Unfortunately, only 1,174 (2.3 per cent) of the 50,918 passenger vehicles in patrol-investigated mishaps were equipped with seat belts which were in use at the time. This means 97.7 per cent of the passenger cars did not have or were not using this life saving protection."

The patrol investigated 1,796 accidents in which seat belts had been installed in cars. But in 637 (35 per cent) of these, the belts were not in use and therefore offered no protection to the driver or passengers.

Judge Waits Report Prior To Sentencing

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Judge Fred B. Cramer is waiting for a probation report before sentencing Roger Lawson, 33, who was convicted of second degree manslaughter Friday in Butler County Common Pleas Court.

Lawson was driver of a car that struck a tree last Dec. 16. A passenger, 22-year-old Harold Flaugh of Middletown, was fatally injured.

Russian Figure Dies

1 Killed, 3 Injured As Truck Rams Car

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A cattle truck smashed broadside into an auto at the U.S. 40-Ohio 49 intersection three miles south of Phillipsburg, north of here, Friday and killed Terrie Elaine Stigler, 4, of Arcanum.

Terrie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stigler, and her 4 month-old brother were injured slightly.

Ohio Man, 100, Hit By Car, Refuses Aid

DOVER, Ohio (AP)—When John F. Stahlecher was struck and knocked down by an automobile Friday, he brushed himself off and walked away.

Police said the man refused medical aid and claimed his only injury was a bruised hand. Stahlecher is 100 years old.

Couple Honored At Georgetown

Mr. and Mrs. John Mackall observed their 25th wedding anniversary Wednesday night with a surprise party given by their daughters and son. About 45 attended the affair in the Georgetown Borough Building.

Mrs. Mackall, who is the local postmaster, was the former Phyllis Brenneman, daughter of Mrs. Marshall Cortis of Worcester, Mass., and the late C. C. Brenneman. Mackall is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Mackall. They have resided in Georgetown all of their married life.

They have three daughters, Mrs. Darla Everly and Mrs. Arthur Beal, both of Georgetown, and Mrs. Thomas Maxwell of Burgettstown, and a son, John Maxwell at home. There are five grandchildren.

The buffet table was centered with an anniversary wedding cake.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ramsey of Beaver Falls, Mrs. Charles Price of East Liverpool and Mrs. John Betonte and son, Peter, of Houston, Pa.

Cantata To Be Given At Pughtown Church

A cantata, "No Greater Love" (Peterson), will be presented Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the Pughtown Christian Church. Mrs. James Cameron will be narrator. Eight members of the church choir will participate.

Robert Henthorne of East Liverpool will be guest soloist. Other soloists include Mrs. J. L. Deitch, soprano; Mrs. Richard Cameron, alto; Leonard Cameron, baritone, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Flowers, a duet.

Mrs. W. E. Flowers is director of music. The Rev. J. L. Deitch is minister. The public is invited.

School Boards To Join At Wellsville Session

Rep. Clarence (Dutch) Wetzel of Columbiana County and Rep. Robert Longsworth of Carroll County will discuss proposed new legislation when county Boards of Education hold a joint meeting Thursday at 8 p. m. at Wellsville High School.

Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers, member of the County Board of Education, is general chairman of the annual affair, with executive heads and board members of all school districts in the county invited.

Boards are to present questions for the two representatives to answer in regards to their school problems.

Sunrise Rites To Start City Observances

minister of the First Methodist Church.

The Rev. H. Gene Toot, associate minister of the host church, will present the minister's dedication.

Music will include the preparation, "Prelude on an 11th Century Easter Hymn" (Wilson); the anthem, "The Holy City" (Adams), with Howard W. Claypool as soloist; the organ offertory, "Easter Morn," from "Lyra Davidica" (Wilson), by Mrs. Marian R. Hales, organist, and the postlude, "My Redeemer Lives," from "Psalmodia Evangelica" (Wilson).

Ushers will include Sherrie L. Calcott, Marianne Emmerling, Robert W. Gilmore, Keith E. Locke, Cheryl L. Lowe, David S. Morse, Susan L. Smith and Philip A. Willshaw.

An offering will be received to defray costs of the service and for the association's community projects.

Youth of the Emmanuel church will join the Junior and Senior High youths of the host church in an Easter breakfast in Hilbert Hall following the sunrise service.

Mr. and Mrs. George Reynolds will be in charge of the breakfast. Mr. and Mrs. James Lowe, Junior High Fellowship advisors will be assisted by the young people in arranging the tables and taking care of the diningroom.

Following the breakfast there will be a special presentation in the youth department for young people who desire to remain at the church until the 9:15 a. m. service.

The 26th annual Easter sunrise service of the Pilgrim Commandery 55, Knights Templar, will be held at 7:30 in the Masonic Temple.

W. Earl Shaw, minister of the Second Church of Christ, will give the Easter sermon on the theme, "Resurrection Now." He will also give the invocation, the prayer, Scripture reading from Col. 3:1 and benediction.

The East Liverpool High School Choral Ensemble will sing "Jesus, Our Lord, We Adore Thee" (James), "Anthem For Spring" (Mascagni), "Song of Praise" (Sitton) and the choral benediction, "Seven-Fold Amen." Miss Arletta Helfrich is director.

The service will conclude with the uniformed Knights singing the recessional, "Onward Christian Soldiers."

A number of area congregations will hold individual sunrise programs and other Easter observances will include cantatas, a pageant and various services in the forenoon or evening with children's groups participating in many. Breakfast will follow some of the early-morning events.

Meredith Due Honor By Tuskegee Alumni

LOS ANGELES (AP)—James H. Meredith, the first Negro to attend the University of Mississippi, will be honored tonight by the Alumni Association of Tuskegee Institute of Alabama.

Meredith, 29, will receive the group's Booker T. Washington Award in ceremonies at the Beverly Hilton Hotel. He arrived in Los Angeles Friday night.

Soldier Promoted

LISBON — Richard N. Hanna, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor L. Hanna of R.D. 4, has been promoted to private first class in Germany, where he is a member of the 29th Transportation Battalion. A light vehicle driver in the 547th Transportation Co., he entered the Army in June 1962 and was last stationed at Ft. Jackson, S. C. He arrived overseas last November.

1,000 At Good Friday Rites Held In District Communities

More than 1,000 attended union Good Friday services in East Liverpool area churches, under the sponsorship of ministerial associations.

Offerings received totaled over $400 and will be used for programs of the associations and other community projects.

The downtown services were held at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, where over 300 gathered to worship. The offering was $116.

There were 86 at the services at the Second United Presbyterian Church in East End and approximately $25 was received.

At Wellsville, about 125 gathered at the Covenant United Presbyterian Church for the one-hour service. The offering of about $62 will be used for the Boy Scout summer camping program.

Some 430 attended the union services Friday night at the First Methodist Church in Chester and the offering was about $190.

Union services in Newell were held last night at the First Presbyterian Church for about 90. The offering was $23.

Other district churches held Good Friday union services, including the Midland Methodist Church, which were attended by about 100 persons.

At the Salineville Calvary United Presbyterian Church about 190 attended the services and $54 was received for the work of the Salineville Ministerial Association.

The New Cumberland union services were held last night at the First United Presbyterian Church and was attended by about 80. The offering of about $28 will be used for programs of the association.

Five pastors spoke for half hour each, including the Rev. Frank Hare, Beaver United Presbyterian Larger Parish; the Rev. William Harper, Bethel Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Paul T. Gerrard, First Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Russell Long, Lisbon Nazarene Church; the Rev. Harold Applegate, West Point Nazarene Church, and the Rev. William Brown of First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Theodore Greener was organist.

Nakai Becomes Chairman Of All Navajos Today

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP)—Raymond Nakai becomes chairman of all the Navajos today.

His platform in an eight-year campaign was development of the individual Navajo and he repeated that pledge in the inauguration ceremonies.

"Only he who makes his people strong, is strong," Nakai said, "and only he who rules free men is great."

The speech was prepared for the festivities scheduled in this Navajo capital.

Among the 7,000 expected to attend were the governors of Arizona and New Mexico, New Mexico's four-man congressional delegation and U.S. Indian Commissioner Philleo Nash.

Nakai is 45, formerly was a radio announcer in Flagstaff, Ariz., and an ordnance depot supervisor. As a Navy man in World War II, he fought in several South Pacific battles.

School Girls Group To Appear At Concert

About 130 girls of the East Liverpool High School choirs, under the direction of Miss Arletta Helfrich, will participate in the concert to be presented by the Ohio State University Women's Glee Club Monday at 8 p. m. at Westgate School Auditorium. The concert is being sponsored by the ELHS Choir Parents Association.

Miss Helfrich said that tickets still are available at Ogilvie's Store today and may also be purchased at the door Monday night.

Dinner Reservations Required By Monday

Reservations are due Monday for the annual All-Sports banquet slated Thursday at 6:30 p.m. by the Wellsville Omni Boosters Club.

The dinner will be held at the First Christian Church. Reservations may be made by contacting Don Lindesmith, president, or Mrs. Frank Leyda, secretary.

Gregg Arbaugh, head basketball coach at Adrian College, will be the speaker.

County Board To Meet

LISBON — The Columbiana County Board of Education will meet Tuesday night at 8:30 in the office of County Supt. J. L. McBride, with routine business expected.

Keeping Faith with Customers . . .

WHAT ELSE but the good opinion of our customers can protect our reputation? Numerous people have reported to us some fantastic representations being made by agents for out-of-county and out-of-state Monument dealers, in their desperate efforts to obtain orders. Our advice is, contact your local dealer before you purchase. We suggest you visit our showrooms with a complete stock of quality Monuments and Markers for your selection. Thus, you actually see what you purchase. Moreover, if for any reason some dissatisfaction should arise, you know whom to contact. If later, a death date or additional inscription is needed, would a dealer from a distant state or county fulfill this obligation? We have served this community for forty years, and are devoted to the high ideals of Memorial Art. We invite you to consult us without the slightest obligation and no effort will be made to influence an immediate decision. P.S. We suggest you make your selection NOW for Memorial Day.

Hours: 9 to 5 Weekdays.

Couple Honored At Georgetown

Mr. and Mrs. John Mackall observed their 25th wedding anniversary Wednesday night with a surprise party given by their daughters and son. About 45 attended the affair in the Georgetown Borough Building.

Mrs. Mackall, who is the local postmaster, was the former Phyllis Brenneman, daughter of Mrs. Marshall Cortis of Worcester, Mass., and the late C. C. Brenneman. Mackall is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Mackall. They have resided in Georgetown all of their married life.

They have three daughters, Mrs. Darla Everly and Mrs. Arthur Beal, both of Georgetown, and Mrs. Thomas Maxwell of Burgettstown, and a son, John Maxwell at home. There are five grandchildren.

The buffet table was centered with an anniversary wedding cake.

Cantata To Be Given At Pughtown Church

A cantata, "No Greater Love" (Peterson), will be presented Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the Pughtown Christian Church. Mrs. James Cameron will be narrator. Eight members of the church choir will participate.

Robert Henthorne of East Liverpool will be guest soloist. Other soloists include Mrs. J. L. Deitch, soprano; Mrs. Richard Cameron, alto; Leonard Cameron, baritone, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Flowers, a duet.

Mrs. W. E. Flowers is director of music. The Rev. J. L. Deitch is minister. The public is invited.

School Boards To Join At Wellsville Session

Rep. Clarence (Dutch) Wetzel of Columbiana County and Rep. Robert Longsworth of Carroll County will discuss proposed new legislation when county Boards of Education hold a joint meeting Thursday at 8 p. m. at Wellsville High School.

Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers, member of the County Board of Education, is general chairman of the annual affair, with executive heads and board members of all school districts in the county invited.

Boards are to present questions for the two representatives to answer in regards to their school problems.

minister of the First Methodist Church.

The Rev. H. Gene Toot, associate minister of the host church, will present the minister's dedication.

Music will include the preparation, "Prelude on an 11th Century Easter Hymn" (Wilson); the anthem, "The Holy City" (Adams), with Howard W. Claypool as soloist; the organ offertory, "Easter Morn," from "Lyra Davidica" (Wilson), by Mrs. Marian R. Hales, organist, and the postlude, "My Redeemer Lives," from "Psalmodia Evangelica" (Wilson).

Ushers will include Sherrie L. Calcott, Marianne Emmerling, Robert W. Gilmore, Keith E. Locke, Cheryl L. Lowe, David S. Morse, Susan L. Smith and Philip A. Willshaw.

An offering will be received to defray costs of the service and for the association's community projects.

Youth of the Emmanuel church will join the Junior and Senior High youths of the host church in an Easter breakfast in Hilbert Hall following the sunrise service.

Mr. and Mrs. George Reynolds will be in charge of the breakfast. Mr. and Mrs. James Lowe, Junior High Fellowship advisors will be assisted by the young people in arranging the tables and taking care of the diningroom.

Following the breakfast there will be a special presentation in the youth department for young people who desire to remain at the church until the 9:15 a. m. service.

The 26th annual Easter sunrise service of the Pilgrim Commandery 55, Knights Templar, will be held at 7:30 in the Masonic Temple.

W. Earl Shaw, minister of the Second Church of Christ, will give the Easter sermon on the theme, "Resurrection Now." He will also give the invocation, the prayer, Scripture reading from Col. 3:1 and benediction.

The East Liverpool High School Choral Ensemble will sing "Jesus, Our Lord, We Adore Thee" (James), "Anthem For Spring" (Mascagni), "Song of Praise" (Sitton) and the choral benediction, "Seven-Fold Amen." Miss Arletta Helfrich is director.

The service will conclude with the uniformed Knights singing the recessional, "Onward Christian Soldiers."

A number of area congregations will hold individual sunrise programs and other Easter observances will include cantatas, a pageant and various services in the forenoon or evening with children's groups participating in many. Breakfast will follow some of the early-morning events.

Meredith Due Honor By Tuskegee Alumni

LOS ANGELES (AP)—James H. Meredith, the first Negro to attend the University of Mississippi, will be honored tonight by the Alumni Association of Tuskegee Institute of Alabama.

Meredith, 29, will receive the group's Booker T. Washington Award in ceremonies at the Beverly Hilton Hotel. He arrived in Los Angeles Friday night.

Soldier Promoted

LISBON — Richard N. Hanna, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor L. Hanna of R.D. 4, has been promoted to private first class in Germany, where he is a member of the 29th Transportation Battalion. A light vehicle driver in the 547th Transportation Co., he entered the Army in June 1962 and was last stationed at Ft. Jackson, S. C. He arrived overseas last November.

1,000 At Good Friday Rites Held In District Communities

More than 1,000 attended union Good Friday services in East Liverpool area churches, under the sponsorship of ministerial associations.

Offerings received totaled over $400 and will be used for programs of the associations and other community projects.

The downtown services were held at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, where over 300 gathered to worship. The offering was $116.

There were 86 at the services at the Second United Presbyterian Church in East End and approximately $25 was received.

At Wellsville, about 125 gathered at the Covenant United Presbyterian Church for the one-hour service. The offering of about $62 will be used for the Boy Scout summer camping program.

Some 430 attended the union services Friday night at the First Methodist Church in Chester and the offering was about $190.

Union services in Newell were held last night at the First Presbyterian Church for about 90. The offering was $23.

Other district churches held Good Friday union services, including the Midland Methodist Church, which were attended by about 100 persons.

At the Salineville Calvary United Presbyterian Church about 190 attended the services and $54 was received for the work of the Salineville Ministerial Association.

The New Cumberland union services were held last night at the First United Presbyterian Church and was attended by about 80. The offering of about $28 will be used for programs of the association.

140 Attend Lisbon Good Friday Series

LISBON — Approximately 140 attended each of five Good Friday services held yesterday afternoon at the First Methodist Church.

Five pastors spoke for half hour each, including the Rev. Frank Hare, Beaver United Presbyterian Larger Parish; the Rev. William Harper, Bethel Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Paul T. Gerrard, First Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Russell Long, Lisbon Nazarene Church; the Rev. Harold Applegate, West Point Nazarene Church, and the Rev. William Brown of First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Theodore Greener was organist.

Nakai Becomes Chairman Of All Navajos Today

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP)—Raymond Nakai becomes chairman of all the Navajos today.

His platform in an eight-year campaign was development of the individual Navajo and he repeated that pledge in the inauguration ceremonies.

"Only he who makes his people strong, is strong," Nakai said, "and only he who rules free men is great."

The speech was prepared for the festivities scheduled in this Navajo capital.

Among the 7,000 expected to attend were the governors of Arizona and New Mexico, New Mexico's four-man congressional delegation and U.S. Indian Commissioner Philleo Nash.

Nakai is 45, formerly was a radio announcer in Flagstaff, Ariz., and an ordnance depot supervisor. As a Navy man in World War II, he fought in several South Pacific battles.

School Girls Group To Appear At Concert

About 130 girls of the East Liverpool High School choirs, under the direction of Miss Arletta Helfrich, will participate in the concert to be presented by the Ohio State University Women's Glee Club Monday at 8 p. m. at Westgate School Auditorium. The concert is being sponsored by the ELHS Choir Parents Association.

Miss Helfrich said that tickets still are available at Ogilvie's Store today and may also be purchased at the door Monday night.

Dinner Reservations Required By Monday

Reservations are due Monday for the annual All-Sports banquet slated Thursday at 6:30 p.m. by the Wellsville Omni Boosters Club.

The dinner will be held at the First Christian Church. Reservations may be made by contacting Don Lindesmith, president, or Mrs. Frank Leyda, secretary.

Gregg Arbaugh, head basketball coach at Adrian College, will be the speaker.

County Board To Meet

LISBON — The Columbiana County Board of Education will meet Tuesday night at 8:30 in the office of County Supt. J. L. McBride, with routine business expected.

Keeping Faith with Customers . . .

WHAT ELSE but the good opinion of our customers can protect our reputation? Numerous people have reported to us some fantastic representations being made by agents for out-of-county and out-of-state Monument dealers, in their desperate efforts to obtain orders. Our advice is, contact your local dealer before you purchase. We suggest you visit our showrooms with a complete stock of quality Monuments and Markers for your selection. Thus, you actually see what you purchase. Moreover, if for any reason some dissatisfaction should arise, you know whom to contact. If later, a death date or additional inscription is needed, would a dealer from a distant state or county fulfill this obligation? We have served this community for forty years, and are devoted to the high ideals of Memorial Art. Garden Enthusiasts To Find Aid In New Book At Library

Miss Frances Jones, librarian at the Carnegie Public Library, said garden enthusiasts who eagerly await the final arrival of spring should not miss Ken Kraft's new book, "Garden to Order."

Here is the story of Burpee's seeds and how they grow. The importance of the glowing catalog as a means of promotion is told, and the secret of how the Burpee's upset the carefully-laid plans of rose growers in the capital city to have Congress adopt the rose as our national flower was destroyed by decoy.

Burpee hired pickets with signs revealing the rose as the national British flower. The Burpee's have been promoting the marigold as the nation's floral symbol for many years.

"The New York Times Garden Book," edited by Joan Lee Faust, is a mine of information for developing green thumbs. Spring lawn problems are thoroughly researched in this volume and also secrets in the successful raising of espaliered trees.

A trio of additional practical aids are 'The Joy of the Small Garden", by Janet Gillespie; "Garden Pests and Diseases," edited by T. H. Everett of the New York Botanical Gardens, and "Garden Smartly," by Nancy Ruzicka Smith.

The gardener who prefers a more natural type of gardening will now find ample tips in books:

"Handbook of Wildflower Cultivation," by Kathryn Taylor and Stephen Hamblin; Dorothy Sterling's "Story of Mosses, Ferns and Mushrooms," and "Wild Plums In Brandy" by Sylvia Boorman. The latter tells how to cook from the wild garden.

Books to perpetuate the spirit of the Easter season will be displayed in the entrance vestibule: Stephen Usherwood's "The Bible, Book by Book," Victor Obenhaus' "The Church and Faith in Mid-America," and "The Life of St. Paul" by Harry Emerson Fosdick.

A quartet of new novels awaits the fiction fan:

20th Century America is represented by Thomas Turner's "Buttermilk Road" and William Hoffman's "The Dark Mountains," and two promising British novelists comment on the scene in England. John Bowen's "The Birdcage" is being compared with the writing of Evelyn Waugh. "The Tidal Water," Barbara Walker's first novel, is a romance which moves from the China Seas to the Cornish countryside.

To bring Broadway nearer, the library recommends tasting the book version of Jerome Weidman's "I Can Get It for You Wholesale" and Garson Kanin's "A Gift of Time."

Policewoman Seeks Position Of Sergeant

CINCINNATI (AP)—The city's personnel department is pondering the case of a policewoman who wants to take the test for sergeant.

Miss Patricia Whalen, 28, asked for an application Friday. The Civil Service Commission said the department must rule on the case before they can give her the forms.

Chief Stanley Schrotel and other high police officers declined to comment, but Schrotel said it was a "moot question" whether there would be a place on the force for a female sergeant. The force includes eight policewomen, all of them assigned to the juvenile bureau.

Garden Enthusiasts To Find Aid In New Book At Library

Miss Frances Jones, librarian at the Carnegie Public Library, said garden enthusiasts who eagerly await the final arrival of spring should not miss Ken Kraft's new book, "Garden to Order."

Here is the story of Burpee's seeds and how they grow. The importance of the glowing catalog as a means of promotion is told, and the secret of how the Burpee's upset the carefully-laid plans of rose growers in the capital city to have Congress adopt the rose as our national flower was destroyed by decoy.

Burpee hired pickets with signs revealing the rose as the national British flower. The Burpee's have been promoting the marigold as the nation's floral symbol for many years.

"The New York Times Garden Book," edited by Joan Lee Faust, is a mine of information for developing green thumbs. Spring lawn problems are thoroughly researched in this volume and also secrets in the successful raising of espaliered trees.

A trio of additional practical aids are "The Joy of the Small Garden", by Janet Gillespie; "Garden Pests and Diseases," edited by T. H. Everett of the New York Botanical Gardens, and "Garden Smartly," by Nancy Ruzicka Smith.

The gardener who prefers a more natural type of gardening will now find ample tips in books: "Handbook of Wildflower Cultivation," by Kathryn Taylor and Stephen Hamblin; Dorothy Sterling's "Story of Mosses, Ferns and Mushrooms," and "Wild Plums In Brandy" by Sylvia Boorman. The latter tells how to cook from the wild garden.

Books to perpetuate the spirit of the Easter season will be displayed in the entrance vestibule: Stephen Usherwood's "The Bible, Book by Book," Victor Obenhaus' "The Church and Faith in Mid-America," and "The Life of St. Paul" by Harry Emerson Fosdick.

A quartet of new novels awaits the fiction fan:

20th Century America is represented by Thomas Turner's "Buttermilk Road" and William Hoffman's "The Dark Mountains," and two promising British novelists comment on the scene in England. John Bowen's "The Birdcage" is being compared with the writing of Evelyn Waugh. "The Tidal Water," Barbara Walker's first novel, is a romance which moves from the China Seas to the Cornish countryside.

To bring Broadway nearer, the library recommends tasting the book version of Jerome Weidman's "I Can Get It for You Wholesale" and Garson Kanin's "A Gift of Time."

New Postal Site Optioned

facility on the north side of 11th St., from Main to Center Sts., call for 4,229 square feet of floor space with an area of 7,900 square feet for parking and movement of postal vehicles.

Russo said the building will be constructed under the department's Lease Construction Program, which utilizes the resources and investment funds of private enterprise for needed postal buildings.

The department's capital investment will be limited to postal equipment. The building will remain under private ownership while leased to the federal government and the owner will pay local real estate taxes.

Plans and specifications for the new building, as well as bidding forms and other pertinent data, will be made available to prospective bidders at an early date. Russo said a "bidding package" probably will be completed by regional engineers in 30 to 60 days.

The Post Office Department then will advertise for bids for 45 days, awarding a contract after two weeks to three months study, Russo said.

The site option will be transferred to the successful bidder, who will purchase the land, construct the building and lease it to the department on a long - term basis. Russo said he presumed the department will obtain a 10-year lease, with option for renewal.

"The present inadequate facility on Main St. between 5th and 6th Sts., will be made available for other purposes," Russo said.

"The new building is designed to carry out the Post Office Department's objective of providing newly - constructed postal units where they are most urgently needed in the interest of more efficient postal service and improved working conditions for postal employes.

"The emphasis in our lease construction program will continue to be on adequate space for postal operations, not only for current needs but for the foreseeable future."

"The department's policy is to use existing buildings where they can be suitably altered or remodeled to meet the needs of the ever increasing volume of mail. As circumstances dictate, will also consider moving our postal operations into more spacious quarters if they are available."

Russo added, "Where neither of these conditions is feasible we will authorize the construction of new postal units, such as the post office at Wellsville."

"The construction program is being concentrated in those areas where the need is urgent and suitable space cannot be obtained except through new construction."

Selection of the 11th St. site marked an end to the department's search for a suitable location that got under way in 1960.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th District congressman, had urged the department to take action on starting the project "this year."

Heated controversy over the site of the new facility had arisen before the final selection. The department rejected a number of tracts as unsuitable because of lack of enough square footage or what was termed an improper price range.

The controversy reached a peak in the November general election when Wellsville residents were presented a proposal for a $250,000 bond issue to finance construction of a combination Post Office - City Hall. It was rejected, after heated activity by both opponents and supporting factions.

Controversy also arose to a lesser degree, perhaps, over a plan of a Cleveland man to remodel the former Standard Hardware & Garage building at 12th and Main Sts., for the new facility. Some opposed the location, while others objected to a remodeled building.

W. A. Boers, regional real estate aide, was present when the announcement of the new site was made Friday.

23 Bids Received For Salineville Unit

The Post Office Department expects to award a contract in two to four weeks for construction of a new Post Office building for Salineville.

W. A. Boers, regional real estate officer, said here Friday that 23 bids for the facility, to be erected on the south side of Main St., were opened Tuesday in Cincinnati.

The bids ranged from $3,891 to $6,200, the regional aide said. Plans call for a building with 2,217 square feet of floor space, with 5,209 square foot of paved area and a platform area of 192 square feet.

1 Killed, 1 Injured In 2-Car Collision

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A traffic collision at the intersection of U.S. 20 and McCord Road in Lucas County late Friday night killed Daniel Drabik, 46, of nearby Holland.

Drabnik was driving one car and Beulah Greenlee, 44, of Rt. 1, Holland was at the wheel of the other. She was taken to Toledo Hospital.

U.S. To Tell Soviet About A-Force Aim

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is expected to tell Russia shortly that the proposed North Atlantic Treaty Organization multilateral nuclear force, on which the allies now are negotiating, is designed purely for the defense of Western Europe and offers no offensive threat to the Soviet Union.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk notified Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin Friday that a reply to this week's Moscow protest against the nuclear force will be dispatched in a few days. Russia charged the United States with moves to "unleash a race in nuclear - rocket armaments transcending all national and geographic boundaries."

Rusk also told Dobrynin in their 80-minute meeting at the State Department that the United States is seriously concerned over the recent fighting in Laos and the failure of the Communist side there to carry out fully the East-West agreement to neutralize Laos.

Mental Clinic Trustees Set

LISBON—The Board of Directors has appointed a Board of Trustees for the Columbiana County Mental Health Association's proposed Mental Health Clinic for the county.

The group will meet at noon April 24 at the Wick Hotel to elect officers, appoint committees, select a meeting date and begin plans to establish the psychiatric facility. Trustees include:

One-year terms — Probate Judge Louis Tobin of East Liverpool, Dr. Harold Hoprich of Salem and Mrs. Paul Hum of Lisbon.

Three-year terms — Atty. Bryce W. Kendall of Salem, the Rev. George R. Sweeney of Columbiana and Miss Alice Herriott of East Palestine.

Calvin Young, executive director of the Ohio Mental Health Association, will be speaker for the meeting and will discuss procedure to obtain the clinic

Services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the J. T. Anderson Jr. Funeral Home, 205 College Ave., Beaver, by the Rev. Arthur C. Walter, assistant pastor of the Park United Presbyterian Church of Beaver. Burial will be in Beaver Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 and Sunday from noon to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Virginia Hassler

LISBON — Services for Mrs. Virginia (Jennie) Hassler of R. D. 1, who died Friday at Salem City Hospital, will be held Monday at 1:30 p. m. at the Henry Funeral Home.

The Rev. William Brown of the First Methodist Church will officiate and burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Betty Harmon of New Milford.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Hugh Thomas

Hugh W. Thomas, 83, of Bowling Green, Ky., a former resident of New Cumberland, and a retired potter, died this morning at 4:15 at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Boswell.

Mr. Thomas was born Feb. 22, 1880, at Globe, W. Va., to the late William Thomas and Sarah Culver Thomas. He was a member of the Nessly Methodist Chapel below Newell, and the IBOP.

Survivors include another daughter, Mrs. Sarah Mercer of Burgettstown R. D. 1; two sisters, Miss Maude Thomas and Mrs. Elizabeth Moulds, and a brother, George B. Thomas, all of Weirton, and another brother, Harry L. Thomas of Canton.

Friends may call at the Turley Funeral Home in New Cumberland Sunday afternoon and evening. Other arrangements are pending.

facility on the north side of 11th St., from Main to Center Sts., call for 4,229 square feet of floor space with an area of 7,900 square feet for parking and movement of postal vehicles.

Russo said the building will be constructed under the department's Lease Construction Program, which utilizes the resources and investment funds of private enterprise for needed postal buildings.

The department's capital investment will be limited to postal equipment. The building will remain under private ownership while leased to the federal government and the owner will pay local real estate taxes.

Plans and specifications for the new building, as well as bidding forms and other pertinent data, will be made available to prospective bidders at an early date. Russo said a "bidding package" probably will be completed by regional engineers in 30 to 60 days.

The Post Office Department then will advertise for bids for 45 days, awarding a contract after two weeks to three months study, Russo said.

The site option will be transferred to the successful bidder, who will purchase the land, construct the building and lease it to the department on a long - term basis. Russo said he presumed the department will obtain a 10-year lease, with option for renewal.

"The present inadequate facility on Main St. between 5th and 6th Sts., will be made available for other purposes," Russo said.

"The new building is designed to carry out the Post Office Department's objective of providing newly - constructed postal units where they are most urgently needed in the interest of more efficient postal service and improved working conditions for postal employes.

"The emphasis in our lease construction program will continue to be on adequate space for postal operations, not only for current needs but for the foreseeable future."

"The department's policy is to use existing buildings where they can be suitably altered or remodeled to meet the needs of the ever increasing volume of mail. As circumstancse dictate, will also consider moving our postal operations into more spacious quarters if they are available."

Russo added, "Where neither of these conditions is feasible we will authorize the construction of new postal units, such as the post office at Wellsville."

"The construction program is being concentrated in those areas where the need is urgent and suitable space cannot be obtained except through new construction."

Selection of the 11th St. site marked an end to the department's search for a suitable location that got under way in 1960.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th District congressman, had urged the department to take action on starting the project "this year."

Heated controversy over the site of the new facility had arisen before the final selection. The department rejected a number of tracts as unsuitable because of lack of enough square footage or what was termed an improper price range.

The controversy reached a peak in the November general election when Wellsville residents were presented a proposal for a $250,000 bond issue to finance construction of a combination Post Office - City Hall. It was rejected, after heated activity by both opponents and supporting factions.

Controversy also arose to a lesser degree, perhaps, over a plan of a Cleveland man to remodel the former Standard Hardware & Garage building at 12th and Main Sts., for the new facility. Some opposed the location, while others objected to a remodeled building.

W. A. Boers, regional real estate aide, was present when the announcement of the new site was made Friday.

23 Bids Received For Salineville Unit

The Post Office Department expects to award a contract in two to four weeks for construction of a new Post Office building for Salineville.

W. A. Boers, regional real estate officer, said here Friday that 23 bids for the facility, to be erected on the south side of Main St., were opened Tuesday in Cincinnati.

The bids ranged from $3,891 to $6,200, the regional aide said. Plans call for a building with 2,217 square feet of floor space, with 5,209 square foot of paved area and a platform area of 192 square feet.

1 Killed, 1 Injured In 2-Car Collision

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A traffic collision at the intersection of U.S. 20 and McCord Road in Lucas County late Friday night killed Daniel Drabik, 46, of nearby Holland.

Drabnik was driving one car and Beulah Greenlee, 44, of Rt. 1, Holland was at the wheel of the other. She was taken to Toledo Hospital.

U.S. To Tell Soviet About A-Force Aim

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is expected to tell Russia shortly that the proposed North Atlantic Treaty Organization multilateral nuclear force, on which the allies now are negotiating, is designed purely for the defense of Western Europe and offers no offensive threat to the Soviet Union.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk notified Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin Friday that a reply to this week's Moscow protest against the nuclear force will be dispatched in a few days. Russia charged the United States with moves to "unleash a race in nuclear - rocket armaments transcending all national and geographic boundaries."

Rusk also told Dobrynin in their 80-minute meeting at the State Department that the United States is seriously concerned over the recent fighting in Laos and the failure of the Communist side there to carry out fully the East-West agreement to neutralize Laos.

Mental Clinic Trustees Set

LISBON—The Board of Directors has appointed a Board of Trustees for the Columbiana County Mental Health Association's proposed Mental Health Clinic for the county.

The group will meet at noon April 24 at the Wick Hotel to elect officers, appoint committees, select a meeting date and begin plans to establish the psychiatric facility. Trustees include:

One-year terms — Probate Judge Louis Tobin of East Liverpool, Dr. Harold Hoprich of Salem and Mrs. Paul Hum of Lisbon.

Three-year terms — Atty. Bryce W. Kendall of Salem, the Rev. George R. Sweeney of Columbiana and Miss Alice Herriott of East Palestine.

Calvin Young, executive director of the Ohio Mental Health Association, will be speaker for the meeting and will discuss procedure to obtain the clinic

Report Urged In Red Cross Fund Effort

With 75 per cent of the $16,084 goal achieved to date, the city Red Cross Fund drive is lagging far behind the planned solicitation schedule.

Campaign leaders attributed the lull to lack of worker-reports from the Business and the Professional Divisions and urged the co-operation of volunteers in completing their assignments and reporting promptly to campaign headquarters. The drive began March 1.

Frank Potts, drive chairman, and assistant chairmen, Walter Kimbro and John Parsons, appealed for completion of campaign activities.

"Our evaluation of progress indicates that we have achieved 75 per cent of the $16,084 goal. Our receipts, in cash or pledges, are $12,068. We are sure that our campaign goal can be met if each drive division leader will contact workers and urge them to complete their rounds and turn in reports promptly," they said.

Potts reminded that a Red Cross volunteer will be sent to pick up gifts from any donor who may have been missed in the regular canvass.

"Phone Red Cross headquarters, 385-4144 or 385-4195, and a worker will call immediately for your gift," they said.

Of the receipts thus far, the Special Gifts Division has achieved 93 per cent of its unit quota with collections totalling $5,962. All areas of the House-to-House Division have now been reported, with a total of $1,620 turned in About $200 has been received from a mail appeal to clubs and organizations — and the Salineville Division has reached 70 per cent of its quota with collections of $240 reported.

Lagging are the Business and the Professional Divisions. The latter unit has only reported collections of $738 or about 42 per cent of the division quota. The Business Division, with a quota of $5,800, stands at 57 per cent reporting collections of $3,308.

Low Bid Submitted For New Bus Fleet

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Flxible Co. of Loudonville was the apparent low bidder Friday on a fleet of 65 new diesel buses for the Cleveland Transit System to cost more than $1.6 million.

Flxible underbid General Motors Corp. by more than $400 a coach—or about $28,000 lower on the entire package—but Donald C. Hyde, CTS general manager, hinted Flxible may not get the contract because of other considerations.

Hyde said he hoped to have a recommendation for awarding the contract by Thursday morning when the full CTS board meets. He said experience in the cost of operation over the long haul would be one item to be considered.

Flxible bid $25,515 for each of the regular buses and $25,942 for five with high-speed special transmissions.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Shy Boy A Show-Off Before Adults

A mother writing from Michigan of her son, five, describes him both as timid and as a show-off: "When I am around with other adults he shows off and if not stopped quite soon becomes wild, jumps, swirls on the floor, talks very loud, swaggers and answers questions with a very adult, 'Sure, sure,' or 'Why not?' and will do the twist or any other dance. "At kindergarten (Sunday school) he is quiet and will not join in of his own free will. If it is free time he will not play, but watch. He laughs at the funny things the children do or smiles when he watches them play girls' games like house or dolls.

"HE NOW VOLUNTEERS and talks to just the teacher but not during class period, only when they are alone together. He has been going for about 1½ years. When he first started he would just sit quietly on a bench and not join in, answer, talk or anything at all.

"When he is with his neighborhood friends he follows nearly the same pattern. At home he tells them what to do, how to use things, proper ways to read a book, such as 'You start in the front!!!' This is not to little children but to six and eight or nine-year-olds.

"The only children about his age are a little girl 2½ and one 4½. These he tries to pick up, gives them stuffed animals to play with and lets them drink out of baby doll bottles. He'll then tell me they're nice little kids.

"He will play with them in an emergency but wants to play with the kids 'his age', ten and eleven years old. At their homes he is quiet or spends time with the adults of the family he visits.

"HE ALSO HAS two make-believe friends that are starting to worry me. About the time he was three he got them. The names I know he took from a book, Molly, Pete and Ginger.

"The things that they do (and he with them) is what surprises me. Sometimes they are his children or his parents or brother and sister. Their dog Ginger is nice, or dead, or bad or a million other things. He is an only child. The problem is wildness when with me in public and reticence in school."

My reply in part: You need to help that little child get satisfaction from playing with children of his own age. You see, he can manage his make - believe friends and the much older children defer to him. Also, he can get the attention of adults.

Go with him to where there's another child or two about his age and attract some children of his age to your home — one or two at a time; more later. While he is with these other children, you can study your child and find ways to guide him to be a better playmate.

WHEN ADULTS drop in and he gets excited and shows off, just send him to another room for 20 minutes or half an hour. Perhaps he would enjoy taking the wraps of adult guests or helping serve refreshments.

I'm sure you need to provide this child with a more serene family atmosphere with quiet voices and the TV and radio silent most of the time, with no programs of violence. I hope Dad will read to him and make things with him.

If you don't see improvement after a month or so, it might be well to get in touch with a psychiatrist or a child guidance clinic.

My bulletins "The Child Is Shy" and "The Show-Off Child," may be secured by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Three Nurses Attend Rites, Escape Injury

CINCINNATI (AP)—Three nurses at General Hospital escaped possible injury Friday because they attended Good Friday services.

Albert Enderle, acting fire marshal, said an electric spark set off an explosion among highly inflammable vapors in a pathology laboratory's refrigerator. The explosion hurled the refrigerator door 18 feet and caused an estimated $450 damage. A doctor who was in the laboratory during the explosion was not hurt.

Fatally Injured

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Archie W. Shultz, 75, of Rt. 3, Columbia City, Ind., was fatally injured Friday in an auto-truck collision at the junction of Ohio 49 and 49-A about nine miles south of here. Her husband was listed in satisfactory condition at Miami Valley Hospital in Dayton.

Guarantee money for college?

How?

With your life insurance . . . and the help your agent is trained to give you!

YOU: That's a pretty big promise. How's it possible?

YOUR LIFE INSURANCE AGENT: You simply use any policies that have cash values—as a way of putting money aside for your children's education.

YOU: And then what?

AGENT: Well, as you know, these cash values in your policies increase, year by year, as you pay your premiums. When college days arrive you can use this money, if you need to, for tuition and other expenses.

YOU: But why do it with life insurance? There are lots of other ways I could save the money.

AGENT: Sure, if you're positive that you'll live to save it. With life insurance you know the full amount will be there—even if you're not.

YOU: I never thought of it that way. The money really is guaranteed, isn't it?

Colts Shade Dodgers, 2-1; Athletics Blank Twins, 6-0

A's Rakow Gives Only 2 Safeties

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

"I'm a darned sight more concerned about this club scoring some runs than I am about dissension," said Walt Alston, mild-mannered manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

He had better be. The Dodgers may not be hit by dissension, but on the other hand, they're not hitting.

Alston made his remarks about dissension reports before the Dodgers took the field against Houston and rapped Dick Farrell for four hits and one run in 12 innings as the Colts squeezed out a 2-1 victory Friday night.

In the only other game scheduled Friday, Kansas City's Ed Rakow allowed only two hits as the A's won their first game, 6-0 over Minnesota. The Colts' victory also was their first.

The low-hit performances by Rakow and Farrell were the eighth and ninth this season in which pitchers have allowed four hits or less. There have been a one-hitter, 3 two-hitters, 2 three-hitters and 3 four-hitters.

The Dodgers, meanwhile, were still trying to find out how to score runs when they left the field at Houston after the tight struggle that for eight innings remained a pitchers' battle between two of the game's biggest losers, Farrell and Bob Miller.

Farrell, 10-20 last season and a loser in the Colts opener, and newly-acquired Miller, 1-12 last year with the New York Mets, were hooked up in a scoreless duel until Miller left in the eighth when the Colts threatened.

The Dodgers scored first, pushing across a run in the top of the ninth on Frank Howard's run-scoring single, but the Colts tied it in their half on Carl Warwick's single.

Then, in the 12th, Howie Goss, recently acquired from Pittsburgh and hitting .444, wrapped the game up for Farrell. Goss, who beat out three infield singles while failing to get the ball out of the infield in five previous trips to the plate, came up with the bases loaded and lashed an Ed Roebuck pitch down the third base line, sending Al Spangler across with the deciding run.

HITTING THE DIRT. Haromn Killebrew, Minnesota Twins' left fielder (43), takes to the ground to keep from being hit by a wild pitch thrown by Ed Rakow, pitcher for the A's. The ball is received by Haywood Sullivan, A's catcher. The A's downed the Twins, 6-0, in Friday night's game at Kansas City. (UPI Telephoto)

Ex-Pitching Great Issues Some Advice

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One of baseball's great left-handed pitchers, Rube Marquard, says the Los Angeles Angels' two pitching prima donnas, Bo Belinsky and Dean Chance, should duck the night life crowd.

"I'm afraid these two young men don't realize that they're just throwing their money away in the night spots," said the former New York Giant star, as he chatted with Angel General Manager Fred Haney.

"When they can't win regularly, and it always happens to those who follow the night life crowd, they'll find that these associates will drop them. They'll wonder later why their salary was cut.

"Why, there's so much money to be made in baseball these days that it is surprising that pitchers with talent like theirs can't seem to realize it."

Chance, who won 14 games as a rookie last year for the Angels, was bombed out in his first start against the Boston Red Sox, and Belinsky lost to the Chicago White Sox Thursday night, although he allowed only four hits in his six innings. The Angels have fined both pitchers for curfew violations.

"I started in baseball at 17," said Marquard, now 73, who won 19 straight games for the Giants in 1912. "I made up my mind at the start that nothing would stand in my way. I pitched for a man who really put you through the mill—John McGraw."

Marquard won 73 games for McGraw between 1911 and 1913.

100-Lap Feature Set For Canfield Opener April 20

A 100-lap new car race will feature opening night April 20 at the Canfield Speedway. Race time at the Canfield track is 8:30 with time trials at 7.

That afternoon, the annual open house will be staged for amateurs and late models. A MARC representative will be on hand to explain 1963 rules and to accept membership and issue car numbers.

Drivers will be given a chance to try out their cars on the quarter-mile track from noon to 4 p. m.

Ewbank Slated As Titan Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — Officially, it's still a bit iffy, but unofficially it seems certain that Weeb Ewbank will become the new coach and general manager of the New York Titans of the American Football League.

David (Sonny) Werblin, head of the five-man syndicate which has taken over control of the once-bankrupt team, has called a press conference for Monday, apparently to make the formal announcement.

"The contract hasn't been signed," a spokesman for the club said Friday, "but we have reason to believe that is will be."

It has been rumored for several weeks that Ewbank, former coach of the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League, would take over the Titans. Jimmy Cannon wrote in the New York Journal-American that Ewbank came to terms Thursday night.

The American League had ten 20-game winners in 1920, as many as it has had in the past six years put together.

Canadian Team Tops ABC Booster Section

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A Canadian team, making its first appearance in an American Bowling Congress Tournament, stood atop the booster division today with 2,865.

The Royal Hotel team of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., took the division lead Friday night from Andrea's TV of San Juan. The Puerto Ricans fired 2,815 Wednesday.

Eddie Sachetti led the Canadians with a 610 series.

The booster division is for teams averaging 850 or less.

There were no other changes among division leaders. The 10-week tournament has two weeks left.

Scotland Yard Probes Nuclear Secret Leak

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard began a search today to find out who leaked Britain's nuclear survival secrets to ban-the-bomb marchers. Authorities admitted it was another major security breakdown.

The country's hush-hush plans for keeping going in event of a nuclear attack were handed out as a pamphlet Friday to some 10,000 persons marching the 50 miles from Aldermaston, near Oxford, to London. The annual march from a nuclear research center to the capital is intended to dramatize demands that Britain strip itself of nuclear arms.

Davis Crowned NFL Punt Champ

Final statistics released by the league show Davis kicking 48 times for an average of 45.6, just grabbing the title from Los Angeles' Danny Villanueva. The Rams kicker punted 87 times for a 45. average.

Sam Baker of Dallas was third with a 45.4 average, followed by Detroit's Yale Lary at 45.3.

San Francisco took the team title, solely on Davis' kicking. No other player attempted a punt. Davis punted for a total of 2,188 yards. Los Angeles was second, with Villanueva accounting for all the Rams' 3,960 yards.

Pilot Escapes Serious Injury In Plane Crash

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A single-engine plane apparently ran out of gas and crashed Friday night six miles northeast of the Toledo Airport.

The pilot, Floyd N. Reister, of New York City, was not believed seriously hurt. He was on his way from Monmouth, N. J., and planned to land at Toledo to refuel before continuing to Detroit.

Gateway Center Set

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP) — A development, known as Gateway Center, will be constructed on a 62-acre site at the Conneaut Interchange on Interstate 90.

Celtics Eye 5th Straight NBA Crown

BOSTON (AP) — There are plenty of reasons—not the least of which is money—why the old pro Boston Celtics want a fifth straight National Basketball Association playoff championship and sixth in seven years.

The Celtics begin the best-of-7 finals against Los Angeles Sunday night at Boston Garden.

Ask Tommy Heinsohn why the Celtics want this title so much and he replies:

"I guess the biggest reason is that everyone jumped off our bandwagon at the beginning of the year. All of a sudden the Lakers were the team—the team of the future. That hurt."

The winner of this series, which continues here Tuesday night and then moves to Los Angeles Wednesday and Friday, gets $21,000. The loser takes in $14,000.

But there's most to it than that. The Celtics want to prove they're not over the hill and had dedicated this one to retiring Capt. Bob Cousy.

The Lakers are driven by the desire to avenge their loss to Boston in the full seven games a year ago when the Celtics pulled out a frantic 110-107 overtime verdict in the final game.

Both teams are just coming off full seven game semifinals in which the Celtics outlasted Cincinnati and the Lakers eliminated St. Louis.

Riverview Triumphs In Sharon Tourney

SHARON — Riverview Florists of East Liverpool advanced to the semi-finals of the Sharon Junior Tournament Friday night by turning back Chester, Pa., 67-46.

Dan Kane (Wilkinsburg) led Riverview with 12 points, while Jim Robertson (Cleveland East Tech) and Jim Elkhorn (Penn Hills) had 11 each.

BASEBALL HEROES

PITCHING — Ed Rakow, A's, permitted only a leadoff double by Lenny Green and eighth inning single by Vic Power in shutting out Minnesota 6-0.

BATTING—Howie Goss, Colts, drove in the deciding run with his fourth hit in the 12th inning for 2-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Third Round Set At Greensboro

Player Plummets To 17th As Sanders Takes Lead

By KEN ALYTA
Associated Press Sports Writer

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Gary Player relearned an old lesson—golf is a humbling game—and in the process he slipped from first place to a tie for 17th as the $35,000 Greater Greensboro Open Tournament moved into its third round today.

The little South African was almost lost in the pack after a second round 74 Friday during which he four-putted the 17th green, missing a backhander from about three inches.

While Player was having his troubles, Doug Sanders unleashed a 35-30—61 round, only one over the event record, and moved into the halfway lead on a record-tying 133. The Georgia native with the short swing held a three-shot edge over Dave Marr of New Rochelle, N.Y., whose 67 gave him a 136 total.

Player, almost apologetically, recounted his miseries on the closing holes when he shot bogey golf on the 15th and 16th holes and a double bogey six on the 17th.

"I really felt I was playing well, but it was one of those rounds when everything went wrong," he explained sadly. "The ball bounced off the hard greens a couple of times and cost me strokes. I missed my second putt from about two feet on 17 and I backhanded the third from about three inches—and it missed."

It took a score of 146 or better to qualify 66 pros for the last two days of play on the 7,000-yard Sedgefield Country Club course, over which 6,000 spectators swarmed Friday.

Sharing third place at 137 were Dick Mayer, Tom Aaron, Don Fairfield and Kel Nagle. Seven-time winner Sam Snead and Jimmy Clark were next at 138, with eight men one shot back of them.

Wings Seek To Stand Off Leafs' Sweep

DETROIT, (AP)—The desperate Detroit Red Wings have the advantage of home ice Sunday in their effort to avert a Toronto sweep in the final playoff for the National Hockey Leagues Stanley Cup.

It means mostly that Gordie Howe will have a better chance of skating away from his shadow.

At home, the Wings will pick their starting line-up after their Maple Leaf rivals. Detroit, thus, can juggle around a little more in hopes of loosening the guard on the league scoring champion.

The Red Wings, down 2-0 to the Maple Leafs in the best-of-7 competition, are looking for any sort of tonic to revive them. The series resumes with the third game at Detroit's Olympia Stadium. The fourth game also will be at Olympia Thursday.

Toronto won the first two games at its own Maple Leaf Gardens by 4-2 scores.

"Perhaps home ice will be the pickup we need," said Coach Sid Abel, whose Wings lost the first two games of their semifinal series with Chicago and won the next four.

"We did pretty well at home all season and it certainly worked in our favor during the Chicago series. But if it doesn't help us in Sunday's game we're done."

Williams Picked To Beat Terrell In Bout Tonight

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Cleveland Williams, the heavyweight contender who packs power in both hands, is rated a favorite to defeat Ernie Terrell tonight in a scheduled 10-round nationally televised (ABC) boxing match at the Arena.

The fight could be the last one in Pennsylvania for some time.

Gov. William M. Scranton will meet with the State Athletic Commission Monday to discuss the future of boxing in Pennsylvania following the amateur ring death of 19-year-old Francesco Velasquez in Carbondale last Saturday night.

The governor has been asked to declared a six-month moratorium on the sport and a bill has been introduced in the State Senate to outlaw boxing.

The 30-year-old Williams has scored 46 knockouts in 61 bouts. He won 10 by decisions and has lost only four while earning one draw. He was knocked out twice by heavyweight champion Sonny Liston before Liston became champion. However, Liston rates Williams the hardest puncher he ever met.

In 35 bouts, Terrell has won 31 and lost four. Sixteen of his victories have been by knockouts.

Court Order Waited To Destroy Pinballs

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Tha Mahoning County sheriff says he's awaiting a court order before destroying 23 pinball machines that have been stored in the county jail basement for four months.

Sheriff's deputies confiscated the machines last December in raids on 11 places in Campbell and Struthers. Six persons arrested then now are on probation for a year after pleading no contest to a charge of displaying gambling equipment.

Dad's Lament
Call up my insurance agent,
Prepare him for bad news—
Daughter's out for the first time
In thin-heeled, pointed shoes!
—Anna Herbert

The youngster was doing his homework but was stymied by one question. He interrupted his father's reading of the evening newspaper. "Why bother me?" the father asked impatiently. "Why don't you ask your mother?"

"Oh," the boy replied, "I don't want to know that much about it!" —Dan Bennett

A labor leader was having trouble with his wife, and he went to an old associate to tell him his troubles. The associate listened to the whole story, then shook his head. "I'm sorry," he said, "but in this case, I simply have to agree with your wife."

"Good heavens," cried the labor leader, "I never thought you'd go over to management!" —James Shurluck

An irascible citizen approached a young politician after a civic meeting. "You bright young college boys in politics make me sick," said the old curmudgeon. "Why, I wouldn't vote for you if you were St. Peter."

"If I were St. Peter," the young politician replied politely, "you wouldn't be in my district."

—Wilfred Beaver

"He saved his money and bought me out."

General Taylor

The General's day begins at 6:45 with calisthenics, then a hearty breakfast. "We limit ourselves to two big meals and a diet supplement—we have to watch our weight," says Mrs. Taylor, whose "fighting weight" must hover at about 125 pounds.

When Taylor arrives at his large, paneled Pentagon office at 8:15, a red light flashes in all offices of the Chairman's area. In effect, it tells staff officers: "Stand by—the General may need you at any time." Overnight intelligence reports are on his desk for immediate study, and by 9:30 he is ready for a series of meetings.

On a typical day, there probably will be project officers, laden with charts and graphs, reporting on anything from Polaris missiles to infantry weaponry, from airborne transportation to Army organization. Eventually, these subjects will be taken up by the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Other meetings may involve briefings on the defense budget, France's reluctant role in NATO, and the effects of the Nassau agreement. These are problems which will be brought before Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara and the President.

One of the big questions that arose when the West Point four-star General returned to Washington was how he would get along with "Mr. Facts" McNamara of Big Business (see FAMILY WEEKLY, July 22, 1962) and the informal Harvard atmosphere of the New Frontier.

"Sure, it was 'Hi, Max' right from the start at the White House," says an aide. "But the General can match classical references and politico-economic philosophies with McGeorge Bundy right down the line, so that 'Hi, Max' had all the respect of a military 'Yes, sir.' And when he went out to Bobby Kennedy's for a weekend and gave them a tough time in tennis doubles—well, that did it!"

With McNamara, an outstanding relationship between soldier and civilian boss has developed. "They think alike," says an aide. "They store up facts like a computer and recall them almost as fast. Neither likes to be a 'captive of his briefer'—that is, to rely only on what an expert or a committee tells him. Each must know everything himself."

Lunch is light and preordered, and the General is back in his office in 30 minutes. He locks his door for a 20-minute nap, then has conferences until 6 or 7. During good weather, he may take an evening hour for tennis with an aide, then he is driven home with a brief case full of work.

AT HOME, the General sometimes greets Mrs. Taylor with: "It was another ulcer day," but that's as far as he goes with Pentagon affairs. ("I find," he explains, "that the women already know everything important.") The couple's deepest regret is that they rarely see their family: two grandchildren are in Bangkok with son Jack, and Tom is an officer in Germany with the Special Forces.

Part of the General's daily routine is a brisk walk through Arlington National Cemetery every morning. He passes the gravestones of Civil War dead, and a link is established with the cavalry stories of Jeb Stuart spun by his grandfather. Then he steps into a world of missiles and nuclear weapons. Yet there is always that bridge established between boy and grandfather, and it is summed up in words of Robert E. Lee, which Taylor frequently recalls:

"Do your duty in all things. You cannot do more; you should never wish to do less."

4,300 Strike Giant Lorain Ford Facility

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—The assembly line at the giant Ford Motor Co. plant in Lorain was silent today because of a strike by more than 4,300 members of United Auto Workers Local 425.

The walkout, which began shortly after noon Friday, reportedly involves 185 grievances dealing with health, safety and production standards. Another negotiation session has been set tentatively for Tuesday.

About 2,400 production workers left their jobs after talks between company and union representatives bogged down. They later were joined by 1,700 who did not report for the 3:30 p.m. shift and 200 others on the midnight shift. Pickets were posted at the plant entrances.

Dave Sparks, international union representative, accused management of refusing to bargain in good faith on all issues. "It's no use talking to them," he said. "The membership is going to stay out until the conditions are resolved and they can work at a normal pace."

Sparks said the issues included a speedup on assembly lines, refusal of passes to medical doctors, and relief while on the line.

Company officials declined comment on the cause of the dispute. They said the strike would not affect total company-wide production and indicated parts from Cleveland engine and stamping plants will be sent to Ford assembly plants elsewhere.

The plant assembles compact cars and light trucks.

Grievances are the only strikeable issues in the union's contract, which expires in August, 1964. The union voted strike authority last Friday. Negotiations began two months ago.

Georgia Boy, 17, Murders Man, Son Aboard Boat

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A wide search for a bedeviled Georgia boy and two Key West fishermen ended when the Coast Guard found the blood-stained lad alone on the fishermen's boat, out of fuel close to Cuba.

"I murdered them and threw them overboard," Coast Guardmen said Roger Foster, 17, told them Friday night on the 32-foot cabin cruiser of Douglas Trevor, 47, and his son, Edward, 22.

The 95-foot patrol vessel's crew gave Foster first aid, put him under guard and towed the boat—blood-splotched also, they said—toward Key West.

Waiting there were Monroe County's sheriff and grief-stricken friends and kin of the Trevors. Waiting also—and not informed at once of what had happened—was Dr. H.A. Foster of Griffin, Ga., who flew here when the search for his son began.

A suicide note found in Roger's blood-spattered Key West motel room had said, "I think I am insane." It urged authorities, "Do not publicize my death. Be careful when you tell my father because he has a bad heart."

A Key West naval physician, Lt. Terrell Tanner, refused to tell newsmen where his friend, Dr. Foster, was spending Friday night.

2 Youths Deprived Of Driving Licenses

LISBON — Traffic Court hearings at the Courthouse have resulted in the suspension of the driving permits of two youths and the fining of another. They were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Frederic Ellis Naragon, 17, of Salem and Robert C. Dornick, 16, of Lisbon R. D. 1, each received 15-day suspensions for speeding.

Gerald W. Miller, 16, of Smiths Ferry was fined $20 for failing to yield the right-of-way.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear departed mother, Mrs. Roy Chaney who passed 1 year ago today, April 13, 1962. 1 year has passed away dear mother, since you were called away; and when the shepherd called you went without delay; no time to say goodby. So swiftly was the parting, taken home without a sigh. Now that life has just begun on that golden happy shore, with the Jesus she loved so well, to live with him forever more. And now that father has gone to join her in that bright and happy land; As they share the joys of heaven on that golden happy strand. You are missed by your children, as we are left behind. But we all hope to join you as we march the path of time.
Daughter, Mrs. Harold Applegate, Sisters and Brothers.

INEZ SMITH GREEN. In loving memory of our dear mother, who passed away 14 years ago: We think of you in silence, No eyes can see us weep, And many a tear is shed, dear mother. When others are asleep.
Arl Green and Children

3 CARDS OF THANKS

WE wish to express our heartfelt appreciation and sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors who offered sympathy at the time of our sad loss and death of our beloved Father, Archie J. Jones. Also those who sent floral offerings and especially Dr. Fred Banfield, and the nurses at City Hospital, Martins Funeral Home. — The Jones Family and the Jewell Family.

Maxwell Taylor

"Mr. Attack" Comes Back

LAST FALL, Pentagon shops did a rush business in two items: one, food for dieting, and the other, food for thought.

The latter was a book, "The Uncertain Trumpet," once a U.S. military dust collector; the former, a liquid dietary supplement for portly senior officers. The omens were unmistakable: "Mr. Attack" was coming back. General Maxwell Davenport Taylor, who likes his staff at "fighting weight" and his cold-war defenses "flexible," had quit the Pentagon as Army Chief of Staff in 1959 with some bitter words, but now he was returning—and as head man, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Why Taylor quit the U.S. military after 41 years of service, including thrilling cloak-and-dagger assignments and parachuting into Normandy on D-Day, makes quite a story. So does his comeback, and the man himself.

It begins around 1910 on a farm near Keyesville, Mo., with a boy from Kansas City visiting his grandfather, a Confederate veteran. "You're too small for pitchin' hay" said Milton Davenport, viewing the nine-year-old, "so I'd better tell you some stories." He then began telling about soldiering in the West during the Civil War. The youngster was awed. When he returned to school, he was asked to fill out an information form, including his name and life's ambition.

"Maxwell D. Taylor," he wrote, "Major General, United States Army."

That ambition never waned, though it encountered some disapproval from the boy's father, John Earle Taylor, an attorney. When the U.S. entered World War I, 17-year-old Maxwell decided it was time for action.

"I came home one evening," he recalled recently, "and announced: 'I've just registered for the draft. I lied about my age. I'm going to be a soldier.' When my father came around to believing it, he offered only one alternative.

" 'If you must go into service,' he told me, 'at least try for Annapolis or West Point.' That's what I wanted in the first place, so I agreed."

How the Navy Lost an Admiral

Annapolis tests came up shortly afterward. Taylor had no chance to study, and he failed the geography part of the exam. "I didn't know where the Strait of Malacca was," he says. (It's between Sumatra and Malaya, of course.) "Since then, I have flown over it many times, and I always look down and think: 'If I'd known you were there, I might have been an admiral today.' "

Taylor took the West Point exams at the same time, passed them readily, as they included no geography, and was graduated fourth in the class of 1922 and described as "most learned" in the yearbook.

It was at West Point that he met Lydia Gardner Happer, daughter of an El Paso, Texan transplanted to Virginia. Lydia Happer was soft-spoken, petite, and retiring, but at a West Point dance she stood out glaringly—an Annapolis midshipman escorted her. Cadet Taylor resolved

Blow the Ball! By Tom Jones

Use a large smooth table and choose players for each side. Place a ping-pong ball or a blown-out egg (like Humpty-Dumpty) in the middle of the table and let everyone blow at once. The team that blows the ball off the table on the other team's side is the winner. This is a good family game, too.

Humpty-Dumpty Right Side Up

By Erika

Here's how to make a Humpty-Dumpty Egg who not only doesn't fall but even rolls back up on end when you tilt him!

With a large darning needle, carefully puncture two holes in the top and bottom of an egg. Blow into one end as if you were blowing up a balloon, until the yolk and white have been forced out the other end. Run clear water through the shell until it is clean inside.

Let it dry, then neatly seal the larger end with a piece of transparent tape. Now fill the egg about one-third full of sand (funneled in through the top), and neatly seal that hole, too.

Test your Humpty-Dumpty by giving it a gentle push with one finger and see what happens.

Paint a face on him with water colors and add a paper cone for a hat.

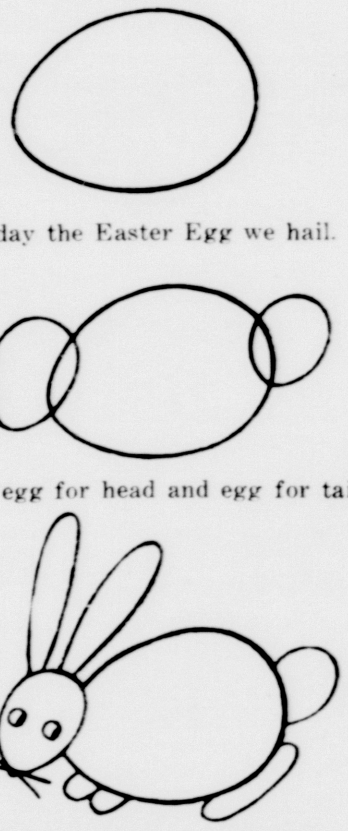
Let's Draw an Easter Bunny

By Ann Davidow



Today the Easter Egg we hail.

Add egg for head and egg for tail,

And that's the way (for all to see)
Our Easter Bunny came to be.

SARAKA SOLVES THE PROBLEM OF "AFTER 45" IRREGULARITY

Doctor-approved bulk stimulant helps keep you comfortably on schedule as no ordinary laxative can!

As we grow older, our systems may often need outside aid to help maintain a normal regularity pattern. Continued use of strong drug laxatives can be irritating, even dangerous. That's why many doctors recommend SARAKA, the pure, all-vegetable bulk stimulant laxative for middle age and over. SARAKA supplies the moist, bland bulk that is so essential to healthy bowel function. And only SARAKA has a gentle stimulant action to help ease this bulk through your system plus Vitamin B1.

Special note to weight watchers: Lack of sufficient bulk in 900 calorie liquids can lead to constipation. If this occurs, supplement your daily diet with all-vegetable SARAKA.

DON'T SURRENDER TO PSORIASIS

Don't despair and give in to the discomforts of psoriasis. Help is here! Hundreds of thousands of men and women have found SIROIL helpful in relieving the discomforts of psoriasis by removing scales and crusts on arms, legs, scalp and other portions of the body. SIROIL, used at bedtime, won't stain bedding or clothing. Millions of bottles have been sold on a 2 weeks satisfaction or money back guarantee. Get it today.

Shrinks Hemorrhoids New Way Without Surgery

STOPS ITCH — RELIEVES PAIN

For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. Ask for it at all drug counters.

DOES GETTING UP NIGHTS MAKE YOU FEEL OLD

After 35, common Kidney or Bladder Irritations often occur and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent passages both day and night. Secondarily, you may lose sleep and suffer from Headaches, Backache and feel old, tired, depressed. In such irritation, CYSTEX usually brings fast, relaxing comfort by curbing irritating germs in strong, acid urine and by analgesic pain relief. Get CYSTEX at druggists. Feel better fast.

Don't blame your dentist if false teeth loosen up

Don't blame your dentist if false teeth loosen up—gums feel sore—can't eat solid food—afraid to laugh for fear plates will fall out. It's not your dentist's fault—Nature shrinks your gums. Then plates get loose—feel uncomfortable—plates go "clickety-clack"—embarrassing. What to do?

If you can't afford another set of teeth, get Snug® brand Denture Cushions—a new soft plastic that relines loose false teeth in a jiffy. You do it yourself with a pair of scissors in the privacy of your own home. Snug holds false teeth tight—grips gums like "living tissue". Always stays soft—never hardens and ruins plate—peels right out when replacement is needed. Harmless—easy to clean.

Snug eases sore gums when plates get loose and don't fit. So don't blame your dentist when gums shrink and dentures wobble. Get Snug brand Denture Cushions today. 2 liners for upper or lower plates. $1.50. At all druggists. Money back if not satisfied.

From "obsolescent general" to our No. 1 soldier—here's an intimate glimpse of the pivotal man in the Pentagon to change this permanently and figured fate was on his side when he learned only 30 minutes separated them in age. ("A fact he never lets me forget," Mrs. Lydia Taylor says nowadays.) Nevertheless, fate took its time. Or as Mrs. Taylor puts it: "It was many boy friends and girl friends later before we married."

By JACK RYAN

For many ambitious young officers, the Army of the '30s meant mostly slow promotions, unexciting posts, and seeming stagnation. But not for the Taylors. Mrs. Taylor recalls only one major disadvantage: "In 37 years, we made 31 moves. When our sons, Jack and Tom, were young, this was particularly bad. The younger, Tom, went to eight schools in four years."

Taylor waited five years for his first promotion, and it wasn't until 1935 that he was made captain. The years weren't wasted, though. The intellectual qualities recognized at West Point were being finely honed. Taylor became a postgraduate of several Army "think" schools, and military tours took him throughout the world. For relaxation, he continued studies in the classics.

World War II and the Big Action

In those years, he had held only one command post. When we entered World War II, however, Major Taylor lost no time in finding an outfit—and action.

As a division chief of staff and later a brigadier general, he helped develop our first airborne force and went into the Sicilian and Italian campaigns as artillery commander of the 82nd Airborne Division. On Sept. 7, 1943, he met a history-making test. The Italians had earlier signed a surrender, and within 48 hours some 2,000 American airborne troops were scheduled to seize Rome from the German garrison. One question plagued General Eisenhower: could this force take the Eternal City by surprise? The man sent to find out was Brig. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, accompanied by Col. William T. Gardiner of the Air Corps.

By corvette, PT boat, and curtained ambulance, the two were smuggled into Rome to confer with Marshal Badoglio about Italian support. Taylor realized now that help was imperative: he had seen the Germans strengthening the Rome garrison. But the Italians were uncertain. They wanted more time. Each procrastination brought the airborne troops closer to H-hour.

Even today Taylor says: "It was the toughest decision of my career. First, because I wanted to take the Eternal City with airborne troops. But second, because it was my decision alone—no advisers, reports, staff discussions. Mine alone."

The decision made, Taylor radioed two prearranged words to Eisenhower: "Situation innocuous." Within hours of take-off, Taylor had killed the daring plan, and 2,000 Americans had been saved from a disastrous drop.

General Eisenhower has said: "The risks (General Taylor) ran were greater than I asked any other agent or emissary to undertake during the war—he carried weighty responsibilities and discharged them with unerring judgment, and every minute he was in imminent danger of discovery and death."

Eight months later, Taylor was the do-it-yourself commander of the 101st Airborne Division parachuting into France six hours before the main D-Day landings at Utah Beach. Fog and winds dispersed his men, and he found himself alone in black alien countryside. He recalls:

"After 20 minutes of prowling around and playing cops and robbers with the Germans, I heard someone moving on the other side of the hedgerow—German or American? Then I heard a little click-click (the division's recognition signal). I gave a click-click in return. We met at the corner of the hedge. No soldier ever looked more beautiful than that tough paratrooper private with his M-1 rifle, bayonet fixed."

Taylor soon rounded up about 70 men. Unfortunately, most were majors, colonels, and one general, McAuliffe. "We had a lot of rank but nobody to go out with M-1 rifles and chase Germans," Taylor says ruefully. "Never were so few led by so many." Nevertheless, by dawn this strange force was on the move; it took its first objective, Pouppeville, on schedule, and the 101st was on its way to one of the most outstanding divisional records of the war.

Mrs. Taylor recalls another momentous day. "The General had returned to Washington at General Marshall's order to see some new troop-carrying planes. It was Christmas, 1944, and we were looking forward to a family get-together. Then we heard that the 101st had been surrounded at Bastogne by the German breakthrough. The General became deeply distressed. 'I must rejoin them,' he kept saying. But because of the weather there was trouble getting a plane, and we reminded him about the family get-together. 'I have 10,000 sons over there,' he said."

A Simple Case of Bravery

Taylor wheedled a transatlantic flight, intending to parachute into the besieged 101st area. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith refused permission as "too dangerous," so Taylor commandeered a jeep and driver and found an open road through the battle lines. "It was a hairy drive," says one of his longtime aides. "Either side could have blasted him—but what the devil, if you can't do things like that, you shouldn't be in this business."

After the war, there was distinguished service in Berlin, West Point, and Korea. West Point remembers him as a commandant who recharged the academic atmosphere for cadets and trimmed down faculty fat. In the gymnasium, he had installed a scale and sign: "This scale is to remind the officers at West Point that a potbelly cannot lead the Corps of Cadets."

The sign is not visible at the Pentagon today, but the idea is, hence the crowded gym and the pack of dietary food near most desks.

In June, 1955, Taylor was appointed Army Chief of Staff, fought the continuous battle of Washington—and suffered his first defeat. On one side was a group, led by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, which advocated massive retaliation as our best defense. The "big bang" philosophers believed that if we concentrated on building a huge nuclear arsenal, nobody would dare attack us. Taylor acknowledged the importance of nuclear weapons but felt we were putting all our eggs in one basket. What good was an A-bomb in guerrilla warfare? Or an H-bomb in brush-fire wars? If an ally asked our aid against a Communist revolution, were we going to drop a nuclear device on the country?

After four years of "the usual 4-to-1 split against me," Taylor quit the Joint Chiefs of Staff with this farewell to arms: "My success has been definitely limited. I can do only one more thing for the cause—withdraw an obsolescent general from the military inventory."

Today Taylor says, "I meant what I said then—under those conditions I was indeed obsolete. And if those conditions existed today, I would have to do the same. But the climate is different here now."

After retirement, Taylor put his views into the book, "The Uncertain Trumpet." They were read by an impressed Sen. John F. Kennedy. When, as President, Mr. Kennedy found himself in trouble over the aborted Bay of Pigs invasion, he appointed Taylor Special Military Adviser to the White House. Last October, Mr. Kennedy named him Chairman of the Joint Chiefs, just in time to join the celebrated executive committee on the Cuban crisis. On a table in Taylor's home is a gift from the President, a sterling silver calendar of October, 1962, with the days of crisis in black.

The Taylors now live at Fort Myer, Va., in an old-fashioned red-brick building on the post. It is notable for a breathtaking view across the Potomac to the Capitol and for sunny rooms furnished with pieces collected from all over the world—and a simple portrait, too, that of the late Milton Davenport.

"Did you see a teeny-weeny little white ball?"

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I "antique" a wood panel?

A. Combine raw sienna with raw umber and a touch of Venetian red. Dilute this mixture with a thin glue sizing. After the finish is dry, apply a thin coat of bleached shellac and rub down with a fine sandpaper. Repeat until the surface is smooth. A final finish may be made of flat lacquer or rubbing varnish.

Q. How can I restore my soiled powder puffs?

A. Wash them in warm soapsuds, scrubbing the bad spots with a fingernail brush. Don't lay them out flat to dry, or they might become sour. Instead, pin them to the sunny side of a window curtain so that the air can get at them.

Q. How can I keep watercress fresh and crisp for several days?

A. Wash and drain the watercress, then place it in a heavy paper bag in the refrigerator—keeping the bag in the moderately cold section.

Q. Can you suggest anything to ease ironing of sequin - studded blouses?

A. Place the sequin side on a heavy turkish towel. This prevents the sequins from cutting the ironing-board cover, and will also keep the tiny decorations from being broken. Embroidered materials, ironed by this method, will have a smooth finish with a raised design, which is effective.

Q. Is there some way I can prevent white enamel paint from turning yellow later after its application?

A. This may sound somewhat paradoxical, but one teaspoon of black enamel added to a quart of white enamel will prevent that yellowing.

Junior Editors Quiz on FIGUREHEAD

QUESTION: Why were figureheads once used on ships?

ANSWER: Sailors love their ships and from the earliest times have had the feeling that they were something more than just wood, rope and canvas—that they were somehow alive. A sailor will say "she's a fine vessel," the word "she" meaning that he thinks of a ship as something beautiful and romantic, like a woman. Pictures of ships with distinct figureheads have been found on stone age rock carvings, so it must have been a very long time ago that this practice began. It is thought that the figurehead was supposed by the ancients to help the ship find her way through fog and dangerous waters. Certain ships in the Mediterranean Sea had eyes painted on their bows for the same reason, and the custom has persisted on certain fishing boats to this day. Viking ships, as well as Roman and Greek vessels usually carried figureheads and the custom became so general that an old-time seaman thought it unlucky to sail on a ship which didn't have one. But many quaint old customs passed out when steam took the place of sail. Now the only figureheads to be seen are in nautical museums.

FOR YOU TO DO: In your library, look through some books on old ships and see if you can find pictures of figureheads. Many were made with full length female figures; some were of famous Indian warriors or they might be portrait busts of the owners of the vessel.

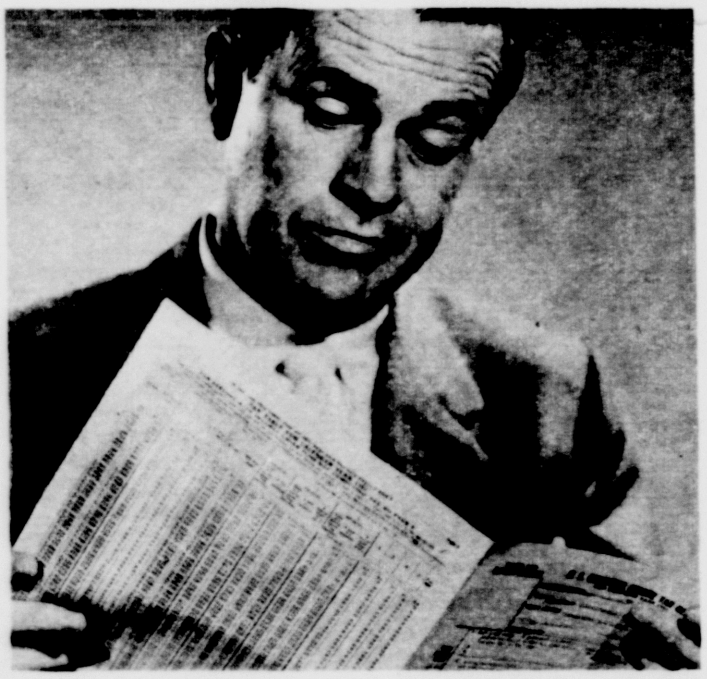
Happy Birthday, Income-Tax Man

By JERRY KLEIN



Tomorrow is the deadline for filing your return; don't send a 50th anniversary card—just money

NO DANCING in the streets, please, but this is the Golden Anniversary of that golden institution, American income tax.

Uncle Sam's collector of internal revenue doesn't expect you to mail him a Happy Anniversary card, of course. Just your 1962 return and, if necessary, the full payment due—and you'd better have it in the mail by midnight April 15, or he'll be terribly upset.

It was in 1913, "after a generation of agitation and effort," that the 16th Amendment was ratified, making income taxes a Constitutional—and apparently permanent—fixture on the American scene. To be sure, we had taxed income a few times previously, but the Supreme Court had ruled out the levy.

Those pre-World War I taxpayers dwelled in paradise and didn't know it. They had to fork over from 1 to 7 percent of their earnings. Today's Social Security tax alone is higher than that.

As the Internal Revenue Service puts it, the income tax has since "changed its morning coat for overalls." About 62 million Americans file returns these days and ante up some $50 billion a year, compared with the $28 million "contributed" half-a-century back. In 1913 only one in 30 citizens filed a return, and persons earning more than $100,000 accounted for three-fourths of the total collected.

There were plenty of opponents to the Constitutional Amendment introduced during the first Wilson administration. They pointed overseas and said we would become "as decadent as Europeans" if we paid taxes, that our whole moral fiber would collapse, that our independence would be sold in the market place.

But income tax was born and has been growing ever since—not without continued opposition, however, from bent but unbowed enemies. Even the collector of internal revenue under the Eisenhower administration got into the act a couple of years ago. T. Coleman Andrews, after several years of enforcing the nation's tax laws, called for repeals on the basis that they were among the most inflationary of all evils besetting the shrinking dollar.

A former Utah governor, J. Bracken Lee, adamantly refused to pay part of his 1955 income tax because he objected to the money being used for foreign aid. The revenue agents simply attached his bank account for the remaining taxes. Undaunted, Lee went to the U.S. Supreme Court, but the Court wouldn't even let him file a suit. Like many a taxpayer who has fought a noble but losing battle with the tax man, Governor Lee packed his gear and concluded: "I'm goin' fishin'."

FAMOUS TAX BATTLERS don't really give up, though. Viewers of the defunct television show, "The $64,000 Question," may remember Vivien Kellems, owner of a factory in Stonington, Conn. She chose the tax category and promptly got into an argument with the master of ceremonies, claiming his charts were wrong.

When finally she was cajoled into answering a question, the m.c. declared her wrong. "I am not," Miss Kellems replied and refused to leave the stage.

It was only after some conferring that Miss Kellems was ushered away from the tv cameras, with the m.c. perspiring as many a tax man had before under Miss Kellems' obduracy. But while she never has had the last word with the tax man, she got it on tv. As the m.c. flashed a toothy though rather wan smile, her voice could be heard off stage:

"You're still wrong!"

Another battle that is as old as the income tax is the one between loophole seekers and Government loophole pluggers. Even into the 1930s, a tycoon like J. P. Morgan was able to find legalistic loopholes to avoid paying his taxes. That's not so easy nowadays, but people still try.

One imaginative American—an undertaker—listed his personal grocery bill as a deduction on grounds that his wife met potential customers while shopping. Another tried to charge off a swimming pool as "a scientific experiment in water purification."

Ingenious is the word for the stamp collector who bought $2,700 worth of rare specimens and tried to charge them off to his business' postage account. And let's not overlook the housewife who deducted $500 as a bad debt. "I know that debt won't ever be paid," she explained, "because I owe it myself. I haven't paid any of it for two years, and I don't intend to!"

On the other hand, Uncle Sam doesn't always emulate Simon Legree at income-tax time; he can be sweetly reasonable, too. For example, he allowed one company to deduct $187,417 to maintain a hunting lodge for customers. He permitted another firm to charge off $253,035 for operating a yacht.

This April 15th still finds many forces of tax reform and reduction clashing in Washington and the national debt continuing to climb despite our income-tax load. The country's red-ink-filled pen now is hovering above the $300 billion mark.

That's quite a larger tab than we had in George Washington's day, when a prosperous New Englander named James Swan generously paid our entire national debt out of his own pocket—slightly more than $2 million. Never shall Uncle Sam look upon his likes again!

Scout Group Sets Election

Plans for election of Columbiana Council Explorer Cabinet officers were announced at the meeting of the cabinet Thursday night at Camp McKinley at Lisbon.

Frank Rossi, Cherokee District advisor, said it will be held July 11 and nominations will be made until then by the Cherokee and Shawnee Districts.

Rossi, who presided, explained how the council and district cabinets operate.

Robert Gray, district executive, told how Eagle Scout qualifications can be met through the Explorer program and discussed membership growth.

Plans were completed for the annual Explorers Ball May 10 at the Country Club with upwards of 300 boys and their dates expected. Benny and His Keynotes will provide the music.

Two more registered to attend the Region Explorer Conference to be held May 3-6 at Ft. Knox, Ky., with 11 signed so far. Reservations are due immediately for any others planning to make the trip.

Reservations also are due for the council's annual dinner to be held April 23 at South Side School at Columbiana with up to 400 to attend.

Another event discussed was the junior leader training session to be held May 3-5 at Camp McKinley with about 175 scouts and adults expected. William Hughes of Wellsville is chairman.

Dale Hoff of Columbiana, Shawnee District advisor, spoke briefly.

Pearson Says He Can Now Head Strong Regime

MONTREAL (AP) — Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson says a pledge of support from six Social Credit party legislators means he can now head a strong, stable majority government.

The six reserved the right to oppose the Liberals on nuclear policy. But Pearson said Friday night "Their declared intention now means there will be majority support in Parliament for a Liberal government acting in the best interests of Canada."

Pearson's Liberal party defeated Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker's Conservatives in last Monday's Canadian national elections, but fell five votes short of winning a majority in Parliament.

The Liberal leader made no reference to the reservation on nuclear policy, an issue which led to the collapse of the Diefenbaker government and the last Parliament.

Diefenbaker opposed placing U.S. nuclear warheads on Canadian soil. Pearson said Canada should accept the warheads to honor its obligations to Western defense.

Strike Authority Voted By URW Local

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Representatives of the United Rubber Workers Union negotiating a new contract with Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. were voted strike authority Friday by members of URW Local 2. The 9,500-member local is the largest in the URW.

Negotiations are being conducted in Cincinnati on a new contract to replace one that expires at midnight next Saturday. Current contracts with the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. and the B.F Goodrich Co. also run out at the same time.

Contract talks between the URW and Firestone are being held in Columbus and negotiations with Goodrich are under way in Dayton.

Sheriff Checks Girls' Story On Abduction

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Franklin County sheriff's office was checking out early today the story of two young girls who said they were forced at gunpoint to accompany two men on a drive from Yellow Springs, Ohio.

Deputies did not identify the girls but quoted them as saying they were put out of the car outside the city limits where they called the sheriff's office. It was not determined whether the girls, both about 14, had been harmed in any way, deputies said.

Mayor Of Sandusky To Take Road Post

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Mayor Paul E. Kimes plans to resign his post Monday to accept a $5,760 yearly appointment with the State Highway Department.

Kimes said Friday he will become claims, safety and public relations executive of the Highway Department's Division 3 in Ashland on Tuesday.

1-Car Wreck Fatal

FOSTORIA, Ohio (AP)—Richard Eugene Soals, Arcadia, was killed early today when his car went out of control and crashed off Ohio 18 about three miles south of here, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

Soviet Missiles

Held Threat To U.S. Polaris

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

ANTIMISSILES: Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., told a closed session of the Senate that the Soviet Union is deploying missiles which reportedly could shoot down U.S. Polaris missiles and possibly even the longer range Minuteman missiles, according to informed sources.

Thurmond, who has been pressing for production of the Army's Nike-Zeus antimissile system, was said to have informed the Senate that the Pentagon had confirmed that the Russians have given a go-ahead on such weapons.

Thurmond, the sources said Friday, made his plea for a speedup of the Zeus program at Thursday's session from which newsmen and the public were barred. It was the first closed Senate session since 1943.

His appeal failed to dissuade the Senate from voting against the speedup, opposed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. By a 58-16 roll call vote, it stripped from a military authorization measure $196 million added by the Senate Armed Forces Committee to start work on full production.

POLARIS: The Pentagon has announced that a second Polaris submarine has taken up station in the Mediterranean and a third will do so later this month.

The three subs—arrival of the first was announced two weeks ago—are taking over potential targets that have been covered by the land-based Jupiter missiles being removed from Italy and Turkey.

ON THE RISE: Industrial production, a signpost of the nation's economic health, inched upward in March after remaining relatively stable for several months.

The index advanced to 120.4 per cent of the 1957-59 average a production of consumer goods and of industrial materials reached new peaks.

In February the index stood at 119.4 and in January at 118.9.

TAX RETURNS: You'll beat the deadline if your income tax return is in the mail and postmarked by midnight April 15.

The Internal Revenue Service issued this assurance Friday, welcome news for those who put off their filing as long as possible.

An April 15 postmark doesn't get a taxpayer under the wire every year, the revenue service pointed out. Despite a popular belief that it does, IRS lawyers said returns generally must be mailed well enough ahead of time to reach the government by that date.

Late filers are in eminent company. IRS Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin hasn't sent in his return yet. He plans to this weekend.

THE anniversary of Thomas Jefferson's birth was marked today on the steps of his memorial. And Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall said the celebration pays respect "to the memory of the finest and broadest intellect America has produced."

Udall in his prepared remarks quoted a passage from a letter Jefferson wrote to a friend in 1803.

"I never will, by any word or act, bow to the shrine of intolerance or admit a right of inquiry into the religious opinion of others. On the contrary, we are bound, you, I and everyone, to make common cause, even with error itself, to maintain the common right of freedom of conscience," the letter said.

Citing this, Udall said "It is ironic indeed that present-day exponents of state rights miscontrue his views and cite him when they oppose federal leadership designed to reduce intolerance and unequal treatment of citizens."

Russian Poet Calls Off American Visit

MOSCOW (AP) — Informants said today that nonconformist poet Yevgeny Yevtushenko has canceled his proposed visit to a number of American universities.

His visit was to include Princeton, Stanford, the University of Indiana and the University of Chicago.

The universities have been notified in a letter from Yevtushenko's wife that the young poet was ill, but it was believed the cancellation was made under official pressure.

Yevtushenko, who won world renown with "Babi Yar," a poem attacking Soviet anti-Semitism, was attacked by Premier Khrushchev and writers union officials. They accused him of going too far in his denunciation of Stalinists

Fire Destroys Barns

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—An estimated $20,000 to $25,000 in livestock, crops, equipment and buildings went up in flames when two barns burned on a farm near New Weston in northern Darke County Friday. The blaze of undetermined origin on the Julius Mestkmer property destroyed 75 hogs and 13 head of cattle along with large quantities of hay, straw, oats and soybeans, a wagon and a cultivator.

Voting Board Names Staff

The County Election Board will mail notices over the weekend to men and women who will serve as judges and clerks in 101 precinct polling places for the May 7 primaries, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said today.

Six persons — three from each major party — will staff the polling places in East Liverpool, Wellsville and East Palestine, where two-party primaries will be held.

But under an "economy plan" stipulated by state law, the board will employ only four judges and clerks in areas where there will be only a one - party primary or questions and issues to be decided, O'Hanlon pointed out.

The "economy" rule applies in Salem, which has only a Republican primary — for lack of contests on the Democratic ticket — as well as a vote on a school district issue.

Lisbon and Leetonia will vote on only school district issues, as their party primaries were eliminated under the Ohio "no contest" law.

In the "economy" precincts, the judges and clerks will be paid $12 for the day's work — the maximum permitted by state law in such cases. Those working in precincts where both parties will vote will draw the usual $16 salary.

Presiding judges are paid an additional sum for mileage and a fee for picking up voting supplies.

Meanwhile, the board is continuing to issue civilian absentee voters' ballots for the primary.

Three more were issued Friday afternoon, booting to 11 the total obtained since they became available Monday. The ballots may be issued until 4 p.m. Thursday, May 2, and must be returned to the board's office by noon on Friday, May 3, if they're to be counted at the polls on Election Day.

NEW YORK (AP)—The will of the late Charlene Cassini, wife of society columnist Igor Cassini, leaves him the bulk of her estate, valued at approximately $100,000.

Mrs. Cassini, 38, died Tuesday of what police said was an apparent overdose of barbiturates. Her will, dated last Feb. 8—the same day her husband was indicted by a federal grand jury—was filed for probate Friday.

She left Cassini, her second husband, stock in a cooperative apartment and the apartment's furnishings and art objects.

Mrs. Cassini also named her husband as the guardian not only of their son, Charles Alexander Cassini, 9, but also of Dana, 14, her son by an earlier marriage to actor Helmut Dantine, from whom she was divorced.

CAKES OF QUALITY

Family Weekly Cookbook
MELANIE DE PROFT, Food Editor

Cherry-Banana Sponge Cake

- 1 1-lb. can pitted dark sweet cherries, drained (reserve sirup)
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 3 tablespoons apricot preserve
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1 cup chilled whipping cream
- ¼ cup confectioners' sugar
- ½ teaspoon vanilla extract
- ½ teaspoon almond extract
- 4 medium-sized all-yellow bananas
- 2 tablespoons orange juice
- 2 9-in. sponge cake layers (see recipe)

1. Add enough water to cherry sirup to yield 1 cup. Stir a small amount of the sirup into cornstarch in a saucepan; blend until smooth. Mix in apricot preserve. Add remaining cherry sirup and salt; bring to boiling and boil 3 min., stirring constantly. Stir in lemon peel and cherries (reserve about 12 for garnish); cool and chill.

2. Just before assembling cake, whip cream until soft peaks are formed; with final few strokes, blend in the confectioners' sugar and extracts. Set in refrigerator.

3. Cut three of the bananas in half crosswise; slice each half lengthwise into 3 or 4 petals; drizzle with orange juice.

4. Slice remaining banana into ¼-in. slices and mix into cherry filling.

One 9-in. filled layer cake

Burnt-Sugar Cake

GOOD FOR FREEZING

- 3 cups sifted cake flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1½ cups sugar
- 3 eggs, well beaten
- ⅓ cup cooled burnt-sugar sirup*
- ¾ cup milk

1. Lightly grease (bottoms only) two 9-in. round layer cake pans; line bottoms with waxed paper and grease paper; set aside.

2. Blend together the flour, baking powder, and salt. Set aside.

3. Cream butter and extract. Add sugar gradually, creaming well after each addition.

4. Add eggs in thirds, beating thoroughly after each addition.

5. Combine the burnt-sugar sirup with the milk, stirring until thoroughly blended. Alternately add dry ingredients in fourths and milk mixture in thirds to creamed mixture, beating only until blended after each addition. Turn into pans.

6. Bake at 350°F 30 to 35 min., or until cake tester inserted in center of each layer comes out clean.

7. Remove from oven to cooling racks and cool 10 min. Remove from pans, peel off paper, and cool completely.

8. Fill and frost cake with Burnt-Sugar Frosting. Sprinkle top with chopped toasted pecans, if desired.

One 9-in. layer cake

Burnt-Sugar Frosting

- 6 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla extract
- 3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
- Few grains salt
- 2 tablespoons cream
- ½ cup cooled burnt-sugar sirup*

1. Cream butter and extract until softened.

2. Add sugar with salt gradually, beating well after each addition. Gradually add a mixture of the cream and burnt-sugar sirup, beating until frosting is creamy and of spreading consistency.

Enough to fill and frost a 9-in. two-layer cake

Burnt-Sugar Sirup (about 1½ cups)—Heat 2 cups sugar in a heavy, light-colored skillet over low heat; using back of wooden spoon, gently keep sugar moving toward center of skillet until melted. Heat until a rich brown and foam appears. Remove from heat and very gradually add 1½ cups boiling water, stirring constantly. Return to heat and stir until bubbles are the size of dimes, about 5 min. Cool completely. (Store sirup, covered, in refrigerator.)

Old-Fashioned Molasses Cake

GOOD FOR FREEZING

Top this cake with a creamy butter frosting or a sprinkling of confectioners' sugar. Serve with fragrant hot coffee and vanilla ice cream.

- 4⅓ cups sifted flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- ¾ teaspoon baking soda
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1 tablespoon ground cinnamon
- 1½ teaspoons ground ginger
- ¾ teaspoon ground cloves
- ¾ cup butter
- ¾ cup sugar
- 1½ cups light molasses
- 3 eggs, well beaten
- 1½ cups hot water

1. Grease (bottom only) a 13x9½x2-in. pan.

2. Blend together the first seven ingredients.

3. Cream butter until softened; add sugar gradually, creaming until fluffy. Blend in molasses.

4. Stir in ½ cup of the flour mixture. Add eggs in thirds, beating well after each addition.

5. Alternately add the remaining flour mixture in fourths and hot water in thirds, beating only until smooth after each addition. Turn into pan.

6. Bake at 350°F 50 min., or until cake tests done. Cool completely.

Hot Milk Sponge Cake

- 1 cup sifted cake flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs, well beaten
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 or 3 teaspoons lemon juice
- 6 tablespoons hot milk (do not boil)

1. Blend first three ingredients; set aside.

2. Add sugar gradually to the beaten eggs, beating well after each addition. Mix in lemon juice.

3. Sift dry ingredients over egg mixture about one-fourth at a time; gently fold in until just blended after each addition.

4. Add hot milk all at one time and quickly mix just until smooth. Turn batter into two 9-in. round layer cake pans (do not grease).

5. Bake at 375°F about 15 min., or until cake surface springs back when lightly touched. Invert cake pans and rest on edges of two cooling racks; let cake hang in pan until cool. Remove from pans.

Scout Group Sets Election

Plans for election of Columbiana Council Explorer Cabinet officers were announced at the meeting of the cabinet Thursday night at Camp McKinley at Lisbon.

Frank Rossi, Cherokee District advisor, said it will be held July 11 and nominations will be made until then by the Cherokee and Shawnee Districts.

Rossi, who presided, explained how the council and district cabinets operate.

Robert Gray, district executive, told how Eagle Scout qualifications can be met through the Explorer program and discussed membership growth.

Plans were completed for the annual Explorers Ball May 10 at the Country Club with upwards of 300 boys and their dates expected. Benny and His Keynotes will provide the music.

Two more registered to attend the Region Explorer Conference to be held May 3-6 at Ft. Knox, Ky., with 11 signed so far. Reservations are due immediately for any others planning to make the trip.

Reservations also are due for the council's annual dinner to be held April 23 at South Side School at Columbiana with up to 400 to attend.

Another event discussed was the junior leader training session to be held May 3-5 at Camp McKinley with about 175 scouts and adults expected. William Hughes of Wellsville is chairman.

Dale Hoff of Columbiana, Shawnee District advisor, spoke briefly.

Pearson Says He Can Now Head Strong Regime

MONTREAL (AP) — Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson says a pledge of support from six Social Credit party legislators means he can now head a strong, stable majority government.

The six reserved the right to oppose the Liberals on nuclear policy. But Pearson said Friday night "Their declared intention now means there will be majority support in Parliament for a Liberal government acting in the best interests of Canada."

Pearson's Liberal party defeated Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker's Conservatives in last Monday's Canadian national elections, but fell five votes short of winning a majority in Parliament.

The Liberal leader made no reference to the reservation on nuclear policy, an issue which led to the collapse of the Diefenbaker government and the last Parliament.

Diefenbaker opposed placing U.S. nuclear warheads on Canadian soil. Pearson said Canada should accept the warheads to honor its obligations to Western defense.

Strike Authority Voted By URW Local

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Representatives of the United Rubber Workers Union negotiating a new contract with Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. were voted strike authority Friday by members of URW Local 2. The 9,500-member local is the largest in the URW.

Negotiations are being conducted in Cincinnati on a new contract to replace one that expires at midnight next Saturday. Current contracts with the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. and the B.F Goodrich Co. also run out at the same time.

Contract talks between the URW and Firestone are being held in Columbus and negotiations with Goodrich are under way in Dayton.

Sheriff Checks Girls' Story On Abduction

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Franklin County sheriff's office was checking out early today the story of two young girls who said they were forced at gunpoint to accompany two men on a drive from Yellow Springs, Ohio.

Deputies did not identify the girls but quoted them as saying they were put out of the car outside the city limits where they called the sheriff's office. It was not determined whether the girls, both about 14, had been harmed in any way, deputies said.

Mayor Of Sandusky To Take Road Post

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Mayor Paul E. Kimes plans to resign his post Monday to accept a $5,760 yearly appointment with the State Highway Department.

Kimes said Friday he will become claims, safety and public relations executive of the Highway Department's Division 3 in Ashland on Tuesday.

1-Car Wreck Fatal

FOSTORIA, Ohio (AP)—Richard Eugene Soals, Arcadia, was killed early today when his car went out of control and crashed off Ohio 18 about three miles south of here, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

Soviet Missiles

Held Threat To U.S. Polaris

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

ANTIMISSILES: Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., told a closed session of the Senate that the Soviet Union is deploying missiles which reportedly could shoot down U.S. Polaris missiles and possibly even the longer range Minuteman missiles, according to informed sources.

Thurmond, who has been pressing for production of the Army's Nike-Zeus antimissile system, was said to have informed the Senate that the Pentagon had confirmed that the Russians have given a go-ahead on such weapons.

Thurmond, the sources said Friday, made his plea for a speedup of the Zeus program at Thursday's session from which newsmen and the public were barred. It was the first closed Senate session since 1943.

His appeal failed to dissuade the Senate from voting against the speedup, opposed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. By a 58-16 roll call vote, it stripped from a military authorization measure $196 million added by the Senate Armed Forces Committee to start work on full production.

POLARIS: The Pentagon has announced that a second Polaris submarine has taken up station in the Mediterranean and a third will do so later this month.

The three subs—arrival of the first was announced two weeks ago—are taking over potential targets that have been covered by the land-based Jupiter missiles being removed from Italy and Turkey.

ON THE RISE: Industrial production, a signpost of the nation's economic health, inched upward in March after remaining relatively stable for several months.

The index advanced to 120.4 per cent of the 1957-59 average a production of consumer goods and of industrial materials reached new peaks.

In February the index stood at 119.4 and in January at 118.9.

TAX RETURNS: You'll beat the deadline if your income tax return is in the mail and postmarked by midnight April 15.

The Internal Revenue Service issued this assurance Friday, welcome news for those who put off their filing as long as possible.

An April 15 postmark doesn't get a taxpayer under the wire every year, the revenue service pointed out. Despite a popular belief that it does, IRS lawyers said returns generally must be mailed well enough ahead of time to reach the government by that date.

Late filers are in eminent company. IRS Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin hasn't sent in his return yet. He plans to this weekend.

THE anniversary of Thomas Jefferson's birth was marked today on the steps of his memorial. And Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall said the celebration pays respect "to the memory of the finest and broadest intellect America has produced."

Udall in his prepared remarks quoted a passage from a letter Jefferson wrote to a friend in 1803.

"I never will, by any word or act, bow to the shrine of intolerance or admit a right of inquiry into the religious opinion of others. On the contrary, we are bound, you, I and everyone, to make common cause, even with error itself, to maintain the common right of freedom of conscience," the letter said.

Citing this, Udall said "It is ironic indeed that present-day exponents of state rights miscontrue his views and cite him when they oppose federal leadership designed to reduce intolerance and unequal treatment of citizens."

Lisbon D. Of A. Unit Awards Prizes At Cards And Games

Russian Poet Calls Off American Visit

MOSCOW (AP) — Informants said today that nonconformist poet Yevgeny Yevtushenko has canceled his proposed visit to a number of American universities.

His visit was to include Princeton, Stanford, the University of Indiana and the University of Chicago.

The universities have been notified in a letter from Yevtushenko's wife that the young poet was ill, but it was believed the cancellation was made under official pressure.

Yevtushenko, who won world renown with "Babi Yar," a poem attacking Soviet anti-Semitism, was attacked by Premier Khrushchev and writers union officials. They accused him of going too far in his denunciation of Stalinists

Fire Destroys Barns

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—An estimated $20,000 to $25,000 in livestock, crops, equipment and buildings went up in flames when two barns burned on a farm near New Weston in northern Darke County Friday. The blaze of undetermined origin on the Julius Mestkmer property destroyed 75 hogs and 13 head of cattle along with large quantities of hay, straw, oats and soybeans, a wagon and a cultivator.

Voting Board Names Staff

The County Election Board will mail notices over the weekend to men and women who will serve as judges and clerks in 101 precinct polling places for the May 7 primaries, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said today.

Six persons — three from each major party — will staff the polling places in East Liverpool, Wellsville and East Palestine, where two-party primaries will be held.

But under an "economy plan" stipulated by state law, the board will employ only four judges and clerks in areas where there will be only a one - party primary or questions and issues to be decided, O'Hanlon pointed out.

The "economy" rule applies in Salem, which has only a Republican primary — for lack of contests on the Democratic ticket — as well as a vote on a school district issue.

Lisbon and Leetonia will vote on only school district issues, as their party primaries were eliminated under the Ohio "no contest" law.

In the "economy" precincts, the judges and clerks will be paid $12 for the day's work — the maximum permitted by state law in such cases. Those working in precincts where both parties will vote will draw the usual $16 salary.

Presiding judges are paid an additional sum for mileage and a fee for picking up voting supplies.

Meanwhile, the board is continuing to issue civilian absentee voters' ballots for the primary.

Three more were issued Friday afternoon, booting to 11 the total obtained since they became available Monday. The ballots may be issued until 4 p.m. Thursday, May 2, and must be returned to the board's office by noon on Friday, May 3, if they're to be counted at the polls on Election Day.

NEW YORK (AP)—The will of the late Charlene Cassini, wife of society columnist Igor Cassini, leaves him the bulk of her estate, valued at approximately $100,000.

Mrs. Cassini, 38, died Tuesday of what police said was an apparent overdose of barbiturates. Her will, dated last Feb. 8—the same day her husband was indicted by a federal grand jury—was filed for probate Friday.

She left Cassini, her second husband, stock in a cooperative apartment and the apartment's furnishings and art objects.

Cassini also was left the residue of the estate.

To her sister, Irene Cernadas of Gstaad, Switzerland, and her 14-year-old stepdaughter, Marina —Cassini's child by one of two previous marriages—she left jewelry and other items.

Mrs. Cassini also named her husband as the guardian not only of their son, Charles Alexander Cassini, 9, but also of Dana, 14, her son by an earlier marriage to actor Helmut Dantine, from whom she was divorced.

The Seven Secrets of Prayer

At Easter, a noted religious writer offers helpful advice concerning an often-misunderstood subject

By WILL OURSLER

EASTER IS A TIME when churches are thronged with millions who come to worship, to rejoice, to pray. It is a time when prayer and its implications are brought into sudden, sharp focus.

In my research and writing on religion, I have explored these implications and have compiled what I call the seven basic secrets—one could call them techniques—of prayer. I would like to share them with you.

1. Prayer is not a question but an answer.

A young woman came to me not long ago in deep distress and anger. "I poured out my heart to God in prayer," she said. "I told Him all my problems. I asked for guidance—and absolutely nothing has changed!"

"But did you take time," I asked, "to listen to His answer?" She seemed startled. Further discussion revealed clearly she had not. She had been so intent on pouring out all her questions that she had failed to hear God's word to her.

We pray in affirmation and adoration; we seek His will for us, knowing that it is all good. And the prompting comes within us, in the morning of quiet, in the silence. Listen—for the answer is there.

2. Prayer is not a demand but a promise.

Promise of what? A promise to seek not for ourselves alone but rather to be channels of God's purpose.

One man prayed that he could be instrumental in ridding a neighbor woman of her brutish, drunken husband. One night when the husband was in a rage, the neighbor stormed into the house, threatened to thrash the husband, and told him, "I'm praying to God that she can get rid of you so I can marry her and give her some happiness."

Those knife-edged words ripped through the husband's alcoholic haze. The result was extraordinary; in the days that followed, the man began to reclaim himself and his marriage. The neighbor eventually moved to another part of town, without understanding how his prayer could possibly have resulted in this victory—for the husband.

3. Prayer is both a petition and a repenting.

At a party, a group of young "intellectuals" were discussing repentance. Several insisted that they had nothing to repent. An older man asked, "You mean you never did a thing you wanted to tell somebody you were sorry for?"

To tell somebody we're sorry! There are guilts that we pile up on ourselves, little items and big; these are the burdens that we seek to have lifted from us in our prayers.

4. Prayer involves awareness.

We must be aware that God's will for us is always the will of love, and we must realize that through Him even the impossible is possible.

During World War II, a friend of mine was shot down in the South Pacific. He and his crew were on a raft, trying to get back to an American-held island. It was night and moonless. Although they prayed the brief, silent prayers of such moments, rescue seemed beyond hope. Yet my friend was sure he would be rescued; someone would come, as friends had come back home on his farm in Alabama whenever he needed help.

They heard a plane, and by the engines they knew it was one of ours. Someone had a cigarette lighter. When the plane came closer, he lit it—and the night-flying amphibious patrol plane came down and made the rescue.

After my friend was taken aboard the rescue plane, he discovered that the pilot was an old school chum from back home in Alabama!

5. Prayer is most effective when it is offered for others.

Theologians warn that such prayers should never be used as a substitute for our own charitable actions—nor as a means of imposing our ideas or secret desires or judgments on someone else. But selflessly offered, intercessory prayer for others works miracles. In his A Primer of Prayer, Charles Laymon says, "It is love that gives significance to all praying, especially when we are lifting up others to God."

6. We should have a place apart for our regular prayers.

It may be a corner of our home or garden, or it may be in a church or temple when other people are not there in large numbers.

What is important is that it be a place to which you go; that it require a certain action, a definite active step toward God in going there, in bowing your head, in consecrating yourself.

7. Effective prayer is possible, particularly in emergency, under any conditions.

We can be in contact with the Infinite any time and any place. But the reaching out to God cannot be flippant or offhand; it cannot be a casual conversation en route from the hairdresser to the cocktail lounge. It must be deeply, earnestly, completely meant.

An intern in a New York hospital goes from bed to bed down the long aisle of the hospital ward each night and prays beside each bed. He tells no one in the hospital of this.

How much good he achieves cannot be measured. But he knows, as he has told me, that his prayers are heard.

A ticket vendor at a circus may pray effectively—so may a night-club dancer or an alcoholic on Skid Row. When a prayer is offered as a sacred thing, it does not go unheard.

Prayer in its highest state is communion with God. It is not asking nor demanding nor petitioning nor seeking. It is a listening, it is a welcoming of the Holy Spirit in ourselves, it is opening ourselves to the eternal response of His Kingdom.

All that we need, all that is right for us stems from this communion which is ours in prayer.

Peggy Lee's Search for Success

The thrilling intensity of her singing style mirrors a great talent, a troubled life—and a faith that has helped sustain her

By MARYA SAUNDERS and BOB GAINES

BEFORE EVERY performance, Peggy Lee closes her eyes and recites a special prayer.

Because these silent moments mean so much to her, she is reluctant to talk about them. The only thing she ever has revealed came out during this FAMILY WEEKLY interview, when she explained:

"I stand there and say, 'Father, I am in Your presence. I know I cannot leave Your presence.' Then I feel safe, and I can give freely of myself. I try to reach out with my songs to touch the people who are listening."

Peggy has been trying to understand how to feel this safety of God's presence for a long time. Born Norma Jean Egstrom in Jamestown, N. Dak., she was only five when her mother died. The children in the family were scattered among relatives and friends to grow up. "I was lonely and missed my mother terribly," Peggy says.

AS THE YEARS passed, the anxious and fear-haunted girl somehow got the idea she would like to be a professional singer. One day she bragged rashly to some of her school chums that she was "going out to Hollywood to sing."

"I never thought anybody would take me seriously," Peggy says. "But after they gave me a farewell party, I had no choice."

With $18 and one battered suitcase, she set off to conquer Hollywood—only to find that one can easily be lonely and jobless in the movie capital. Soon she was forced to return meekly to Jamestown.

Although she never expected it, it was North Dakota, not Hollywood, that gave Peggy her first real chance. The manager of a Fargo radio station liked her voice and gave her a job. He didn't like her name, however, and changed it to Peggy Lee.

Singing dates on other stations and in small hotels followed. It was a tough grind, but in the process the distinctive ballad style of Peggy Lee was developing. Finally, Benny Goodman, a musician with a reputation as a tough perfectionist, heard her and offered her a job. During the two years Peggy toured with his band, he shaped and sharpened her jazz style.

But despite Peggy's growing success, the loneliness and fears of her childhood still haunted her. "I was always extremely nervous and frightened when I sang," Peggy recalls.

The critical moment came in 1943, when she had her first chance to sing on network radio. As air time neared, she sat shivering in her New York hotel suite, her throat so choked and raw she could hardly talk.

Suddenly the distraught singer remembered a lecture she had heard just before leaving Los Angeles. A minister, Dr. Ernest Holmes, had spoken about the healing power of prayer. She phoned him and poured out her desperation to him. Dr. Holmes listened quietly, then answered: "Don't worry, Peggy. I'll pray for you. The power of God, through prayer, is available to everyone."

"Within two hours I was out of bed and the soreness seemed almost gone," Peggy says. "By show time, no one even knew I was sick."

After that, she consulted Dr. Holmes often, and his counsel strengthened her. In the years that followed, she was able to establish herself as one of the most successful vocalists in the country. Her recordings of "Mañana," "Why Don't You Do Right," "Lover," and "Fever" sold millions, and her current hit, "I'm a Woman," is well on its way to the top. In addition, she has become a successful lyricist, writing such songs as "It's a Good Day" and "Golden Earrings," and her dramatic performance in the movie, "Pete Kelly's Blues," won her an Oscar nomination.

Unfortunately, Peggy's singing success has not been matched by success in marriage.

WHILE WITH Benny Goodman, she fell in love with Dave Barbour, a composer-guitarist with the band. After they were married, they quit traveling and settled down in California, where together they wrote some of Peggy's best songs.

"I tried very hard to keep the love and closeness Dave and I had found," Peggy says. "I wanted our daughter Nikki to have a home with a mother and father, a blessing that I had never had. I was willing to give up my career for it."

But despite the affection that existed—and still exists—between Peggy and Dave, the marriage broke up in 1948. After that came brief marriages to actors Brad Dexter and Dewey Martin.

Peggy's troubled life—and the growing faith that helps to sustain her—seem to give a special intensity to her singing. It gets through to listeners, and they flock to hear her. As jazz critic Leonard Feather said, "If you don't feel a thrill when Peggy Lee sings, you're dead."

Dad's Lament
Call up my insurance agent,
Prepare him for bad news—
Daughter's out for the first time
In thin-heeled, pointed shoes!
—Anna Herbert

The youngster was doing his homework but was stymied by one question. He interrupted his father's reading of the evening newspaper. "Why bother me?" the father asked impatiently. "Why don't you ask your mother?"

"Oh," the boy replied, "I don't want to know that much about it!" —Dan Bennett

A labor leader was having trouble with his wife, and he went to an old associate to tell him his troubles. The associate listened to the whole story, then shook his head. "I'm sorry," he said, "but in this case, I simply have to agree with your wife."

"Good heavens," cried the labor leader, "I never thought you'd go over to management!" —James Shurluck

An irascible citizen approached a young politician after a civic meeting. "You bright young college boys in politics make me sick," said the old curmudgeon. "Why, I wouldn't vote for you if you were St. Peter."

"If I were St. Peter," the young politician replied politely, "you wouldn't be in my district." —Wilfred Beaver

General Taylor

The General's day begins at 6:45 with calisthenics, then a hearty breakfast. "We limit ourselves to two big meals and a diet supplement—we have to watch our weight," says Mrs. Taylor, whose "fighting weight" must hover at about 125 pounds.

When Taylor arrives at his large, paneled Pentagon office at 8:15, a red light flashes in all offices of the Chairman's area. In effect, it tells staff officers: "Stand by—the General may need you at any time." Overnight intelligence reports are on his desk for immediate study, and by 9:30 he is ready for a series of meetings.

On a typical day, there probably will be project officers, laden with charts and graphs, reporting on anything from Polaris missiles to infantry weaponry, from airborne transportation to Army organization. Eventually, these subjects will be taken up by the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Other meetings may involve briefings on the defense budget, France's reluctant role in NATO, and the effects of the Nassau agreement. These are problems which will be brought before Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara and the President.

One of the big questions that arose when the West Point four-star General returned to Washington was how he would get along with "Mr. Facts" McNamara of Big Business (see FAMILY WEEKLY, July 22, 1962) and the informal Harvard atmosphere of the New Frontier.

"Sure, it was 'Hi, Max' right from the start at the White House," says an aide. "But the General can match classical references and politico-economic philosophies with McGeorge Bundy right down the line, so that 'Hi, Max' had all the respect of a military 'Yes, sir.' And when he went out to Bobby Kennedy's for a weekend and gave them a tough time in tennis doubles—well, that did it!"

With McNamara, an outstanding relationship between soldier and civilian boss has developed. "They think alike," says an aide. "They store up facts like a computer and recall them almost as fast. Neither likes to be a 'captive of his briefer'—that is, to rely only on what an expert or a committee tells him. Each must know everything himself."

Lunch is light and preordered, and the General is back in his office in 30 minutes. He locks his door for a 20-minute nap, then has conferences until 6 or 7. During good weather, he may take an evening hour for tennis with an aide, then he is driven home with a brief case full of work.

AT HOME, the General sometimes greets Mrs. Taylor with: "It was another ulcer day," but that's as far as he goes with Pentagon affairs. ("I find," he explains, "that the women already know everything important.") The couple's deepest regret is that they rarely see their family: two grandchildren are in Bangkok with son Jack, and Tom is an officer in Germany with the Special Forces.

Part of the General's daily routine is a brisk walk through Arlington National Cemetery every morning. He passes the gravestones of Civil War dead, and a link is established with the cavalry stories of Jeb Stuart spun by his grandfather. Then he steps into a world of missiles and nuclear weapons. Yet there is always that bridge established between boy and grandfather, and it is summed up in words of Robert E. Lee, which Taylor frequently recalls:

"Do your duty in all things. You cannot do more; you should never wish to do less."

Maxwell Taylor

"Mr. Attack" Comes Back

LAST FALL, Pentagon shops did a rush business in two items: one, food for dieting, and the other, food for thought.

The latter was a book, "The Uncertain Trumpet," once a U.S. military dust collector; the former, a liquid dietary supplement for portly senior officers. The omens were unmistakable: "Mr. Attack" was coming back. General Maxwell Davenport Taylor, who likes his staff at "fighting weight" and his cold-war defenses "flexible," had quit the Pentagon as Army Chief of Staff in 1959 with some bitter words, but now he was returning—and as head man, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Why Taylor quit the U.S. military after 41 years of service, including thrilling cloak-and-dagger assignments and parachuting into Normandy on D-Day, makes quite a story. So does his comeback, and the man himself.

It begins around 1910 on a farm near Keyesville, Mo., with a boy from Kansas City visiting his grandfather, a Confederate veteran. "You're too small for pitchin' hay" said Milton Davenport, viewing the nine-year-old, "so I'd better tell you some stories." He then began telling about soldiering in the West during the Civil War. The youngster was awed. When he returned to school, he was asked to fill out an information form, including his name and life's ambition.

"Maxwell D. Taylor," he wrote, "Major General, United States Army."

That ambition never waned, though it encountered some disapproval from the boy's father, John Earle Taylor, an attorney. When the U.S. entered World War I, 17-year-old Maxwell decided it was time for action.

"I came home one evening," he recalled recently, "and announced: 'I've just registered for the draft. I lied about my age. I'm going to be a soldier.' When my father came around to believing it, he offered only one alternative.

" 'If you must go into service,' he told me, 'at least try for Annapolis or West Point.' That's what I wanted in the first place, so I agreed."

How the Navy Lost an Admiral

Annapolis tests came up shortly afterward. Taylor had no chance to study, and he failed the geography part of the exam. "I didn't know where the Strait of Malacca was," he says. (It's between Sumatra and Malaya, of course.) "Since then, I have flown over it many times, and I always look down and think: 'If I'd known you were there, I might have been an admiral today.' "

Taylor took the West Point exams at the same time, passed them readily, as they included no geography, and was graduated fourth in the class of 1922 and described as "most learned" in the yearbook.

It was at West Point that he met Lydia Gardner Happer, daughter of an El Paso, Texan transplanted to Virginia. Lydia Happer was soft-spoken, petite, and retiring, but at a West Point dance she stood out glaringly—an Annapolis midshipman escorted her. Cadet Taylor resolved

The Seven Secrets of Prayer

At Easter, a noted religious writer offers helpful advice concerning an often-misunderstood subject

By WILL OURSLER

EASTER IS A TIME when churches are thronged with millions who come to worship, to rejoice, to pray. It is a time when prayer and its implications are brought into sudden, sharp focus.

In my research and writing on religion, I have explored these implications and have compiled what I call the seven basic secrets—one could call them techniques—of prayer. I would like to share them with you.

1. Prayer is not a question but an answer.

A young woman came to me not long ago in deep distress and anger. "I poured out my heart to God in prayer," she said. "I told Him all my problems. I asked for guidance—and absolutely nothing has changed!"

"But did you take time," I asked, "to listen to His answer?" She seemed startled. Further discussion revealed clearly she had not. She had been so intent on pouring out all her questions that she had failed to hear God's word to her.

We pray in affirmation and adoration; we seek His will for us, knowing that it is all good. And the prompting comes within us, in the morning of quiet, in the silence. Listen—for the answer is there.

2. Prayer is not a demand but a promise.

Promise of what? A promise to seek not for ourselves alone but rather to be channels of God's purpose.

One man prayed that he could be instrumental in ridding a neighbor woman of her brutish, drunken husband. One night when the husband was in a rage, the neighbor stormed into the house, threatened to thrash the husband, and told him, "I'm praying to God that she can get rid of you so I can marry her and give her some happiness."

Those knife-edged words ripped through the husband's alcoholic haze. The result was extraordinary; in the days that followed, the man began to reclaim himself and his marriage. The neighbor eventually moved to another part of town, without understanding how his prayer could possibly have resulted in this victory—for the husband.

3. Prayer is both a petition and a repenting.

At a party, a group of young "intellectuals" were discussing repentance. Several insisted that they had nothing to repent. An older man asked, "You mean you never did a thing you wanted to tell somebody you were sorry for?"

To tell somebody we're sorry! There are guilts that we pile up on ourselves, little items and big; these are the burdens that we seek to have lifted from us in our prayers.

4. Prayer involves awareness.

We must be aware that God's will for us is always the will of love, and we must realize that through Him even the impossible is possible.

During World War II, a friend of mine was shot down in the South Pacific. He and his crew were on a raft, trying to get back to an American-held island. It was night and moonless. Although they prayed the brief, silent prayers of such moments, rescue seemed beyond hope. Yet my friend was sure he would be rescued; someone would come, as friends had come back home on his farm in Alabama whenever he needed help.

They heard a plane, and by the engines they knew it was one of ours. Someone had a cigarette lighter. When the plane came closer, he lit it—and the night-flying amphibious patrol plane came down and made the rescue.

After my friend was taken aboard the rescue plane, he discovered that the pilot was an old school chum from back home in Alabama!

5. Prayer is most effective when it is offered for others.

Theologians warn that such prayers should never be used as a substitute for our own charitable actions—nor as a means of imposing our ideas or secret desires or judgments on someone else. But selflessly offered, intercessory prayer for others works miracles. In his A Primer of Prayer, Charles Laymon says, "It is love that gives significance to all praying, especially when we are lifting up others to God."

6. We should have a place apart for our regular prayers.

It may be a corner of our home or garden, or it may be in a church or temple when other people are not there in large numbers.

What is important is that it be a place to which you go; that it require a certain action, a definite active step toward God in going there, in bowing your head, in consecrating yourself.

7. Effective prayer is possible, particularly in emergency, under any conditions.

We can be in contact with the Infinite any time and any place. But the reaching out to God cannot be flippant or offhand; it cannot be a casual conversation en route from the hairdresser to the cocktail lounge. It must be deeply, earnestly, completely meant.

An intern in a New York hospital goes from bed to bed down the long aisle of the hospital ward each night and prays beside each bed. He tells no one in the hospital of this.

How much good he achieves cannot be measured. But he knows, as he has told me, that his prayers are heard.

A ticket vendor at a circus may pray effectively—so may a night-club dancer or an alcoholic on Skid Row. When a prayer is offered as a sacred thing, it does not go unheard.

Prayer in its highest state is communion with God. It is not asking nor demanding nor petitioning nor seeking. It is a listening, it is a welcoming of the Holy Spirit in ourselves, it is opening ourselves to the eternal response of His Kingdom.

All that we need, all that is right for us stems from this communion which is ours in prayer.

Blow the Ball! By Tom Jones

Humpty-Dumpty Right Side Up

By Erika

Here's how to make a Humpty-Dumpty Egg who not only doesn't fall but even rolls back up on end when you tilt him!

With a large darning needle, carefully puncture two holes in the top and bottom of an egg. Blow into one end as if you were blowing up a balloon, until the yolk and white have been forced out the other end. Run clear water through the shell until it is clean inside.

Let it dry, then neatly seal the larger end with a piece of transparent tape. Now fill the egg about one-third full of sand (funneled in through the top), and neatly seal that hole, too.

Test your Humpty-Dumpty by giving it a gentle push with one finger and see what happens.

SARAKA SOLVES THE PROBLEM OF "AFTER 45" IRREGULARITY

Doctor-approved bulk stimulant helps keep you comfortably on schedule as no ordinary laxative can!

As we grow older, our systems may often need outside aid to help maintain a normal regularity pattern. Continued use of strong drug laxatives can be irritating, even dangerous. That's why many doctors recommend SARAKA, the pure, all-vegetable bulk stimulant laxative for middle age and over. SARAKA supplies the moist, bland bulk that is so essential to healthy bowel function. And only SARAKA has a gentle stimulant action to help ease this bulk through your system plus Vitamin B1.

Special note to weight watchers: Lack of sufficient bulk in 900 calorie liquids can lead to constipation. If this occurs, supplement your daily diet with all-vegetable SARAKA.

Peggy Lee's Search for Success

By MARYA SAUNDERS and BOB GAINES

BEFORE EVERY performance, Peggy Lee closes her eyes and recites a special prayer.

Because these silent moments mean so much to her, she is reluctant to talk about them. The only thing she ever has revealed came out during this FAMILY WEEKLY interview, when she explained:

"I stand there and say, 'Father, I am in Your presence. I know I cannot leave Your presence.' Then I feel safe, and I can give freely of myself. I try to reach out with my songs to touch the people who are listening."

Peggy has been trying to understand how to feel this safety of God's presence for a long time. Born Norma Jean Egstrom in Jamestown, N. Dak., she was only five when her mother died. The children in the family were scattered among relatives and friends to grow up. "I was lonely and missed my mother terribly," Peggy says.

AS THE YEARS passed, the anxious and fear-haunted girl somehow got the idea she would like to be a professional singer. One day she bragged rashly to some of her school chums that she was "going out to Hollywood to sing."

"I never thought anybody would take me seriously," Peggy says. "But after they gave me a farewell party, I had no choice."

With $18 and one battered suitcase, she set off to conquer Hollywood—only to find that one can easily be lonely and jobless in the movie capital. Soon she was forced to return meekly to Jamestown.

Although she never expected it, it was North Dakota, not Hollywood, that gave Peggy her first real chance. The manager of a Fargo radio station liked her voice and gave her a job. He didn't like her name, however, and changed it to Peggy Lee.

Singing dates on other stations and in small hotels followed. It was a tough grind, but in the process the distinctive ballad style of Peggy Lee was developing. Finally, Benny Goodman, a musician with a reputation as a tough perfectionist, heard her and offered her a job. During the two years Peggy toured with his band, he shaped and sharpened her jazz style.

But despite Peggy's growing success, the loneliness and fears of her childhood still haunted her. "I was always extremely nervous and frightened when I sang," Peggy recalls.

The critical moment came in 1943, when she had her first chance to sing on network radio. As air time neared, she sat shivering in her New York hotel suite, her throat so choked and raw she could hardly talk.

Suddenly the distraught singer remembered a lecture she had heard just before leaving Los Angeles. A minister, Dr. Ernest Holmes, had spoken about the healing power of prayer. She phoned him and poured out her desperation to him. Dr. Holmes listened quietly, then answered: "Don't worry, Peggy. I'll pray for you. The power of God, through prayer, is available to everyone."

"Within two hours I was out of bed and the soreness seemed almost gone," Peggy says. "By show time, no one even knew I was sick."

After that, she consulted Dr. Holmes often, and his counsel strengthened her. In the years that followed, she was able to establish herself as one of the most successful vocalists in the country. Her recordings of "Mañana," "Why Don't You Do Right," "Lover," and "Fever" sold millions, and her current hit, "I'm a Woman," is well on its way to the top. In addition, she has become a successful lyricist, writing such songs as "It's a Good Day" and "Golden Earrings," and her dramatic performance in the movie, "Pete Kelly's Blues," won her an Oscar nomination.

Unfortunately, Peggy's singing success has not been matched by success in marriage.

WHILE WITH Benny Goodman, she fell in love with Dave Barbour, a composer-guitarist with the band. After they were married, they quit traveling and settled down in California, where together they wrote some of Peggy's best songs.

"I tried very hard to keep the love and closeness Dave and I had found," Peggy says. "I wanted our daughter Nikki to have a home with a mother and father, a blessing that I had never had. I was willing to give up my career for it."

But despite the affection that existed—and still exists—between Peggy and Dave, the marriage broke up in 1948. After that came brief marriages to actors Brad Dexter and Dewey Martin.

Peggy's troubled life—and the growing faith that helps to sustain her—seem to give a special intensity to her singing. It gets through to listeners, and they flock to hear her. As jazz critic Leonard Feather said, "If you don't feel a thrill when Peggy Lee sings, you're dead."

From "obsolescent general" to our No. 1 soldier—here's an intimate glimpse of the pivotal man in the Pentagon

By JACK RYAN

to change this permanently and figured fate was on his side when he learned only 30 minutes separated them in age. ("A fact he never lets me forget," Mrs. Lydia Taylor says nowadays.) Nevertheless, fate took its time. Or as Mrs. Taylor puts it: "It was many boy friends and girl friends later before we married."

For many ambitious young officers, the Army of the '30s meant mostly slow promotions, unexciting posts, and seeming stagnation. But not for the Taylors. Mrs. Taylor recalls only one major disadvantage: "In 37 years, we made 31 moves. When our sons, Jack and Tom, were young, this was particularly bad. The younger, Tom, went to eight schools in four years."

Taylor waited five years for his first promotion, and it wasn't until 1935 that he was made captain. The years weren't wasted, though. The intellectual qualities recognized at West Point were being finely honed. Taylor became a postgraduate of several Army "think" schools, and military tours took him throughout the world. For relaxation, he continued studies in the classics.

World War II and the Big Action

In those years, he had held only one command post. When we entered World War II, however, Major Taylor lost no time in finding an outfit—and action.

As a division chief of staff and later a brigadier general, he helped develop our first airborne force and went into the Sicilian and Italian campaigns as artillery commander of the 82nd Airborne Division. On Sept. 7, 1943, he met a history-making test. The Italians had earlier signed a surrender, and within 48 hours some 2,000 American airborne troops were scheduled to seize Rome from the German garrison. One question plagued General Eisenhower: could this force take the Eternal City by surprise? The man sent to find out was Brig. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, accompanied by Col. William T. Gardiner of the Air Corps.

By corvette, PT boat, and curtained ambulance, the two were smuggled into Rome to confer with Marshal Badoglio about Italian support. Taylor realized now that help was imperative: he had seen the Germans strengthening the Rome garrison. But the Italians were uncertain. They wanted more time. Each procrastination brought the airborne troops closer to H-hour.

Even today Taylor says: "It was the toughest decision of my career. First, because I wanted to take the Eternal City with airborne troops. But second, because it was my decision alone—no advisers, reports, staff discussions. Mine alone."

The decision made, Taylor radioed two prearranged words to Eisenhower: "Situation innocuous." Within hours of take-off, Taylor had killed the daring plan, and 2,000 Americans had been saved from a disastrous drop.

General Eisenhower has said: "The risks (General Taylor) ran were greater than I asked any other agent or emissary to undertake during the war—he carried weighty responsibilities and discharged them with unerring judgment, and every minute he was in imminent danger of discovery and death."

Eight months later, Taylor was the do-it-yourself commander of the 101st Airborne Division parachuting into France six hours before the main D-Day landings at Utah Beach. Fog and winds dispersed his men, and he found himself alone in black alien countryside. He recalls:

"After 20 minutes of prowling around and playing cops and robbers with the Germans, I heard someone moving on the other side of the hedgerow—German or American? Then I heard a little click-click (the division's recognition signal). I gave a click-click in return. We met at the corner of the hedge. No soldier ever looked more beautiful than that tough paratrooper private with his M-1 rifle, bayonet fixed."

Taylor soon rounded up about 70 men. Unfortunately, most were majors, colonels, and one general, McAuliffe. "We had a lot of rank but nobody to go out with M-1 rifles and chase Germans," Taylor says ruefully. "Never were so few led by so many." Nevertheless, by dawn this strange force was on the move; it took its first objective, Pouppeville, on schedule, and the 101st was on its way to one of the most outstanding divisional records of the war.

Mrs. Taylor recalls another momentous day. "The General had returned to Washington at General Marshall's order to see some new troop-carrying planes. It was Christmas, 1944, and we were looking forward to a family get-together. Then we heard that the 101st had been surrounded at Bastogne by the German breakthrough. The General became deeply distressed. 'I must rejoin them,' he kept saying. But because of the weather there was trouble getting a plane, and we reminded him about the family get-together. 'I have 10,000 sons over there,' he said."

A Simple Case of Bravery

Taylor wheedled a transatlantic flight, intending to parachute into the besieged 101st area. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith refused permission as "too dangerous," so Taylor commandeered a jeep and driver and found an open road through the battle lines. "It was a hairy drive," says one of his longtime aides. "Either side could have blasted him—but what the devil, if you can't do things like that, you shouldn't be in this business."

After the war, there was distinguished service in Berlin, West Point, and Korea. West Point remembers him as a commandant who recharged the academic atmosphere for cadets and trimmed down faculty fat. In the gymnasium, he had installed a scale and sign: "This scale is to remind the officers at West Point that a potbelly cannot lead the Corps of Cadets."

The sign is not visible at the Pentagon today, but the idea is, hence the crowded gym and the pack of dietary food near most desks.

In June, 1955, Taylor was appointed Army Chief of Staff, fought the continuous battle of Washington—and suffered his first defeat. On one side was a group, led by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, which advocated massive retaliation as our best defense. The "big bang" philosophers believed that if we concentrated on building a huge nuclear arsenal, nobody would dare attack us. Taylor acknowledged the importance of nuclear weapons but felt we were putting all our eggs in one basket. What good was an A-bomb in guerrilla warfare? Or an H-bomb in brush-fire wars? If an ally asked our aid against a Communist revolution, were we going to drop a nuclear device on the country?

After four years of "the usual 4-to-1 split against me," Taylor quit the Joint Chiefs of Staff with this farewell to arms: "My success has been definitely limited. I can do only one more thing for the cause—withdraw an obsolescent general from the military inventory."

Today Taylor says, "I meant what I said then—under those conditions I was indeed obsolete. And if those conditions existed today, I would have to do the same. But the climate is different here now."

After retirement, Taylor put his views into the book, "The Uncertain Trumpet." They were read by an impressed Sen. John F. Kennedy. When, as President, Mr. Kennedy found himself in trouble over the aborted Bay of Pigs invasion, he appointed Taylor Special Military Adviser to the White House. Last October, Mr. Kennedy named him Chairman of the Joint Chiefs, just in time to join the celebrated executive committee on the Cuban crisis. On a table in Taylor's home is a gift from the President, a sterling silver calendar of October, 1962, with the days of crisis in black.

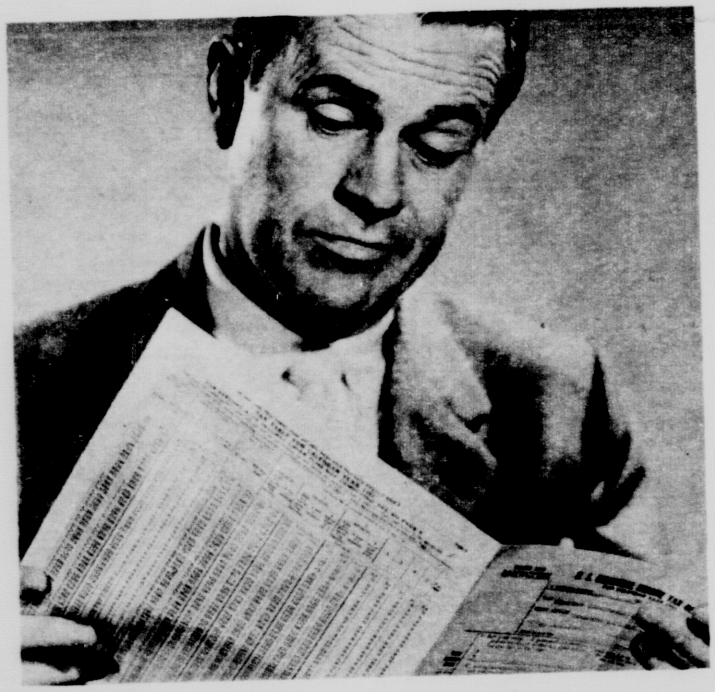
Happy Birthday, Income-Tax Man

By JERRY KLEIN



Tomorrow is the deadline for filing your return; don't send a 50th anniversary card—just money

NO DANCING in the streets, please, but this is the Golden Anniversary of that golden institution, American income tax.

Uncle Sam's collector of internal revenue doesn't expect you to mail him a Happy Anniversary card, of course. Just your 1962 return and, if necessary, the full payment due—and you'd better have it in the mail by midnight April 15, or he'll be terribly upset.

It was in 1913, "after a generation of agitation and effort," that the 16th Amendment was ratified, making income taxes a Constitutional—and apparently permanent—fixture on the American scene. To be sure, we had taxed income a few times previously, but the Supreme Court had ruled out the levy.

Those pre-World War I taxpayers dwelled in paradise and didn't know it. They had to fork over from 1 to 7 percent of their earnings. Today's Social Security tax alone is higher than that.

As the Internal Revenue Service puts it, the income tax has since "changed its morning coat for overalls." About 62 million Americans file returns these days and ante up some $50 billion a year, compared with the $28 million "contributed" half-a-century back. In 1913 only one in 30 citizens filed a return, and persons earning more than $100,000 accounted for three-fourths of the total collected.

There were plenty of opponents to the Constitutional Amendment introduced during the first Wilson administration. They pointed overseas and said we would become "as decadent as Europeans" if we paid taxes, that our whole moral fiber would collapse, that our independence would be sold in the market place.

But income tax was born and has been growing ever since—not without continued opposition, however, from bent but unbowed enemies. Even the collector of internal revenue under the Eisenhower administration got into the act a couple of years ago. T. Coleman Andrews, after several years of enforcing the nation's tax laws, called for repeals on the basis that they were among the most inflationary of all evils besetting the shrinking dollar.

A former Utah governor, J. Bracken Lee, adamantly refused to pay part of his 1955 income tax because he objected to the money being used for foreign aid. The revenue agents simply attached his bank account for the remaining taxes. Undaunted, Lee went to the U.S. Supreme Court, but the Court wouldn't even let him file a suit. Like many a taxpayer who has fought a noble but losing battle with the tax man, Governor Lee packed his gear and concluded: "I'm goin' fishin'."

FAMOUS TAX BATTLERS don't really give up, though. Viewers of the defunct television show, "The $64,000 Question," may remember Vivien Kellems, owner of a factory in Stonington, Conn. She chose the tax category and promptly got into an argument with the master of ceremonies, claiming his charts were wrong.

When finally she was cajoled into answering a question, the m.c. declared her wrong. "I am not," Miss Kellems replied and refused to leave the stage.

It was only after some conferring that Miss Kellems was ushered away from the tv cameras, with the m.c. perspiring as many a tax man had before under Miss Kellems' obduracy. But while she never has had the last word with the tax man, she got it on tv. As the m.c. flashed a toothy though rather wan smile, her voice could be heard off stage:

"You're still wrong!"

Another battle that is as old as the income tax is the one between loophole seekers and Government loophole pluggers. Even into the 1930s, a tycoon like J. P. Morgan was able to find legalistic loopholes to avoid paying his taxes. That's not so easy nowadays, but people still try.

One imaginative American—an undertaker—listed his personal grocery bill as a deduction on grounds that his wife met potential customers while shopping. Another tried to charge off a swimming pool as "a scientific experiment in water purification."

Ingenious is the word for the stamp collector who bought $2,700 worth of rare specimens and tried to charge them off to his business' postage account. And let's not overlook the housewife who deducted $500 as a bad debt. "I know that debt won't ever be paid," she explained, "because I owe it myself. I haven't paid any of it for two years, and I don't intend to!"

On the other hand, Uncle Sam doesn't always emulate Simon Legree at income-tax time; he can be sweetly reasonable, too. For example, he allowed one company to deduct $187,417 to maintain a hunting lodge for customers. He permitted another firm to charge off $253,035 for operating a yacht.

This April 15th still finds many forces of tax reform and reduction clashing in Washington and the national debt continuing to climb despite our income-tax load. The country's red-ink-filled pen now is hovering above the $300 billion mark.

That's quite a larger tab than we had in George Washington's day, when a prosperous New Englander named James Swan generously paid our entire national debt out of his own pocket—slightly more than $2 million. Never shall Uncle Sam look upon his likes again!

Report Urged In Red Cross Fund Effort

With 75 per cent of the $16,084 goal achieved to date, the city Red Cross Fund drive is lagging far behind the planned solicitation schedule.

Campaign leaders attributed the lull to lack of worker-reports from the Business and the Professional Divisions and urged the co-operation of volunteers in completing their assignments and reporting promptly to campaign headquarters. The drive began March 1.

Frank Potts, drive chairman, and assistant chairmen, Walter Kimbro and John Parsons, appealed for completion of campaign activities.

"Our evaluation of progress indicates that we have achieved 75 per cent of the $16,084 goal. Our receipts, in cash or pledges, are $12,068. We are sure that our campaign goal can be met if each drive division leader will contact workers and urge them to complete their rounds and turn in reports promptly," they said.

Potts reminded that a Red Cross volunteer will be sent to pick up gifts from any donor who may have been missed in the regular canvass.

"Phone Red Cross headquarters, 385-4144 or 385-4195, and a worker will call immediately for your gift," they said.

Of the receipts thus far, the Special Gifts Division has achieved 93 per cent of its unit quota with collections totalling $5,962. All areas of the House-to-House Division have now been reported, with a total of $1,620 turned in About $200 has been received from a mail appeal to clubs and organizations — and the Salineville Division has reached 70 per cent of its quota with collections of $240 reported.

Lagging are the Business and the Professional Divisions. The latter unit has only reported collections of $738 or about 42 per cent of the division quota. The Business Division, with a quota of $5,800, stands at 57 per cent reporting collections of $3,308.

Low Bid Submitted For New Bus Fleet

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Flxible Co. of Loudonville was the apparent low bidder Friday on a fleet of 65 new diesel buses for the Cleveland Transit System to cost more than $1.6 million.

Flxible underbid General Motors Corp. by more than $400 a coach—or about $28,000 lower on the entire package—but Donald C. Hyde, CTS general manager, hinted Flxible may not get the contract because of other considerations.

Hyde said he hoped to have a recommendation for awarding the contract by Thursday morning when the full CTS board meets. He said experience in the cost of operation over the long haul would be one item to be considered.

Flxible bid $25,515 for each of the regular buses and $25.942 for five with high-speed special transmissions.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Shy Boy A Show-Off Before Adults

A mother writing from Michigan of her son, five, describes him both as timid and as a show-off: "When I am around with other adults he shows off and if not stopped quite soon becomes wild, jumps, swirls on the floor, talks very loud, swaggers and answers questions with a very adult, 'Sure, sure,' or 'Why not?' and will do the twist or any other dance. "At kindergarten (Sunday school) he is quiet and will not join in of his own free will. If it is free time he will not play, but watch. He laughs at the funny things the children do or smiles when he watches them play girls' games like house or dolls.

"HE NOW VOLUNTEERS and talks to just the teacher but not during class period, only when they are alone together. He has been going for about 1½ years. When he first started he would just sit quietly on a bench and not join in, answer, talk or anything at all.

"When he is with his neighborhood friends he follows nearly the same pattern. At home he tells them what to do, how to use things, proper ways to read a book, such as 'You start in the front!!!' This is not to little children but to six and eight or nine-year-olds.

"The only children about his age are a little girl 2½ and one 4½. These he tries to pick up, gives them stuffed animals to play with and lets them drink out of baby doll bottles. He'll then tell me they're nice little kids.

"He will play with them in an emergency but wants to play with the kids 'his age', ten and eleven years old. At their homes he is quiet or spends time with the adults of the family he visits.

"HE ALSO HAS two make-believe friends that are starting to worry me. About the time he was three he got them. The names I know he took from a book, Molly, Pete and Ginger.

"The things that they do (and he with them) is what surprises me. Sometimes they are his children or his parents or brother and sister. Their dog Ginger is nice, or dead, or bad or a million other things. He is an only child. The problem is wildness when with me in public and reticence in school."

My reply in part: You need to help that little child get satisfaction from playing with children of his own age. You see, he can manage his make - believe friends and the much older children defer to him. Also, he can get the attention of adults.

Go with him to where there's another child or two about his age and attract some children of his age to your home — one or two at a time; more later. While he is with these other children, you can study your child and find ways to guide him to be a better playmate.

WHEN ADULTS drop in and he gets excited and shows off, just send him to another room for 20 minutes or half an hour. Perhaps he would enjoy taking the wraps of adult guests or helping serve refreshments.

I'm sure you need to provide this child with a more serene family atmosphere with quiet voices and the TV and radio silent most of the time, with no programs of violence. I hope Dad will read to him and make things with him.

If you don't see improvement after a month or so, it might be well to get in touch with a psychiatrist or a child guidance clinic.

My bulletins "The Child Is Shy" and "The Show-Off Child," may be secured by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Three Nurses Attend Rites, Escape Injury

CINCINNATI (AP)—Three nurses at General Hospital escaped possible injury Friday because they attended Good Friday services.

Albert Enderle, acting fire marshal, said an electric spark set off an explosion among highly inflammable vapors in a pathology laboratory's refrigerator. The explosion hurled the refrigerator door 18 feet and caused an estimated $450 damage. A doctor who was in the laboratory during the explosion was not hurt.

Fatally Injured

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Archie W. Shultz, 75, of Rt. 3, Columbia City, Ind., was fatally injured Friday in an auto-truck collision at the junction of Ohio 49 and 49-A about nine miles south of here. Her husband was listed in satisfactory condition at Miami Valley Hospital in Dayton.

CAKES OF QUALITY

Family Weekly Cookbook
MELANIE DE PROFT, Food Editor

Cherry-Banana Sponge Cake

1 1-lb. can pitted dark sweet cherries, drained (reserve sirup)
2 tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons apricot preserve
⅛ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 cup chilled whipping cream
¼ cup confectioners' sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
½ teaspoon almond extract
4 medium-sized all-yellow bananas
2 tablespoons orange juice
2 9-in. sponge cake layers (see recipe)

1. Add enough water to cherry sirup to yield 1 cup. Stir a small amount of the sirup into cornstarch in a saucepan; blend until smooth. Mix in apricot preserve. Add remaining cherry sirup and salt; bring to boiling and boil 3 min., stirring constantly. Stir in lemon peel and cherries (reserve about 12 for garnish); cool and chill.

2. Just before assembling cake, whip cream until soft peaks are formed; with final few strokes, blend in the confectioners' sugar and extracts. Set in refrigerator.

3. Cut three of the bananas in half crosswise; slice each half lengthwise into 3 or 4 petals; drizzle with orange juice.

4. Slice remaining banana into ¼-in. slices and mix into cherry filling.

One 9-in. filled layer cake

Burnt-Sugar Cake

GOOD FOR FREEZING

3 cups sifted cake flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1½ cups sugar
3 eggs, well beaten
⅓ cup cooled burnt-sugar sirup*
¾ cup milk

1. Lightly grease (bottoms only) two 9-in. round layer cake pans; line bottoms with waxed paper and grease paper; set aside.

2. Blend together the flour, baking powder, and salt. Set aside.

3. Cream butter and extract. Add sugar gradually, creaming well after each addition.

4. Add eggs in thirds, beating thoroughly after each addition.

5. Combine the burnt-sugar sirup with the milk, stirring until thoroughly blended. Alternately add dry ingredients in fourths and milk mixture in thirds to creamed mixture, beating only until blended after each addition. Turn into pans.

6. Bake at 350°F 30 to 35 min., or until cake tester inserted in center of each layer comes out clean.

7. Remove from oven to cooling racks and cool 10 min. Remove from pans, peel off paper, and cool completely.

8. Fill and frost cake with Burnt-Sugar Frosting. Sprinkle top with chopped toasted pecans, if desired.

One 9-in. layer cake

Burnt-Sugar Frosting

6 tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ teaspoons vanilla extract
3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
Few grains salt
2 tablespoons cream
½ cup cooled burnt-sugar sirup*

1. Cream butter and extract until softened.

2. Add sugar with salt gradually, beating well after each addition. Gradually add a mixture of the cream and burnt-sugar sirup, beating until frosting is creamy and of spreading consistency.

Enough to fill and frost a 9-in. two-layer cake

Burnt-Sugar Sirup (about 1½ cups)—Heat 2 cups sugar in a heavy, light-colored skillet over low heat; using back of wooden spoon, gently keep sugar moving toward center of skillet until melted. Heat until a rich brown and foam appears. Remove from heat and very gradually add 1½ cups boiling water, stirring constantly. Return to heat and stir until bubbles are the size of dimes, about 5 min. Cool completely. (Store sirup, covered, in refrigerator.)

Old-Fashioned Molasses Cake

GOOD FOR FREEZING

Top this cake with a creamy butter frosting or a sprinkling of confectioners' sugar. Serve with fragrant hot coffee and vanilla ice cream.

4½ cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon baking soda
1½ teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon ground cinnamon
1½ teaspoons ground ginger
¾ teaspoon ground cloves
¾ cup butter
¾ cup sugar
1½ cups light molasses
3 eggs, well beaten
1½ cups hot water

1. Grease (bottom only) a 13x9½x2-in. pan.

2. Blend together the first seven ingredients.

3. Cream butter until softened; add sugar gradually, creaming until fluffy. Blend in molasses.

4. Stir in ½ cup of the flour mixture. Add eggs in thirds, beating well after each addition.

5. Alternately add the remaining flour mixture in fourths and hot water in thirds, beating only until smooth after each addition. Turn into pan.

6. Bake at 350°F 50 min., or until cake tests done. Cool completely.

One 13x9-in. cake

Hot Milk Sponge Cake

1 cup sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
3 eggs, well beaten
1 cup sugar
2 or 3 teaspoons lemon juice
6 tablespoons hot milk (do not boil)

1. Blend first three ingredients; set aside.

2. Add sugar gradually to the beaten eggs, beating well after each addition. Mix in lemon juice.

3. Sift dry ingredients over egg mixture about one-fourth at a time; gently fold in until just blended after each addition.

4. Add hot milk all at one time and quickly mix just until smooth. Turn batter into two 9-in. round layer cake pans (do not grease).

5. Bake at 375°F about 15 min., or until cake surface springs back when lightly touched. Invert cake pans and rest on edges of two cooling racks; let cake hang in pan until cool. Remove from pans.

Guarantee money for college?

How?

With your life insurance . . . and the help your agent is trained to give you!

YOU: That's a pretty big promise. How's it possible?

YOUR LIFE INSURANCE AGENT: You simply use any policies that have cash values—as a way of putting money aside for your children's education.

YOU: And then what?

AGENT: Well, as you know, these cash values in your policies increase, year by year, as you pay your premiums. When college days arrive you can use this money, if you need to, for tuition and other expenses.

YOU: But why do it with life insurance? There are lots of other ways I could save the money.

AGENT: Sure, if you're positive that you'll live to save it. With life insurance you know the full amount will be there—even if you're not.

YOU: I never thought of it that way. The money really is guaranteed, isn't it?

A's Rakow Gives Only 2 Safeties

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

"I'm a darned sight more concerned about this club scoring some runs than I am about dissension," said Walt Alston, mild-mannered manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

He had better be. The Dodgers may not be hit by dissension, but on the other hand, they're not hitting.

Alston made his remarks about dissension reports before the Dodgers took the field against Houston and rapped Dick Farrell for four hits and one run in 12 innings as the Colts squeezed out a 2-1 victory Friday night.

In the only other game scheduled Friday, Kansas City's Ed Rakow allowed only two hits as the A's won their first game, 6-0 over Minnesota. The Colts' victory also was their first.

The low-hit performances by Rakow and Farrell were the eighth and ninth this season in which pitchers have allowed four hits or less. There have been a one-hitter, 3 two-hitters, 2 three-hitters and 3 four-hitters.

The Dodgers, meanwhile, were still trying to find out how to score runs when they left the field at Houston after the tight struggle that for eight innings remained a pitchers' battle between two of the game's biggest losers, Farrell and Bob Miller.

Farrell, 10-20 last season and a loser in the Colts opener, and newly-acquired Miller, 1-12 last year with the New York Mets, were hooked up in a scoreless duel until Miller left in the eighth when the Colts threatened.

The Dodgers scored first, pushing across a run in the top of the ninth on Frank Howard's run-scoring single, but the Colts tied it in their half on Carl Warwick's single.

Then, in the 12th, Howie Goss, recently acquired from Pittsburgh and hitting .444, wrapped the game up for Farrell. Goss, who beat out three infield singles while failing to get the ball out of the infield in five previous trips to the plate, came up with the bases loaded and lashed an Ed Roebuck pitch down the third base line, sending Al Spangler across with the deciding run.

100-Lap Feature Set For Canfield Opener April 20

A 100-lap new car race will feature opening night April 20 at the Canfield Speedway. Race time at the Canfield track is 8:30 with time trials at 7.

That afternoon, the annual open house will be staged for amateurs and late models. A MARC representative will be on hand to explain 1963 rules and to accept membership and issue car numbers.

Drivers will be given a chance to try out their cars on the quarter-mile track from noon to 4 p. m.

Ewbank Slated As Titan Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — Officially, it's still a bit iffy, but unofficially it seems certain that Weeb Ewbank will become the new coach and general manager of the New York Titans of the American Football League.

David (Sonny) Werblin, head of the five-man syndicate which has taken over control of the once-bankrupt team, has called a press conference for Monday, apparently to make the formal announcement.

"The contract hasn't been signed," a spokesman for the club said Friday, "but we have reason to believe that is will be."

It has been rumored for several weeks that Ewbank, former coach of the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League, would take over the Titans. Jimmy Cannon wrote in the New York Journal-American that Ewbank came to terms Thursday night.

The American League had ten 20-game winners in 1920, as many as it has had in the past six years put together.

Ex-Pitching Great Issues Some Advice

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One of baseball's great left-handed pitchers, Rube Marquard, says the Los Angeles Angels' two pitching prima donnas, Bo Belinsky and Dean Chance, should duck the night life crowd.

"I'm afraid these two young men don't realize that they're just throwing their money away in the night spots," said the former New York Giant star, as he chatted with Angel General Manager Fred Haney.

"When they can't win regularly, and it always happens to those who follow the night life crowd, they'll find that these associates will drop them. They'll wonder later why their salary was cut.

"Why, there's so much money to be made in baseball these days that it is surprising that pitchers with talent like theirs can't seem to realize it."

Chance, who won 14 games as a rookie last year for the Angels, was bombed out in his first start against the Boston Red Sox, and Belinsky lost to the Chicago White Sox Thursday night, although he allowed only four hits in his six innings. The Angels have fined both pitchers for curfew violations.

"I started in baseball at 17," said Marquard, now 73, who won 19 straight games for the Giants in 1912. "I made up my mind at the start that nothing would stand in my way. I pitched for a man who really put you through the mill—John McGraw."

Marquard won 73 games for McGraw between 1911 and 1913.

Canadian Team Tops ABC Booster Section

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A Canadian team, making its first appearance in an American Bowling Congress Tournament, stood atop the booster division today with 2,865.

The Royal Hotel team of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., took the division lead Friday night from Andrea's TV of San Juan. The Puerto Ricans fired 2,815 Wednesday.

Eddie Sachetti led the Canadians with a 610 series.

The booster division is for teams averaging 850 or less.

There were no other changes among division leaders. The 10-week tournament has two weeks left.

Scotland Yard Probes Nuclear Secret Leak

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard began a search today to find out who leaked Britain's nuclear survival secrets to ban-the-bomb marchers. Authorities admitted it was another major security breakdown.

The country's hush-hush plans for keeping going in event of a nuclear attack were handed out as a pamphlet Friday to some 10,000 persons marching the 50 miles from Aldermaston, near Oxford, to London. The annual march from a nuclear research center to the capital is intended to dramatize demands that Britain strip itself of nuclear arms.

Davis Crowned NFL Punt Champ

Final statistics released by the league show Davis kicking 48 times for an average of 45.6, just grabbing the title from Los Angeles' Danny Villanueva. The Rams kicker punted 87 times for a 45. average.

Sam Baker of Dallas was third with a 45.4 average, followed by Detroit's Yale Lary at 45.3.

Pilot Escapes Serious Injury In Plane Crash

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A single-engine plane apparently ran out of gas and crashed Friday night six miles northeast of the Toledo Airport.

The pilot, Floyd N. Reister, of New York City, was not believed seriously hurt. He was on his way from Monmouth, N. J., and planned to land at Toledo to refuel before continuing to Detroit.

Gateway Center Set

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP) — A development, known as Gateway Center, will be constructed on a 62-acre site at the Conneaut Interchange on Interstate 90.

Celtics Eye 5th Straight NBA Crown

BOSTON (AP) — There are plenty of reasons—not the least of which is money—why the old pro Boston Celtics want a fifth straight National Basketball Association playoff championship and sixth in seven years.

The Celtics begin the best-of-7 finals against Los Angeles Sunday night at Boston Garden.

Ask Tommy Heinsohn why the Celtics want this title so much and he replies:

"I guess the biggest reason is that everyone jumped off our bandwagon at the beginning of the year. All of a sudden the Lakers were the team—the team of the future. That hurt."

The winner of this series, which continues here Tuesday night and then moves to Los Angeles Wednesday and Friday, gets $21,000. The loser takes in $14,000.

But there's most to it than that. The Celtics want to prove they're not over the hill and had dedicated this one to retiring Capt. Bob Cousy.

The Lakers are driven by the desire to avenge their loss to Boston in the full seven games a year ago when the Celtics pulled out a frantic 110-107 overtime verdict in the final game.

Both teams are just coming off full seven game semifinals in which the Celtics outlasted Cincinnati and the Lakers eliminated St. Louis.

Riverview Triumphs In Sharon Tourney

SHARON — Riverview Florists of East Liverpool advanced to the semi-finals of the Sharon Junior Tournament Friday night by turning back Chester, Pa., 67-46.

Dan Kane (Wilkinsburg) led Riverview with 12 points, while Jim Robertson (Cleveland East Tech) and Jim Elkhorn (Penn Hills) had 11 each.

BASEBALL HEROES

PITCHING — Ed Rakow, A's, permitted only a leadoff double by Lenny Green and eighth inning single by Vic Power in shutting out Minnesota 6-0.

BATTING—Howie Goss, Colts, drove in the deciding run with his fourth hit in the 12th inning for 2-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Third Round Set At Greensboro

Player Plummets To 17th As Sanders Takes Lead

By KEN ALYTA
Associated Press Sports Writer

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Gary Player relearned an old lesson—golf is a humbling game—and in the process he slipped from first place to a tie for 17th as the $35,000 Greater Greensboro Open Tournament moved into its third round today.

The little South African was almost lost in the pack after a second round 74 Friday during which he four-putted the 17th green, missing a backhander from about three inches.

While Player was having his troubles, Doug Sanders unleashed a 35-30—61 round, only one over the event record, and moved into the halfway lead on a record-tying 133. The Georgia native with the short swing held a three-shot edge over Dave Marr of New Rochelle, N.Y., whose 67 gave him a 136 total.

Player, almost apologetically, recounted his miseries on the closing holes when he shot bogey golf on the 15th and 16th holes and a double bogey six on the 17th.

"I really felt I was playing well, but it was one of those rounds when everything went wrong," he explained sadly. "The ball bounced off the hard greens a couple of times and cost me strokes. I missed my second putt from about two feet on 17 and I backhanded the third from about three inches—and it missed."

It took a score of 146 or better to qualify 66 pros for the last two days of play on the 7,000-yard Sedgefield Country Club course, over which 6,000 spectators swarmed Friday.

Sharing third place at 137 were Dick Mayer, Tom Aaron, Don Fairfield and Kel Nagle. Seven-time winner Sam Snead and Jimmy Clark were next at 138, with eight men one shot back of them.

Wings Seek To Stand Off Leafs' Sweep

DETROIT, (AP)—The desperate Detroit Red Wings have the advantage of home ice Sunday in their effort to avert a Toronto sweep in the final playoff for the National Hockey Leagues Stanley Cup.

It means mostly that Gordie Howe will have a better chance of skating away from his shadow.

At home, the Wings will pick their starting line-up after their Maple Leaf rivals. Detroit, thus, can juggle around a little more in hopes of loosening the guard on the league scoring champion.

The Red Wings, down 2-0 to the Maple Leafs in the best-of-7 competition, are looking for any sort of tonic to revive them. The series resumes with the third game at Detroit's Olympia Stadium. The fourth game also will be at Olympia Thursday.

Toronto won the first two games at its own Maple Leaf Gardens by 4-2 scores.

"Perhaps home ice will be the pickup we need," said Coach Sid Abel, whose Wings lost the first two games of their semifinal series with Chicago and won the next four.

"We did pretty well at home all season and it certainly worked in our favor during the Chicago series. But if it doesn't help us in Sunday's game we're done."

Williams Picked To Beat Terrell In Bout Tonight

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Cleveland Williams, the heavyweight contender who packs power in both hands, is rated a favorite to defeat Ernie Terrell tonight in a scheduled 10-round nationally televised (ABC) boxing match at the Arena.

The fight could be the last one in Pennsylvania for some time.

Gov. William M. Scranton will meet with the State Athletic Commission Monday to discuss the future of boxing in Pennsylvania following the amateur ring death of 19-year-old Francesco Velasquez in Carbondale last Saturday night.

The governor has been asked to declared a six-month moratorium on the sport and a bill has been introduced in the State Senate to outlaw boxing.

The 30-year-old Williams has scored 46 knockouts in 61 bouts. He won 10 by decisions and has lost only four while earning one draw. He was knocked out twice by heavyweight champion Sonny Liston before Liston became champion. However, Liston rates Williams the hardest puncher he ever met.

In 35 bouts, Terrell has won 31 and lost four. Sixteen of his victories have been by knockouts.

Court Order Waited To Destroy Pinballs

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Tha Mahoning County sheriff says he's awaiting a court order before destroying 23 pinball machines that have been stored in the county jail basement for four months.

Sheriff's deputies confiscated the machines last December in raids on 11 places in Campbell and Struthers. Six persons arrested then now are on probation for a year after pleading no contest to a charge of displaying gambling equipment.

4,300 Strike Giant Lorain Ford Facility

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—The assembly line at the giant Ford Motor Co. plant in Lorain was silent today because of a strike by more than 4,300 members of United Auto Workers Local 425.

The walkout, which began shortly after noon Friday, reportedly involves 185 grievances dealing with health, safety and production standards. Another negotiation session has been set tentatively for Tuesday.

About 2,400 production workers left their jobs after talks between company and union representatives bogged down. They later were joined by 1,700 who did not report for the 3:30 p.m. shift and 200 others on the midnight shift. Pickets were posted at the plant entrances.

Dave Sparks, international union representative, accused management of refusing to bargain in good faith on all issues. "It's no use talking to them," he said. "The membership is going to stay out until the conditions are resolved and they can work at a normal pace."

Sparks said the issues included a speedup on assembly lines, refusal of passes to medical doctors, and relief while on the line.

Company officials declined comment on the cause of the dispute. They said the strike would not affect total company-wide production and indicated parts from Cleveland engine and stamping plants will be sent to Ford assembly plants elsewhere.

The plant assembles compact cars and light trucks.

Grievances are the only strikeable issues in the union's contract, which expires in August, 1964. The union voted strike authority last Friday. Negotiations began two months ago.

Georgia Boy, 17, Murders Man, Son Aboard Boat

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A wide search for a bedeviled Georgia boy and two Key West fishermen ended when the Coast Guard found the blood-stained lad alone on the fishermen's boat, out of fuel close to Cuba.

"I murdered them and threw them overboard," Coast Guardmen said Roger Foster, 17, told them Friday night on the 32-foot cabin cruiser of Douglas Trevor, 47, and his son, Edward, 22.

The 95-foot patrol vessel's crew gave Foster first aid, put him under guard and towed the boat—blood-splotched also, they said—toward Key West.

Waiting there were Monroe County's sheriff and grief-stricken friends and kin of the Trevors. Waiting also—and not informed at once of what had happened—was Dr. H.A. Foster of Griffin, Ga., who flew here when the search for his son began.

A suicide note found in Roger's blood-spattered Key West motel room had said, "I think I am insane." It urged authorities, "Do not publicize my death. Be careful when you tell my father because he has a bad heart."

2 Youths Deprived Of Driving Licenses

LISBON — Traffic Court hearings at the Courthouse have resulted in the suspension of the driving permits of two youths and the fining of another. They were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Frederic Ellis Naragon, 17, of Salem and Robert C. Dornick, 16, of Lisbon R. D. 1, each received 15-day suspensions for speeding.

Gerald W. Miller, 16, of Smiths Ferry was fined $20 for failing to yield the right-of-way.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear departed mother, Mrs. Roy Chaney who passed 1 year ago today, April 13, 1962. 1 year has passed away dear mother, since you were called away; and when the shepherd called you went without delay; no time to say goodby. So swiftly was the parting, taken home without a sigh. Now that life has just begun on that golden happy shore, with the Jesus she loved so well, to live with him forever more. And now that father has gone to join her in that bright and happy land; As they share the joys of heaven on that golden happy strand. You are missed by your children, as we are left behind. But we all hope to join you as we march the path of time. Daughter, Mrs. Harold Applegate, Sisters and Brothers.

INEZ SMITH GREEN. In loving memory of our dear mother, who passed away 14 years ago: We think of you in silence, No eyes can see us weep, And many a tear is shed, dear mother, When others are asleep. Arl Green and Children

In loving memory of Jeffrey Malcolm Taylor on his 20th birthday. Born April 14th, 1943, Killed Feb. 28, 1961. Sadly missed by parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Taylor, brother Jim, sister Janice and Grandma Echols.

3 CARDS OF THANKS

WE wish to express our heartfelt appreciation and sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors who offered sympathy at the time of our sad loss and death of our beloved Father, Archie J. Jones. Also those who sent floral offerings and especially Dr. Fred Banfield, and the nurses at City Hospital, Martins Funeral Home. — The Jones Family and the Jewell Family.

SECRET AGENT

OFF THE RECORD

"Did you see a teeny-weeny little white ball?"

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I "antique" a wood panel?

A. Combine raw sienna with raw umber and a touch of Venetian red. Dilute this mixture with a thin glue sizing. After the finish is dry, apply a thin coat of bleached shellac and rub down with a fine sandpaper. Repeat until the surface is smooth. A final finish may be made of flat lacquer or rubbing varnish.

Q. How can I restore my soiled powder puffs?

A. Wash them in warm soapsuds, scrubbing the bad spots with a fingernail brush. Don't lay them out flat to dry, or they might become sour. Instead, pin them to the sunny side of a window curtain so that the air can get at them.

Q. How can I keep watercress fresh and crisp for several days?

A. Wash and drain the watercress, then place it in a heavy paper bag in the refrigerator—keeping the bag in the moderately cold section.

Q. Can you suggest anything to ease ironing of sequin - studded blouses?

A. Place the sequin side on a heavy turkish towel. This prevents the sequins from cutting the ironing-board cover, and will also keep the tiny decorations from being broken. Embroidered materials, ironed by this method, will have a smooth finish with a raised design, which is effective.

Q. Is there some way I can prevent white enamel paint from turning yellow later after its application?

A. This may sound somewhat paradoxical, but one teaspoon of black enamel added to a quart of white enamel will prevent that yellowing.

Junior Editors Quiz on FIGUREHEAD

QUESTION: Why were figureheads once used on ships?

ANSWER: Sailors love their ships and from the earliest times have had the feeling that they were something more than just wood, rope and canvas—that they were somehow alive. A sailor will say "she's a fine vessel," the word "she" meaning that he thinks of a ship as something beautiful and romantic, like a woman. Pictures of ships with distinct figureheads have been found on stone age rock carvings, so it must have been a very long time ago that this practice began. It is thought that the figurehead was supposed by the ancients to help the ship find her way through fog and dangerous waters. Certain ships in the Mediterranean Sea had eyes painted on their bows for the same reason, and the custom has persisted on certain fishing boats to this day. Viking ships, as well as Roman and Greek vessels usually carried figureheads and the custom became so general that an old-time seaman thought it unlucky to sail on a ship which didn't have one. But many quaint old customs passed out when steam took the place of sail. Now the only figureheads to be seen are in nautical museums.

FOR YOU TO DO: In your library, look through some books on old ships and see if you can find pictures of figureheads. Many were made with full length female figures; some were of famous Indian warriors or they might be portrait busts of the owners of the vessel.

Sarah Helen Moore of Red Oak, N. C., wins $10 for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you may win $10, or the weekly grand prize of a set of Britannica Junior Encyclopedias.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, April 13, the 103rd day of 1963. There are 262 days left in the year.

On this day in 1598, King Henry IV of France promulgated the Edict of Nantes. Under it, Huguenots were granted greater religious freedom.

In 1743, President Thomas Jefferson was born in Shadwell, Va.

In 1869, George Westinghouse was granted the first patent for air brakes.

In 1941, Japan and Russia concluded a five-year neutrality pact.

In 1949, eight persons were killed and many injured as the most destructive earthquake ever recorded in the Pacific Northwest caused property damage estimated at $10 million.

In 1962, the U.S. Steel Corp. rescinded a $6-a-ton increase in the price of steel after strong criticism from President Kennedy.

Today's birthdays:

Actor-singer Howard Keel is 44. Former presidential assistant Harold Stassen is 56.
